The Newton Board of Aldermen Monday night approved the retirement of Patrolman George J. Kilmain of 341 Lexington street, Auburndale. A veteran of the Newton Police Department since Sept. 1, 1917, he will retire on Dec. 6 at a pension of $2,990. The sum of $221.18 was appropriated by the Board for the rest of the year.

Barking Dog Ends Foray

A barking dog may never bite, but that is little consolation for a night-time intruder who was frightened away by the barking of a dog owned by Newton physician Dr. Daniel J. Mullane, 394 Kendrick street.

Dr. Mullane said that he was awakened by his dog and noticed a flashlight beam in the kitchen. The intruder fled and it was discovered that entrance was gained through a cellar door.

Several drawers in the dining room buffet were ransacked. A squad of eight police officers, led by Sgt. Richard J. Nugent, searched the area but found no trace of the burglar.

Newton Buffeted By Post-Holiday Storm; 5 Hurt

Newton residents were reminded of hurricanes when the city was punished by a post-Thanksgiving storm with concentrated fury during the night following the holiday.

Fallen utility poles and trees created a number of power failures, tree limbs were felled over the city; numerous floods were reported to police, and five persons were injured.

When the regular power line feeding Newton police station went out, the station's emergency power system was

See Leading Role for Hynes In Kennedy Presidential Bid

The election of Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes as the new Democratic national committeeman from Massachusetts undoubtedly means that Hynes will be asked to assume a leading part in the drive Senator John F. Kennedy will make in 1960 for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

It was Kennedy who persuaded Hynes to agree to take over the post of national committeeman which was left vacant by the death of James M. Curley, and it was Kennedy who sent word to his supporters in the Democratic State Committee that he wanted Hynes for the job.

Attorney Theodore A. Glynn, one of Governor Furcolo's top lieutenants, was a candidate for the position for a time. Glynn desired to hold the post for about a year and then step out to accept a judgeship which he is to get before the end of Governor Furcolo's next term.

Kennedy, however, was unenthusiastic about such an arrangement and made it plain that he preferred Hynes. Glynn withdrew from the contention when Furcolo told him that he would be strictly on his own if he became involved in a fight for the post of national committeeman.

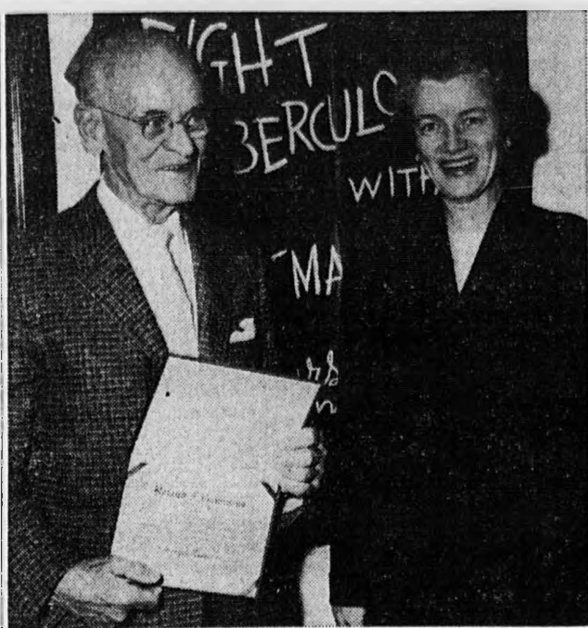

There was no conflict between Senator Kennedy and Governor Furcolo on the matter. A warm friendship exists between Furcolo and Hynes, and the selection of Hynes met with the complete approval of the Governor.

Hynes unquestionably will be a tremendous asset to Kennedy when the latter launches his big push in 1960 to become the Democratic nominee for President. The Boston Mayor is extremely popular with municipal executives in all parts of the country, and many of them are likely to be delegates to the next Democratic convention.

Mayor Hynes is planning to retire from office at the end of 1959 so that he would be in a position to do a great deal of work in lining up delegate support for Kennedy.

In recent years the position of Democratic national committeeman from Massachusetts hasn't amounted to a great deal. It was simply an honor which was conferred upon the late James M. Curley back in 1940, and Curley during the last few years allowed the late Paul

Retired Treasurer Of Association Honored

Roland F. Gammons, chairman of the Board and past president of the West Newton Savings Bank, was honored recently at an evening meeting of the general board of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association in West Newton.

Mr. Gammons was honored on his retirement as treasurer of the association, and was presented with a gold double-barred cross lapel pin and a scroll. Now an honorary treasurer, Mr. Gammons has been treasurer of the association since 1945, when it was formed, and acted as treasurer of the Newton Tuberculosis Association for many years before the present association was incorporated.

Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester, president of the Association, presented Mr. Gammons with the leather bound scroll and remarked on his fine and faithful work through the formative and growing years, and announced Mr. Gammons' election to Honorary Treasurer.

Mrs. Ernest Kuebler, vice-president of the association, presented Mr. Gammons with a solid gold lapel pin in the form of the National Tuberculosis Association emblem, the double-barred cross. This pin is given only when an individual has given distinguished service in the fight against tuberculosis.

After a short business meeting and a discussion of the progress of the Christmas Seal Campaign, coffee and cookies were served.

Newton Edged by Brookline In Thanksgiving Grid Game

Lady Luck frowned on the Newton High School's football team at a crucial moment in the traditional Thanksgiving game with Brookline, and as a result the disappointed Tigers wound up on the short end of a 12-8 score.

It was the 63rd game between the arch-rivals of the gridiron, and it was among the most exciting in the long series.

With Brookline leading by the 4-point margin, Newton apparently was on its way to a touchdown and a victory late in the game.

The Tigers had swept 51 yards on 12 plays. But a Newton fumble on the five-yard line was recovered by Brookline, and the scoring threat ended.

Newton fought back courageously after that bit of bad luck only to have time run out with the ball on the Brookline 30-yard line.

After trailing 6-0 at the half, the Tigers surged back to take an 8-6 lead in the third period when a Brookline pithout went awry, and Captain Buddy Russo wrested it away from Brookline's Bob Sullivan in the end zone for a touchdown.

Pete Thompson swept across for the extra two points. That conversion, incidentally, gave the hard-running Thompson 90 points for the season.

Even in defeat Thompson closed out the season in a blaze of glory. He gained 75 yards on 12 rushes, giving him a total of 1035 yards for the nine games in which the Tig-

Tigers Open Ice Campaign With Cantabs Friday

Newton's 1958-59 hockey team will open its season Friday night when it takes the ice against always-tough Cambridge Latin at Boston Arena. The face-off will be 9 p.m.

This year's schedule calls for 15 games, with 14 coming up with opponents in the Greater Boston League, while a trip to Exeter Academy for a meeting with the Exonians will mark the sole non-league contest.

All of the games outside that with Exeter will be played on Arena ice.

The Tigers of course, will be seeking a play-off berth from the opening whistle. The regular season will close on the day before Washington's birthday with Arlington as the opponent.

Christmas Will Be Bleak For the DeRubeis Family Unless Newtonites Help

This coming Christmas will be a bleak and forlorn one for an Italian family now living in Newton unless warm-hearted residents of the city dig down into their pockets and answer the appeals of an Alderman and a Nonantum business leader.

After the DeRubeis family was robbed of $600 recently by a gunman who entered their home at 17 Crafts st., Newtonville, on a Sunday morning, Alderman Carleton P. Merrill and Carmen A. Vitt, president of the Nonantum Businessmen's Association, started a move to raise $600 to help the family.

A savings account for the DeRubeis family was established at the Nonantum branch of the Newton National Bank, and persons willing to make a small contribution to it were invited to send their donations to Carmen A. Vitt at 402 Watertown st., Newton.

So far only a little more than $100 has been received.

The $600 was the entire sum the family had saved up to pay back $1400 Cesidio DeRubeis had borrowed to bring his family to this country from Italy.

There are four children in the DeRubeis family. Their first Thanksgiving in the United States was not exactly a happy occasion, and their first Christmas here will be a somber one—unless Newton residents who can spare a dollar or two will send it along to Mr. Vitt.

Alderman Merrill has urged Newton citizens, who can afford to make a small donation, to show the DeRubeis family that life in this country is altogether different from what they experienced on the Sunday morning when a hold-up man entered their home.

Mrs. DeRubeis and her four children came here in March. So far they can speak only a little English. They have been informed through an interpreter that their new American neighbors are pitching in to help them in their hour of need.

DeRubeis worked as a construction laborer for two years before he was able to save and borrow enough money to bring his wife and children to the United States.

The youngsters have been

Women Voters Panel Tonight

"The Non-Western World — A Challenge to U. S. Foreign Policy" will be the subject of a panel discussion being sponsored tonight by the Newton League of Women Voters at 8 p.m. at the Pierce School, 170 Temple street, West Newton.

The executive director of the Boston World Affairs Council, Nicholas Nyary, will be the moderator. Dr. Daniel F. McCall, assistant sociology professor of the Boston University African Studies Program and Shanti Tangri, a visiting fellow from India at the M.I.T. Center for International Studies will be the panelists.

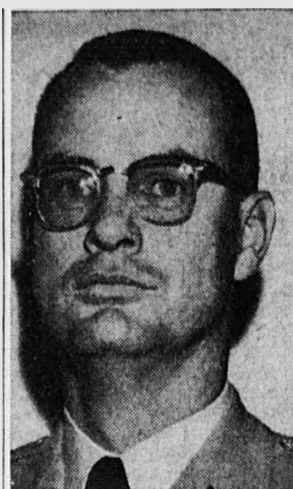

Mrs. Edward L. Richmond, League Foreign Policy chairman, extends an invitation to all Newton citizens and their friends to attend this public meeting. Mrs. Mitchell J. Marcus assisted Mrs. Richmond in planning the meeting.

School Loan Is Approved By Aldermen

Members of the Board of Aldermen at their meeting on Monday night approved a loan order of $3,396,560 to finance the construction of the new South Side high school.

At the same session the city fathers gave their assent to the expenditure of $10,600 for the purchase of two new style sidewalk plows to replace five plows presently out of commission.

During the discussion of the high school project Chairman Earle D. Wood of the Aldermanic Finance Committee told the Aldermen that his group has withheld approval of approximately $15,000 for landscaping and grading the site of the new high school until additional information is received on the matter.

Wood also reported that the two new sidewalk plows are to cost $13,450 but that the city will be allowed $2850 for three old plows which will be turned in as part of the transaction. The two other old plows will be dismantled for their spare parts.

Warrants Sought In Holdup Case

Newton police are seeking warrants against two men picked up in connection with a series of Boston taxi holdups. The men reportedly admitted committing a similar offense in Newton last month.

Charles Smith of Roxbury and Frederick Tibbs of Dorchester were arrested Saturday night after a taxi hold-up in Roxbury and were questioned by Inspectors Thomas M. Dargan and Richard J. Bagley of Newton at Division 9 Headquarters in Roxbury Crossing.

The officers said they would seek warrants charging the pair with the armed robbery of Edward P. Lannon of 171 Dudley street, Roxbury, of $25.75 in Newton on Nov. 22.

Dwelling To Be Razed For Route 128 Project

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., today was preparing to confer with State public works department officials in an attempt to save the home of an 85-year-old blind woman which apparently stands in the path of a proposed $400,000 interchange road for route 128 in Newton Lower Falls.

The Mayor declared that he would appeal to public works authorities to spare the blind woman's home or, if that is not possible, to move it to another location.

He explained that the elderly and sightless woman is accustomed to the dwelling in which she is living and would have an extremely difficult time adjusting herself to new surroundings.

A spokesman for Public Works Commissioner Anthony DiNatale told the Graphic that the Commissioner would personally look into the matter and would endeavor to save the blind woman's home in one way or the other.

The house in which the 85-year-old blind woman resides is one of about eight or nine which apparently are slated to be razed to make way for the route 128 interchange.

Mayor Whitmore had submitted three alternate plans for the interchange to the State Public Works Department which would have avoided the demolition of any dwellings.

A partial release of DPW plans for the project, on which bids are to be obtained next week, indicated, however, that the main points of the Mayor's proposals had been rejected.

The only modification of the original plans, which resulted from a consideration of the Mayor's recommendations, it appeared today, was a revision of a proposed access road between Washington street and route 128 so as to save one home.

Mayor Whitmore said yesterday that he had learned unofficially that his three alternate plans had been turned down and that he had received no formal notification on the matter from the State Department of Public Works.

He added that he was endeavoring to obtain final plans for the project.

The mayor said he had learned that as part of the job it is proposed to lower the grade of Grove street on the east side of route 128 and that this would involve the taking of the house in which the 85-year-old blind woman lives.

While they have not yet seen final plans, Newton officials are under the impression that five homes are to be razed on Grove street west of route 128, that two of them are to be torn down on Washington street west of route 128 and that one or two will be demolished on Grove street east of route 128.

Rawson Files Bill For Freeway From Toll Road Terminus to Hub

The State Legislature will again be asked to provide a freeway to Boston from Weston but this time the route of the freeway would be left up to the State Department of Public Works and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Representative George E. Rawson of Newton, who filed for a freeway last year in an effort to head-off a toll road to link the East-West turnpike with Boston, has submitted a new bill for the incoming Legislature's consideration. Supporting his proposed measure will be the American Automobile Association.

A provision of the measure would prohibit the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority from building its toll road beyond its present terminus at Weston. If the bill is adopted the freeway would be built from federal funds.

In his bill which was rejected by the outgoing legislature, Representative Rawson asked that the State Department of Public Works route the connecting link "along the natural line of the Charles River."

This provision aroused considerable opposition in Waltham where it was construed by many to mean that the link to Boston would be sent through the center of Waltham.

The new bill has an emergency preamble directing attention to the fact that the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority has had the power to build the link for four years but has failed to do so.

"Whereas," reads the preamble, "the deferred operation of this act would tend to defeat its purpose which is to meet this Commonwealth's need for a western expressway to best serve all motorists, and

"Whereas, the existing law prohibits that State Department of Public Works from constructing such a highway, and

"Whereas, the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority which has exclusive permission to build said highway has not been able to do so for four years,

The dwelling on Monadnock road, to which Governor Furcolo will move his family, is only about half as large as the one the Furcolos are presently occupying at The Ledges.

The Furcolo family, however, will move from its present home at The Ledges to a new dwelling on Monadnock road, only a short distance away.

While the Furcolos actually have a lease on their house at The Ledges which runs until mid-January, the owner of that dwelling, Dr. David Dittmore, has expressed a desire to move into it before that time, and the Governor and his wife, in turn, have indicated their willingness to cooperate and to move to their new home which was rented from Benjamin Ginsburg.

The officers said they would seek warrants charging the pair with the armed robbery of Edward P. Lannon of 171 Dudley street, Roxbury, of $25.75 in Newton on Nov. 22.

Gifted Student Topic At Jr. High Meeting

The subject for discussion at the English-Social Studies meeting held recently at the Newton Junior High School in West Newton was "What the Newton Junior High Schools are attempting to do for the academically talented and remedial cases in the field of English."

Miss Avis C. Walsh, Consultant for the Language Arts in the Newton Junior High Schools, acting as chairman for the discussion, introduced the theme by stating the first steps in dealing with the academically talented student is a problem of identification.

What special abilities does this student display, and by what definite methods can these abilities be sustained and developed? In the field of English Miss Walsh quoted Dr. Edwin A. Sauer, lecturer on education in English at the Harvard Graduate School of Education, as saying that the "gifted" child possesses the following abilities:

"1. He is able to deal with ideas. Because he has an independent turn of mind, he

Former Newton Auto Dealer Dies In Maine

Funeral services were held Wednesday in Portland, Maine, for Percy Edmund Frost, 72, retired owner of Frost Motors in Newton, who died Monday at his Portland home.

A native of South Knowlton, N.H., he formerly owned Portland Franklin Motor Sales and was a former general manager of the Franklin Motor Car Co. of Boston.

He founded Frost Motors in 1933 and headed the firm until his retirement in 1956. He is survived by his wife, Elzada Frost, a daughter, a sister, and two brothers.

likes to talk about what he has been thinking. He demonstrates a genuine capacity for intellectual growth and wants to get the teacher's reaction to what he says.

2. He is able to read perceptively. For example, he will recognize irony when he reads it and be sensitive to style and tone. He should be able to know why the author wrote the book and why he wrote it as he did.

3. He is able to write a paragraph, develop an idea in which unity and coherence are maintained.

4. He has an intellectual interest or two outside the field of literature.

5. He has a sense of the fun of words. Also, he should have a good speaking and writing vocabulary."

A panel of speakers, representing the five junior high schools, explained what each school is trying to do for these able youngsters in literature and composition and for the less able ones who were retarded in reading.

From the Weeks Junior High School, where extra help is given the gifted and remedial cases during the sixth period on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, Richard M. Adams told about the program for literature for the outstanding students.

In the reading of adult novels, Shakespearean and even Greek drama, his students are taught to recognize irony, symbolism, imagery, an understanding of human motivation, and simple literary craft. The general purpose was to improve reading tastes.

Miss Virginia C. Joyce outlined the Remedial Reading Program at Weeks. She showed books and other material which had been helpful to her and described many particular techniques to guide the retarded reader in overcoming his weaknesses.

Since the outstanding student in English often has a flair for writing, an opportunity is given this group at Weeks to do creative writing. Carolyn L. Harris demonstrated how she motivated and taught a class in creative writing and read examples of original verse.

"Suprad", which means School and University Program for Research and Development, is an experimental project going on at the Day and Meadowbrook Junior High Schools under the sponsorship of the Ford Foundation and Harvard University. Selected teachers from both schools received $500 each to make out programs for the academically talented in literature, for concentrated work in composition, and for remedial reading classes in their respective schools.

Ralph Morse, principal of the Day Junior High School, explained how "Suprad" functioned. Mrs. Jessie M. Favre of the school outlined the suggested "Suprad" program for literature groups, according to the types of literature and techniques for their analysis.

The themes governing the study are "Patterns of Family Living" for grade seven, "Patterns of Community Living" for grade eight, and "Patterns of World Living" for grade nine.

Rosemary Grunert of the Meadowbrook Junior High School and William Blount of the Day Junior High School stated that the composition program is offered to selected groups of students, limited in number to 30 or less, for two 90 minute periods a week.

These students, who have difficulty in writing and who have been unable to get the individual attention and experience they need under the regular program, are given concentrated work in composition in the area of expository writing by emphasizing the planning and organization of written work.

Maurice H. Blum, of the Meadowbrook Junior High

LOCAL SURVEY—Dr. Charles E. Brown, administrative assistant for the Newton Public Schools, points out facts and figures to Mrs. William Z. Goodman, center, and Mrs. S. A. Greenfield, both of Newton, in a survey interview being conducted by the Boston Section, National Council of Jewish Women, in order to analyze the needs of a changing community. Results of local survey will be made known on Dec. 11 and 15.

School said that the "Suprad" remedial reading program at his school was similar to that of the Weeks Junior High School. In fact, the same reading materials, the Science Research Association Reading Library, and the same techniques are being used in all the junior high schools in Newton today.

Questions directed from the floor to the panel members about "Suprad" took so much time the Warren and Bigelow Junior High Schools did not have time to tell how they taught literature and composition to their accelerated groups.

Miss Walsh said that Warren's two selected grade nine English classes have limited their study to "The United States in Literature" and "Good Times in Literature," a study and analysis of the types of literature. The two grade eight accelerated English classes are using "Adventures in Literature" as a theme.

The Newton Junior High School "Guided Growth in Reading," a remedial and developmental guide for teachers, is used in all the junior high schools. In addition, a tentative supplementary guide for use in literature, composition, and reading is being tried out in "Suprad" classes this year.

Rites Held For Mrs. Taylor Who Died at Age 101

Elvira Polhemus Taylor, widow of the late Joseph R. Taylor, professor emeritus of Boston University, died at her home, 42 Adella avenue, West Newton at the age of 101. She had lived in West Newton for over 30 years.

Mrs. Taylor was born in Brooklyn, N.Y. on January 17, 1857 and was educated in Brooklyn. Following her marriage to Professor Taylor in 1882 she traveled with him to many countries. A daughter, Mary Katharine Taylor, was born in Germany where Professor Taylor was studying in the University of Leipzig.

After her husband's appointment as professor in Boston University, Mrs. Taylor became active in church and community affairs. She was a member of the Cantabrigia Club, Women's City Club of Boston and the D.A.R. She founded the Watertown Book-lovers Club in 1931 and was its first president.

In 1917 Mrs. Taylor wrote "Cameos of Childhood," which was published for the benefit of Belgian relief. Among the reminiscences charmingly reported in this little volume is her recollection of the gloom surrounding the death of Lincoln. She was considered too young to attend the services of mourning, but slipped out the back door to watch the procession.

Funeral services for Mrs. Taylor were conducted by Dr. Hamilton Gifford of the Newtonville Methodist Church at the J. S. Waterman Funeral Chapel in Wellesley on December 1st. Assisting in the serv-

Mrs. Horton Speaks Here

Mrs. Douglas Horton, the former Mildred McAfee, prominent Congregational Christian churchwoman and educator, will speak at the one o'clock luncheon of the Women's Council of Second Church, West Newton, at their all-day meeting on Wednesday.

Ladies of the women's organizations of Temple Shalom and of the Unitarian and Baptist churches of West Newton are to be guests of Council, and special music will be provided by Miss Genevieve Manganello and Ivar Sjosstrom.

Mrs. Horton has been active in the field of women's education for many years. From 1936 to 1949 she was president of Wellesley College, the second youngest president in the college's history. During World War II she directed the women's branch of the U.S. Navy Reserve, the WAVES. She was the first woman ever commissioned by the U.S. Navy and held the rank of captain when she resigned in 1946.

Before assuming the Wellesley presidency, Mrs. Horton served on the faculties of several other colleges, including Oberlin College, Ohio, and Centre College, Kentucky. She was for two years secretary of the Associate Alumnae of Vassar College.

Among the many high posts she has held are: president, Association of American Colleges; member, U.S. Educational Mission to Japan; member, U.S. National Commission on UNESCO; and member, Committee for the White House Conference on Education.

Her husband, Dr. Douglas Horton, now dean of the Harvard Divinity School, was for many years minister of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches. Mrs. Horton is a graduate of Vassar College and has a master's degree from the University of Chicago and honorary degrees, LL.D. and L.H.D., from several colleges and universities.

Housing Board Needed Now, Rep. Thresher States

State Representative Irene K. Thresher, pointing out that Newton is the only city in the Commonwealth without a Housing Board, this week urged that one be established without delay.

Executive Director Lorenz F. Muther of the Newton Taxpayers Association, has advocated that the creation of such an authority be postponed until after the city's land use study, now under way has been completed. City Planner Charles E. Downe, who is directing this study, expects it will be ready in May.

"Even if an authority were appointed immediately," Representative Thresher declared, "it would take some time for it to begin functioning, and it could work closely with Mr. Downe."

"The Housing Authority should be given the opportunity to investigate whether Newton wants to take advantage of the housing for elderly persons which is available under both State and Federal auspices," she continued.

"Newton is the only city in the State which does not have an authority. More than 50 cities and towns have such housing units in operation or in the building stage."

She pointed out that the $35 million available in Massachusetts for this type of housing is not an outright tax burden since the housing units become self-supporting to a large extent.

a post service discussion following the Oneg Shabbat. Four new members will participate. Mrs. Samuel Dame, Lawrence Kupferman, Mrs. Jordan Wasserman, and Abraham Yaffee have volunteered to lead a discussion about their expectations from Temple membership.

This service will be followed on the following Friday evening, December 19, with a similar post service discussion, conducted by four members of long standing who will answer many of the questions.

They will illustrate their comments from actual experiences they have encountered. Donald L. Daniels, as chairman of the Religious Practices Committee, has invited Mrs. Bernard Bloom, William Givsky, Ralph E. Morrison, and Mrs. Elmer Rigelhaupt to take part.

Grid Game-

ers played this autumn. He was the first player in Newton football history to go over the 1000-yard mark.

Tom Hennessey was the big story for Brookline and bad news for Newton. The captain and star fullback of the Wealthy Townners raced 79 yards for one touchdown, 57 yards for a second TD, scored all his team's points, carried 21 times for a total of 201 yards and was outstanding on the defense.

Newton did a fairly good job of containing Hennessey on all but his two touchdown gallops, but those two runs were enough to spell defeat for the Garden City gridlers.

In some respects the Tigers were the better team. Their blocking and tackling was superior to that of Brookline. They rolled up 13 first downs as compared to 7 for their opponents.

But fumbles hurt the Newton cause. The Tigers lost the ball four times on fumbles, two of the bobbles halting drives which had carried them deep into Brookline territory. But the big difference in the game was Hennessey. Except for him Newton would have won by a wide margin.

The Thanksgiving win gave Brookline a total of 26 victories in the series against 30 triumphs for Newton, with seven deadlocks in the records.

Brookline High (12) — 1e, McKeown; 1t, Forman, Cavanaugh; 1g, Melican, J. Prevolori; c, Rollins; 1q, Vengrow, C. Prevolori; 1b, Poulous; 1r, Davis; 1re, Small; 1qb, Donovan, Mahoney; 1lb, Moreno, Buckley; 1rb, Sullivan, Jackson; 1fb, Hennessey, Goreszyk, T. Poulous.

Cystic Fibrosis Group Set for January Drive

A workshop meeting of the Newton Branch for Cystic Fibrosis Research will be held Thursday evening, December 11, at the home of Mrs. Sumner Tye of Chestnut Hill. Mrs. Milton Gray, president, will conduct the meeting at which various chairmen will work out plans and committees for the January fund drive and other forthcoming projects. Plans also include a cake sale, theatre party for children, and the program book for the spring affair.

Foremost in the discussion will be the January Fund Drive which will be conducted on a state-wide basis by the Massachusetts Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. The Newton Branch is planning to volunteer in the assembling of the collector's kits and to aid in the door-to-door collection campaign.

Public education and medical research are greatly needed in the fight against this incurable disease which hampers the respiratory and digestive systems of more than 7,000 newborn children every year.

Following the workshop meeting, a coffee and social hour will be held. An invitation is extended to all who are interested to attend this workshop meeting and join in the continuing fight against Cystic Fibrosis.

Re-Valuation Survey Ends; Few Complaints Heard

Assessed valuations on approximately 17,000 parcels of real estate out of a total of around 24,000 have been carried out during the past four years and have gained general acceptance by the city's property owners.

Completion of the revaluation program which required four years of work was announced by the Board of Assessors. Its members, Sydney B. Holden, chairman; Edward A. Fahey, clerk, and Mrs. Isabelle R. Mackey, who signed the report, emphasized the huge task had been carried out without the addition of temporary staff members.

The report read as follows:

"Early in 1954, it was voted by your Board of Assessors to make a revaluation of the city by actual appraisal in the field of each of the nearly 24,000 parcels of real estate.

"Our basic premise was the equalization of assessments between the newer and older type of buildings recognizing, of course, the depreciation and obsolescent factors between the old and the new.

"This procedure resulted in a drawing closer together of the older and newer assessments, particularly in the matter of dwelling houses. Many valuations remained the same, some were reduced particularly in the Newton Corner business area. No individual change, as such, was made unless the whole neighborhood or larger area was surveyed and values equalized. This work was finally completed by the Board of Assessors.

"While it involved some 17,000 changes in valuation it entailed the changing of nearly 100,000 records by members of our office staff. No temporary, additional members were added to our regular staff, but it did delay, naturally, the sending out of real estate bills, because of the additional detail to the regular work of the department. We are proud of our office force and so wish to be recorded.

"We are also particularly pleased by the general acceptance of our program by the citizens of Newton. Certainly, no large taxpayer unrest developed such as has been the experience of other cities and towns of the Commonwealth, where outside appraising firms have been employed.

"We, therefore, wish to take this method of thanking our citizens for their open-mindedness in understanding our problems and our attempt at its solution. We are proud to be their employees."

Dr. Wecker Opens Local Office for Appointments

Dr. Irving I. Wecker, Optometrist, has announced the opening of a branch office for evening appointments. Dr. a resident of Newton, graduated Cum Laude from the Massachusetts College of Optometry in 1939. He is a veteran of World War II, and has taken special courses in advanced fitting of contact lenses.

The new office is located at 113 Chestnut street in West Newton, and Dr. Wecker feels that an evening practice will be especially beneficial for his contact lens specialty.

The Newton branch office will be open evenings by appointment for the convenience of those patients who prefer to have their optical needs taken care of during the evening hours.

Dr. Wecker, well known in Newton, is a member of the Boston, Massachusetts, and American Optometric Societies, as well as several local fraternal groups.

Auction Planned By Woman's Club

The Woman's Club of Newton Highlands will hold a public auction of household goods, including china, glass and other articles, tomorrow (Friday) at 7 p. m. in the Parish House of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church. Funds raised will be used for the 1959 scholarship program. The articles, which will be auctioned by Arthur T. Gregorian for the club, have been gathered by members at a series of parcel parties held at the homes of the club members.

Rev. Samuelson Will Be Installed As Minister

On Sunday Reverend John Arthur Samuelson will be installed by the Suffolk West Association as the eighth minister of The Newton Highlands Congregational Church. Rev. Doctor Albert Buckner Coe, President Emeritus of the Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference, will preach the installation sermon.

The Prayer of Installation will be given by Rev. Albert William Samuelson of Kansas City, Missouri, who is the father of Rev. Samuelson. Also taking part will be Rev. Harold R. Bursey, Registrar of the Suffolk West Association, Manfred Klein, Moderator of the Suffolk West Association, Reverend Arthur Flagler Fullz, and Reverend J. Leslie Dunstan, of Newton, Rev. John H. Leamon, Rev. Martin V. B. Sargent, Rev. Ross Cannon, and Harry L. Walen, both of Newton.

Rev. John Arthur Samuelson was formerly the minister of The First Parish Church, Brunswick, Maine. It was at his Installation Service in Brunswick seven years ago that Professor Robert P. T. Coffin, Bowdoin College's Pulitzer Prize winning poet, read a new poem "To a Young Minister in an Old Church."

This poem was written especially for Rev. Samuelson's installation and dedicated to him. Since then it has been used in various parts of the country in the installation services of many young ministers.

Before going to Brunswick, Rev. Samuelson was minister of the Federated Church in Norfolk, Massachusetts, and Protestant Chaplain of the Norfolk Prison Colony and the Pondville Hospital. At the State Prison Colony he coached the debating team that defeated Oxford University in the first international debate ever held in Norfolk. Rev. Samuelson also acted as moderator of a series of radio panel discussions called "The Prisoner Speaks" in which the prison inmate voiced their opinions.

He also served as Assistant Minister at the First Church in Cambridge, Congregational, and the Mystic Side Congregational Church, Everett, Mass. During World War II he served in the U. S. Navy as a Chaplain, both in the United States and the Southwest Pacific.

He is married to Laura Orstedt, a native of Jamaica Plain, who attended the Child Walker School of Design, Boston, and Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. Mrs. Samuelson is a member of the American Medical Illustrators Association and the Association of University Women. The Samuelsons have two sons.

Trimble Named Yankee All-Star

Don Trimble, former star Newton High School lineman, was named to a tackle slot on the mythical All-Star football team of the 1958 Yankee Conference. Don, outstanding all season with the New Hampshire University eleven, is expected to gain further attention in the selection of small college and all-opponent All-Star teams. The All-Yankee Conference team was named by the coaches of the six New England State Universities.

Political Highlights

A. Dever to serve as his proxy at meetings of the Democratic National Committee.

The post, however, could well become an extremely important one, as it has been in numerous other states, if Senator Kennedy should be elected the next President of the United States.

Republican Leaders Fearful Sen. Saltonstall May Retire

One of the things about which Massachusetts Republican leaders are privately wondering—and to some extent worrying—is whether U. S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall will stand for reelection when his present term expires in 1960.

An impression exists in some quarters that Saltonstall, who over the past two decades has been one of his party's sturdiest vote-getters in this State, may decide to close out his public career and retire to private life two years hence.

The senior Bay State Senator has neither done nor said anything to weaken or strengthen that belief, and it is quite possible that he hasn't made up his own mind what he will do.

Saltonstall is now completing 20 executive years as Governor and Senator. Before that he served in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, rising to the rank of Speaker.

The reason for Republican concern over his plans for the future is obvious. GOP hopes for a comeback in Massachusetts in 1960 are built partly around the expectation that Saltonstall will be striking out for another term as Senator and will be one of the men heading the Republican ticket.

His retirement would be a serious blow to the Bay State GOP.

The fact that Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., is carefully remaining apart from Massachusetts politics is being interpreted by some observers to mean that Lodge will not be available as a candidate in 1960.

That could be the case, but the reasoning which leads to that conclusion doesn't seem particularly sound.

While Lodge is serving as this country's ambassador to the United Nations he probably feels impelled to remain out of partisan politics to as great a degree as possible.

That undoubtedly is why he took practically no part in the recent campaign.

In 1960, however, Lodge's outlook toward politics may be altogether different than it is at the present time. Then he will be confronted with decisions affecting his own future.

If the next President is a Democrat—and the political trend would indicate that he will be—Lodge in the normal course of events would be replaced as UN Ambassador in 1961, for the man filling that sensitive position must be close to and part of the administration in power.

Lodge may well be one of the Republican Presidential prospects in 1960. The likelihood, however, is that the GOP will pin its hopes either on Vice President Nixon or Governor-elect Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Unless Lodge intends to retire to private life, which is improbable, or is willing to gamble that the next President will be a Republican, he will have little alternative but to return to Massachusetts and run for the Governorship or, if Leverett Saltonstall should decide to step out, for the U. S. Senate.

The fact that Lodge carefully refrained from involving himself in Massachusetts politics during this year's campaign and is still demonstrating what amounts to a non-political attitude, does not mean that he will be unavailable as a candidate in 1960.

GOP Groping for Reasons For Collapse in Election

Massachusetts Republican leaders apparently are still groping for the reasons behind their party's virtual collapse in last month's State election.

This is evident from the decision of the GOP State Committee to have survey teams visit and interview Republicans who did not go to the polls and cast ballots Nov. 4.

The interviews will be conducted in selected sections across the Commonwealth. The persons visited will be asked why they didn't vote, what they think caused the Republican defeat, what they feel should be done immediately to increase the Republican party's effectiveness and who they believe should be on the GOP State ticket in 1960.

That is a rather novel approach to the mountainous GOP problem. It would seem somewhat improbable that Republicans, who didn't become interested enough in the recent campaign to get out and vote, are going to provide many answers as to what's wrong with their party.

It may be that the proposed interview will produce some interesting answers and turn up some enlightening data. To this onlooker, however, it appears that the GOP chieftains are starting on the wrong premise.

For one thing they say they were "shocked by the huge total of non-voting Republicans" in Massachusetts.

There doesn't seem to be any reason they should have been shocked because in most Republican communities the turnout was normal or slightly higher than normal for a non-Presidential year State election.

The Republicans, in the opinion of this observer, didn't lose the election because of their own party members who stayed home. They lost because of the Independents who went to the polls—and voted Democratic.

One of the reasons for the GOP downfall in Massachusetts is that certain of the Republican leaders may be forgetting some of the basic facts of political life in this State.

Former Governor Christian A. Herter, an extremely astute politician, used to try to impress upon his fellow members that the GOP could not win a State election in Massachusetts on Republican votes alone.

Herter pointed out repeatedly that there simply were not enough registered Republicans in the State to swing an election and that GOP candidates for State-wide office could emerge victorious only if they were able to attract Independent and even some Democratic votes.

The ex-Governor and present Under Secretary of State knew what he was talking about. He had the political picture in Massachusetts sized up accurately. But some of the men and women now guiding the Republican party in Massachusetts evidently have forgotten his words of political wisdom.

All the data which can be assembled from the answers to questions put to stay-at-home Republicans isn't going to mean much unless the GOP can reach the Independent voters who hold the balance of power.

A fundamental fact which many Republican politicians seem to overlook is that Massachusetts is basically a Democratic State and that the GOP can win only when it offers more attractive candidates, better issues or the public is dissatisfied with the way the Democrats have been doing things.

In other words, if you had a situation where no political tide at all were running and two candidates for the Governorship were evenly matched in ability, popularity and issues, the Democrat would win.

That is something the GOP policy-makers in Massachusetts must learn before their party will win many elections. But they're not likely to learn it from the kind of interviews they're presently planning.

Meet Your Visiting Nurse

With her blue uniform and black nursing bag Miss Claire Daly is recognized as the visiting nurse by the residents of Oak Hill and Newton Upper Falls.

Miss Daly gives bedside care, under the doctor's orders, to individuals requiring the services of a nurse in their homes and is ready to help all age groups with health problems.

She assists the physician who examines and immunizes babies under two years of age attending the Well Baby Conference at the Emerson School.

Miss Daly is a graduate of St. Margaret's Hospital Training School and Boston College School of Nursing. As a first lieutenant in the United States Air Force, she was stationed for two years in California and in Europe.

Her nursing experience also includes the premature nursery and obstetrical department of St. Margaret's Hospital and duty in the Free Hospital for Women.

At the end of a busy day, Miss Daly finds time for her favorite hobby, photography. Her hundreds of fascinating colored slides give endless enjoyment to her and her friends.

Miss Daly continues to serve her country as a captain in the Air Force Reserve and participates in church activities as a member of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Guild.

Although she came to the agency a short eight months ago, Miss Daly has made many friends because of her ability

you've ever known

... starts with the wonders of wide-track wheels

ONLY CAR WITH WIDE-TRACK WHEELS

... acclaimed by experts as the year's top engineering advance! The wheels are moved out 5 inches for the widest, steadiest stance in America—lower center of gravity for better grip on the road, safer cornering, smoother ride, easier handling. Pontiac gives you roadability no narrow gauge car can offer!

You've never known a car to ride so smoothly or handle so surely ... because no car was ever built like this before. And that wide, solid stance is only the beginning. Engineering's hottest team really poured it on to produce this one for you: There's a great new Tempest 420 engine to give you the most breath-taking performance on wheels ... or, if it's extra economy you're after, Pontiac has, at no extra cost, a new V-8 companion, the Tempest 420E, that actually delivers better gas mileage than many smaller cars with so-called "economy engines." There are great new True-Contour Air-Cooled Brakes for smooth, safer stops. And inside, seats wider than a sofa! Come on in and see for yourself. And remember, your quality Pontiac dealer displays the manufacturer's suggested retail prices on every new Pontiac!

PONTIAC MAKES V-8 HISTORY! A Pontiac Tempest 420E has set a NASCAR sanctioned and supervised 2,442 mi. coast-to-coast economy mark on regular gas—only 14.6¢ per mile at an average speed of 40.2 m.p.h.

Norman F. O'Shea

Norman F. O'Shea, former Newton Upper Falls resident and executive electronics engineer with the Remington Arms Corp. of Missouri for the past 20 years, died suddenly of a heart attack at Lee Summit, Mo.

He was a former parishioner of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church. He was a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a member of the Engineers Club of Boston and Missouri. He was the son of the late Professor and Mrs. John A. O'Shea of Boston.

Besides his wife, the former Marie C. McGrath, he leaves six brothers, John A., Jr., of Baldwin N. Y.; William A. of Needham, submaster of the Bigelow School, South Boston; George G. of Cambridge; Arthur A., executive secretary of the town of Brookline, and choir director of St. Ignatius Church; Walter B., office manager of Hy-Trous Co. of Boston; Joseph B., of Cochituate, a public accountant, and a sister, Mother Dorothy O'Shea, R.C., of the Cenacle Convent, Brighton.

Funeral services were at St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill, with the Rev. Thomas F. Herlihy, S.J., serving as celebrant. Fr. Herlihy was assisted by the Rev. Daniel Foley, S.J., deacon and the Rev. George M. Kilcoyne, S.J., sub-deacon.

Interment was at the family lot Old Calvary Cemetery, Roslindale. Committal prayers were read by Fr. Kilcoyne.

Georgianna Charest

A requiem mass was sung at St. Joseph's Church in Waltham yesterday for Mrs. Georgianna (Morin) Charest, of 417 Auburn st., Auburndale, who died last Friday after a long illness.

Mrs. Charest is survived by her husband, Emile Charest; by two sons, Charles F. of West Newton and Joseph of Los Angeles; two daughters, Miss Bertha C. Charest of Wellesley and Miss Genevieve M. Charest of Auburndale; a sister, Mrs. Mary Hanson of Marblehead; a brother, Ralph Morin of Salem, and eight grandchildren.

Catherine McArdle

Funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. Catherine McArdle, 78, widow of Patrick J. McArdle, formerly of 287 Washington st., Newton, who died Monday at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at Corpus Christi Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Mrs. McArdle was born in County Galway, Ireland, but had lived in Newton for more than half a century. She is survived by a son, Patrolman John J. McArdle of the Newton police department; a daughter, Mrs. Arthur C. Cheverie of Auburndale, six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

BERMUDA GOLF — Thomas DiFlore, of Bermuda, left, was the winner over John Hunt, of 15 Hampden Terrace, Newton Centre, right, in the tournament for the Mid Ocean's Men's Invitation Golf Championship, at Hamilton, Bermuda. The Bermudian beat the Newton golfer, 5 and 4, in the championship flight.

Local Women on Committee For March 25 Event

Several Newton women were selected to serve on the seventh annual Leukemia Luncheon committee at a recent membership meeting of the Rho Pi Phi ladies auxiliary.

They are: Mrs. Edward Dexter, who will serve as co-chairman with Mrs. Nathan Goldberg; Mrs. Allen Fair and Mrs. Henry Schneider, special gifts chairmen; Mrs. Louis Cohen who will handle reservations and Mrs. Benjamin Baker who will serve as chairman of hostesses.

Mrs. George Freedman is president of Rho Pi Phi ladies auxiliary.

The luncheon will be held March 25 at the Sidney Hill Country Club, Chestnut Hill. The women of the auxiliary have pledged their support of the event so that research into the cause and cure of the dread leukemia disease can be continued.

Cabot School Cub Pack Offer Skits

Newton Cub Scout Pack 1 met recently at the Cabot School auditorium, where the flag ceremony was ably performed by Den 3. The boys of Den 7 presented a skit on the weather, with a large weather map and several other projects made by the youngsters.

Den 9 offered a skit on their impressions after a recent visit to "Drumlin Farm,"

while Den 12 did a cubbing song, which, with the aid of flashlights in a darkened auditorium, was very effective.

Community singing and games were enjoyed by cubs and parents alike. Stephen Zophin received his Bobcat pin in a ceremonial skit. On Dec. 12 the Cabot School scouts join other packs in a combined Christmas party, to be held at the Claflin School at 7:30 p.m.

Committee Member

Among those appointed by Governor Furcolo recently to study nursing homes as a member of the committee was Dr. Guy Burgler, 17 Old England Road, Newton.

Office Party Grab Gifts are the clever Mink Golf Tees (real mink too)... Booze Hound to dress up the "bottle"... playing cards or the funny set of "Mix your own Poisin" glasses.

He will love you if you are smart enough to give him one of the Floor Sample Hi-Fi sets on sale at Newtonville T.V. and Record Shop. It takes a trained ear to detect the difference in Hi-Fi and Stereo, but because everything must make room for the new... these beautiful Hi-Fis are being sacrificed at a mere fraction of the original cost... and don't forget the record album to add to his collection of favorites.

If this is the special year when "He" will receive a beautiful watch, may I suggest that you visit Carl Grant at Grant's Jewelry opposite the R. R. station in Newton Centre. You will find a wonderful display of Hamiltons and Elgins, in addition to elegant jewelry "just right for gift giving."

Of course, all boys from 9 to 9 love Pets... and Debby's Pet Land is ready to please everyone of them... Puppies, Parakeets and Aquariums... Poodle Dog Collars studded with "jewels"... scratching posts, catnip "candy canes"... Doggie Beds... and even white mice and turtles... Do give him something of his very own to love.

The film developing set we bought at Atwood's last year for our thirteen-year-old was just about the most successful present we ever planned... We hope to increase his interest with an enlarger this year, but no matter whether you are giving a fresh supply of films or the latest model camera Atwood's is the answer to Picture Taking Gifts...

The boys in Waban are getting a toy shop made to order... That is a fact. Mr. Edward Lang is opening the Waban Furniture and Toy Store and young Bruce Firger, Peter Bassett, Arthur Colpack and Alan Shapiro have been helping plan the inventory... Who would know better what youngsters want these days... The boys are already crowding in to check the shipping cases lined high along the wall... I hear tell there are wonderful plans for this store including many household items bearing such names as Sealy and Englander.

My sister called to remind me that I talk about the French Ski Shop as though it were only a spot for novices... My goodness, she says that in the days when skiing was "the only thing she lived for"... everyone at the ski lodge from beginner to professional was in love with Jean and Susan Roguzac, and their charming ski shop... They have simply everything that a skier would love... Naturally I had approached it from a Mother's point of view, because I was so delighted to find a place where I could shop for my young ski enthusiasts with confidence... The French Ski Shop is at 438 Stuart St., near Copley Square if you are buying for any skier...

All this Gift buying will mean lots of wrapping and ribbons... Take my advice and shop at Edwards (5 & 10) Store in West Newton for the best wrapping "Buys" of the season... Buy in quantity and save at Edward's where parking is plentiful and free... they are open Friday evenings... and you get a bonus gift for week-end shopping.

Something to think about... You are not dressed to meet the world in the morning until you put on your smile...

Where You Save Does Make A Difference

THERE'S A BETTER

TREASURE

By DON HEROLD

Let those coins

Methods of saving money have improved through the ages. People used to bury it, hide it in socks or cookie jars or under mattresses, or put it in unsound investments. (Some still do THAT.)

A great step forward was the founding of America's first savings and loan association in 1831. Today there is no better place to preserve money than in Watertown Federal — New England's fastest growing savings institution — where it grows by accumulation of good compounded dividends.

FIFTH AVENUE GIFTWARE
827 Washington St., Newtonville DEcatur 2-4809
At Intersection of Walnut

MANDELL'S INC. OF NEWTON has been a "buy-word" with Newton males for a long time. This complete men's store, staffed with competent personnel who are always ready to assist you in selecting the "right" garment or a gift for a friend, has easily reached locations in Newton Centre and Newtonville.

For Holiday Shopping Try Mandell's Men's Clothing

For the young man in his teens, there are few things more important than his appearance. Mandell's Inc., Newton's most popular men's store, realized this when they installed their Prep Department in their Newton Centre branch.

With sizes available from 12 to 20, Mandell's features such makes as Model, McGregor and Maine Guide. The discriminating young man has a wide choice of sport shirts, sport jackets, slacks and dress shirts, as well as such needed winter accessories as ski caps and gloves.

Five capable salesmen are available at the two branches of Mandell's Inc., conveniently located at 311 Walnut street in Newtonville and 833 Beacon street in Newton Centre. Max Paddock, Saul Smokler, Douglas Hynes, Harry Gould or Al Wingert will be more than happy to help you solve your Christmas shopping problems.

The Newtonville store will be an oasis for the young man who finds himself invited to a formal dance during the holiday season. Their large selection of formal wear, which is available for rent at moderate prices, is just the answer.

Also at the Newtonville store, the customer will find a wide variety of the best in shoe styles, patterned by such well known manufacturers as Nunn-Bush and Jarman.

For the best in men's furnishings and the finest service anywhere, make Mandell's Inc. one of your first stops this holiday season.

Big Bundle Launderette Offers Complete Service

Perhaps there is nothing that the average housewife is more particular about than her family's laundry, and that is one of a number of good reasons that more and more Newtonites are taking their laundry problems to the Big Bundle Launderette, conveniently located at 419 Lexington street, Auburndale.

A complete family laundry service, the Big Bundle stands ready to serve the customer in every way possible. Extra speed is provided when the customer requests it, but the work is so promptly and efficiently done as a matter of course that the "hurry up" calls are rare.

Although shirts and flat work are the Big Bundle's specialty, they are also becoming known for their excellent dyeing service. The customer who is dissatisfied with the present color of her drapes, spreads or shag rugs may choose from 70 sparkling rollers available at the Big Bundle.

The sparkling interior and the brightly gleaming all new machinery at the launderette are only rivaled by the quality of the work turned out by the Big Bundle. Although housewives discovered the ease and convenience of using the Big Bundle, the man in the family has found that nowhere else can he get his work clothes so clean.

Another feature is the top grade work done on blankets, spreads, slipcovers and drapes. For the best in family laundry service with individual attention a rule, not an exception, try the Big Bundle Launderette at 419 Lexington street, Auburndale.

"Thumbing" To Be Banned Under Rawson Bill Terms

One bill before the new State Legislature will be concerned with thumbs. If it passes, thumbs will be relegated to such old-fashioned pursuits as guides for householders hammering nails during do-it-yourself spells; aids to waiters carrying soup bowls; something to put into the lonesome compartment of one-fingered mittens; something to hail as "green" if the geraniums thrive nicely in the spring.

They'll never more be legally used as bids for transportation on Bay State highways, if a measure introduced jointly by Representative George E. Rawson and the American Automobile Association finds its way to enactment.

Rawson and the AAA have reached the conclusion that hitchhiking is now a major evil on modern highways. They are seeking to outlaw the practice. "Two out of five thumbs used to beg a ride have their prints on file with the police," claims a spokesman for the AAA.

"Motorists are being robbed, beaten, forced to go out of their way, kidnapped and even murdered by hitchhikers," says Rawson. "Every hitchhiker who stands out in the road begging a ride endangers himself and forces drivers to swerve dangerously in order to avoid hitting him."

"So serious is this matter that the AAA has gone on record nationally to outlaw the practice," chimes in Safety Director Richard W. Hoover of the AAA's Massachusetts division. "Here in Massachusetts, as in a number of other States, a hitchhiker becomes a guest rider and can sue the driver for damages in case of an accident."

The bill sponsors further point out that thumbing is now illegal in 22 States and the District of Columbia. Military regulations forbid hitchhiking and thumbers are not allowed on certain highways such as the Massachusetts Turnpike, Connecticut parkways and Maine and New Hampshire turnpikes.

City Buffeted-

put into operation for about an hour.

Auburndale, Newton Corner, West Newton Square, Newtonville and Waban were hardest hit by the power failures.

At Commonwealth avenue and Lexington street, Auburndale, a tree fell on a parked automobile and the street was so badly blocked by fallen limbs that it was necessary to detour traffic.

At 849 Washington street, West Newton, the plate glass window of the Smart Beauty Shop was smashed. Staging at the Warren Apartments, 337 Washington street, Newton, was blown down by the wind.

Public utility crews and about 50 members of the forestry division were kept busy during the night and following day in making repairs and clearing the streets.

Four accidents were reported during the storm. Stephen Zbikowski, 59, of Park Central Hotel, Framingham, suffered a fractured ankle and other injuries when he was struck by a car on Route 9 at the Quinobeguin road overpass, Newton Upper Falls.

John G. McKenney, 99 Bedford street, Waltham, sustained injuries to the chest and nose when his car struck a pole near 355 Crafts street, Newtonville.

Henrikus Smits, 26, Quinobeguin road, Waban, suffered an eye injury when his car struck a pole near the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Two passengers in a car operated by Michael O'Connor of Groton complained of injuries when the machine was in collision with a machine operated by Howard Terrence of Norfolk, Va., at Centre street and Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre.

The Misses Anna Natsis, Betsy Coulson and Janet Roy represented Lasell Junior College at the student government conference held at Bradford Junior College.

Testimonial Dinner Honors Capt. Burke

Law enforcement officers and civic and church leaders were among the more than 1,000 persons who gathered at the Totem Pole ballroom in Auburndale Monday to pay tribute to William J. Burke at a testimonial dinner in honor of his promotion to captain in the Newton Police Department.

Alderman Leo M. Cannon acted as master of ceremonies and a purse was presented to the new captain by Police Chief Philip Purcell. Rabbi Albert I. Gordon of Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, offered the invocation while the Rev. Joseph Keane, S.J., of Boston College High School, gave the benediction.

Mrs. Burke was present, as were their children, William J. Jr., S.J., of Weston College; Virginia, a secretary in the School Department; John N., and James R., students at Boston College, and Patricia, a pupil at Emerson School. Also enjoying the party was Mrs. Burke's mother, Mrs. Anna McMullen.

In addition to Chief Purcell, the speakers were Rev. Daniel F. Riordan, pastor of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Newton Upper Falls; Registrar of Motor Vehicles Clement A. Riley, who brought the greetings of Gov. Furolo; and Capt. William Hogan of the Boston Police Department.

Congratulatory messages were received from Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., Governor's Council Christian A. Herter, Jr., Lt. Gov. Robert F. Murphy, Judge Donald E. Mayberry, Judge Thomas E. Linch, former Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, and Special Agent Leo F. Laughlin, in charge of the Boston FBI office.

Other head table guests included Rev. William Carroll of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Judge David R. Rose, Sheriff Howard W. Fitzpatrick, Walter R. Amesbury, administrator of the Waltham Hospital, retired Newton Police Chief Nicholas Vedeuco; Edward L. Connelly, superintendent of the MDC Police; Asst-

ant District Attorney Bernard Bradley; Capt. William Taylor, Joseph Saia and Daniel Crowley of the Boston Police; Chief William F. Carmony and Capt. Henry F. Corcoran of the Waltham Police; Lt. Richard J. Keefe of the Watertown Police, and Newton Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.

The arrangement committee was headed by the following: Joseph Piantadosi, chairman; James L. Durkin, co-chairman; Lt. John N. McMullen, invited guests; Patrolman George F. Slavin, secretary; Theodore Bornstein, treasurer; Patrolman Raymond J. Thibault, tickets and co-treasurer; Inspector John J. Salemme, banquet; George Delaney, dinner; Patrolman John J. McGuinness, entertainment; Emanuel R. Goldman, flowers; Hugo M. Marrull, program; Nazzareno J. Mazzola, refreshments.

Assisting were Walter J. Burke, George H. Charnock, Patrolmen Joseph E. LaCroix, Dominic J. D'Innocenzo, William H. Fitzgerald, T. Manley Kiley and James F. Motherway, Sgts. Walter F. Drew and Albert A. Smith, Inspector Thomas M. Dargan, Joseph A. Delaney, Raymond DeLuca, John L. Foley, Samuel J. Fried,

On Dance Committee

"The Alaskan Gold Rush" will be the theme of the Grande Soiree, a dance to be held by the Intercollegiate Club of Boston on Dec. 13 at the University Club.

Newtonites serving on the committee include Virginia Finnegan, Judy MacCreedy and Tony Cunningham.

210 Associates Meet

The 19th annual meeting of the 210 Associates, Inc., will be held Wednesday evening at the Commonwealth Country Club in Newton. An attendance of over 600 is expected.

William L. Shlirer, well known correspondent and author of "Berlin Diary," will be the guest speaker. The 210 Associates, a non-profit charitable organization with nearly 5,000 members in the shoe and leather industry, is the largest such organization comprised of business executives and sales personnel in the country.

Alfred R. Guzzi, I. Fred Koffman, Sylvester A. Mazzone, Paul O'Brien, J. Bruce Spilman and Joseph G. Valente.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS . . . The Civics Committee, one of Newton High's largest and most active organizations, has a membership this year of over 100 students. The group was formed in 1956 and listed in the Orange Book as a permanent organization. Previous to that year a type of Civics Committee had been established and was called an Anti-Smoking Committee. This group began working in 1947 to help put a stop to a few small fires that had broken out as a result of students smoking in the school.

Now the Civics Committee is functioning to service the school and to improve school citizenship in general. The students of the committee are chosen on the basis of academic standing, popularity, previous civic work, and their answers to the questions on the application. Approximately 400 applied for membership. The newest plans for the Civics Committee include a clean-up campaign and an attempt to get more parking area for the students.

Another active organization is the Legislature. The Legislature has voted that it definitely wants to support a foster child with the other organizations of the school. The idea for this plan originally came from the Latin Club and, therefore, that club is helping to organize a foster child council. The Legislature has pledged to become a member of this council. The motion has not gone through all the clubs in the school yet.

Last month juniors received applications for the 1959 American Field Service Summer Program. The juniors will be chosen to live abroad this summer under the program. Necessary qualifications are naturally the ability to get along with people and adapt to situations, a sense of stability and responsibility, a strong scholastic record, and at least two years of a foreign language.

Last Wednesday was the long-dreaded day. Students received report cards with their first term marks. However, many things were different about these report cards. The marks were all put on the International Business Machine which also automatically sorts the cards. (However, to avoid any possible error, teachers rechecked the marks once after they had handed them in to the IBM machine.) Another novel feature is that these cards do not have to be signed by parents and brought back to the school.

The offices have five more copies of the report card of each student so it is not necessary to retain the one brought home. However, if a parent begins to wonder sometimes why he has not received a copy of Johnny's report card all year, he may just call the office and a copy of the original report card will be sent home to him.

Each term the machines will print that term's marks from all the preceding terms. This method will avoid a great deal of secretarial work in sorting, marking and returning report cards. It will lessen the burden of home-room teachers, subject teachers, and the secretarial staff.

In addition, it will not be necessary to waste a whole class period the day of report cards for each teacher to put his marks on his students' report cards. Previously students carried their report cards around with them and each teacher marked each pupil's card during the regular class period. Mistakes were frequently made in the rush, and this necessitated getting an entirely new report card and having it resigned by all the teachers. The problem of mid-term guidance cards has also been alleviated. Now students merely receive warning cards at the end of the mid-term if they are failing a subject; there is no longer need

$341,000 Asked Of Red Feather

Requests of more than $341,369 were made this week to the Budget Committee of the Newton Community Chest by representatives of the 13 Newton Red Feather agencies, Edward A. Green, chairman of the budget committee, announced today.

In Newton more than 250 volunteer man hours of time have been spent this week alone in study, analysis and discussion of the Newton budgets by members of the Budget Committee.

For each teacher to sign a card specifying whether each student is passing or failing.

Last month a senior class meeting was held in the auditorium. At this time a movie on UNICEF was shown to the members of the 12th grade. Then such items as Senior Supper and Senior Prom were discussed by the class president, Bill Doyle. Marcia Kerr, secretary, urged the payment of class dues. Mr. Rogers cleared up a few of the questions the students had about various goings-on in the school. Also at the assembly were Jerry Kenney and Fred Posner, vice-presidents, and Diane Fay, secretary.

THE GREAT BIG WONDERFUL WHIRL . . . Many social activities are occurring at this time of year. The football dance, sponsored by the Legislature and headed by Hal Cohen's committee, was held before November vacation. A novelty was the pizza and hot dogs served at refreshment time. In addition to this the football players and cheerleaders were introduced. Also a turkey was given away to the person with the lucky ticket. The winner was Dave Fitz.

Tigerama tomorrow night will be on a shipwreck theme. It will include a community sing and hockey and basketball rally. In 1954 the P.T.S.A. organized the Tigerama to serve as a temporary youth center for the students of Newton. Its purpose is to make an evening of fun for the Newton High students.

JOTS AND DASHES . . . Presently, Newtonian pictures of many school organizations are being taken. However, there are still a number of students who have not passed in their personal pictures for the senior section of the book. Larry Yeo and Jean Winer were recent senior standouts. THE OUT-DOOR TYPE . . . Pat Green is the Newtonite's sports standout. Al Alexander was Newton High's enthusiastic and active tiger during the entire football season.

Christmas Music At Second Church

The combined choir of the Second Church in Newton, West Newton, will present a festival of Christmas music on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the chancel of the church.

The program will include traditional carols and choruses; selections from "A Ceremony of Carols" by Britten; a chorale by Bach; a motet by Sweelinck; and will conclude with the "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah" by Handel. The Chancel Choir, Boys' Choir, Junior Choir and Junior High Choir will all participate.

Ivar Sjostrom, Director of Music at Second Church, is conducting the choir. Guest organist will be Cameron Ryland, and additional accompaniment will be provided by John Kattwinkel on the tympani and Edward D'Amico on the trumpet.

The general public is invited to attend this service.

Co-Op Plan For Education Lists Local Freshmen

They include: Richard J. Armstrong, 79 Border street, Robert E. Barry, 34 Hartford street, Peter E. Kelly, 727 Saw Mill Brook Parkway; Joseph P. McWilliams, 136 Cherry street, Ronald G. Pink, 84 Webster street, Dale W. Schubert, 32 Brewster road, Paul K. Sullivan, 129 Beaumont avenue, and Barry A. Tobins, 49 Redwood road, all of Newton; James F. McDermott, 399 Wolcott street, Auburndale; and Richard J. Finerty, 13 Hinkley road, Waban.

All the new freshmen are enrolled in Northeastern's Co-operative Plan of Education. Under this plan, students alternate ten week periods in the University with periods of equal length on regular paying jobs in business and industry.

16 Newtonites End Boy Scout Course

Certificates and neckerchiefs were awarded to 16 men who completed a Boy Scout Leaders' training course in Newtonville, recently. The course, which was sponsored by Norumbega Council Inc., Boy Scouts of America, ran for seven consecutive Monday nights.

An outdoor weekend session was held three weeks ago at Nohsot Scout Reservation in Framingham, and the men were trained in program planning, troop and patrol meetings, hiking, camping, advancement, troop committee operation and helping boys to grow through scouting.

The 16 who completed the course according to Scoutmaster Oscar Obert of Newton Centre, are now qualified to act as scoutmasters, troop committee chairmen and troop committee members.

Those who received dinner badges were: William Rayburg, John McGourty, Thomas Murphy.

One year service stars were awarded to all who were in the pack last year. Den 1 put on a humorous skit to conclude the evening activities, followed by a prayer by Msgr. Bernard S. O'Kane.

TELEVIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Can you guess the name of this interesting TV personality? She was born in Parsons, Kan., and was brought to Santa Cruz, Calif., when she was six months old. Now an established comedienne and a favorite of millions, she began her career as a serious actress. Her first theatrical appearance was in a Mary Pickford film, "The Little Princess," and a succession of serious roles in motion pictures followed. In the 1920's, Hal Roach suggested she specialize in comedy and, teamed with Thelma Todd, she made scores of successful comedies. Years and countless roles later, she returned to the scene of her earlier triumph to appear before the cameras for Hal Roach, Jr., in a TV series now in its third year, in which she plays a prominent part: a series enjoyed by adults and children alike.

Have you guessed her identity yet? As Nueve in "The Gale Storm Show" her continual air of dismay, the look of futility and her "Oh, dear," have evoked more chuckles from audiences than most pages of dialogue. Her unusual name was given to her by her father in honor of two aunts, LIZA and SUSAN. Since it's a coined word there is no established pronunciation. Miss Pitts pronounces it ZAY-say.

The names of the brands we feature in our stock of TV sets, home appliances, etc., all stand for high quality and dependable service. This is in keeping with the policy of our company. And so, we invite you to come in and ask for a demonstration of a Thomas Electronic Organ. Can you think of a gift for the whole family this Xmas that would give more lasting enjoyment?

Campus Notes
On Newtonites

Eight students from Newton are registered at the University of Maine for the fall semester. They are Ronald G. Grammont of 280 Islington road, Bette M. Tarny of 29 Audubon drive, Mitchell M. Cohen of 47 Margaret road, Susan V. McGuffin of 150 Newton avenue, David P. Bernstein of 11 Chester street, Harvey J. Shain of 109 Brackett road, Leonard C. Bassett Jr. of 15 Terrace avenue and Laurence A. Stapin of 12 Princeton street.

Wheaton College has named a new dining center in honor of William F. Chase, a resident of West Newton and treasurer of the college since 1937. The building is scheduled for completion by January 1.

Judith Paula Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berel Arnold, 20 Kendal road, a sophomore at Wheaton College, has been placed on the dean's list for the first 1958-59 semester. Besides her scholastic accomplishments, Judith is an active member of the Spanish Club. She is a history major at Wheaton and a graduate of N. H. S.

Also on the dean's list at Wheaton is Wendy Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Fox, 31 Lancaster road, Newton. She is also a sophomore. During her freshman year she participated in the French, Dramatic and International Relations Clubs.

Edgard A. Boardman, 21 Groveland street, Auburndale, was promoted to cadet staff sergeant in the AFROTC at Colby College. He is a sophomore and is assigned as a flight sergeant.

Barbara Ann Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Boyle of Newton, has been pledged to Beta Theta Chapter of Sigma Kappa sorority at Marietta College. She is a graduate of Newton High School.

Miss Arlene Freeman, a 1958 graduate of Newton High School, has been elected secretary of The Templars at Cazenovia Junior College, Cazenovia, N. Y. Miss Freeman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Freeman of 46 Grant avenue, Newton Centre.

Margaret Doyle, of 12 Beechcroft road, Newton, has been elected secretary of the class of 1960 in the School of Education at Boston College.

Completes Test

At Radar Post

Airman Third Class John W. Benson, Newton Corner, completed one phase of the Air Force's high school level general education development test at a radar site of the 41st Air Division where he is assigned as a radio operator.

The 18-year-old son of Mr. W. Y. Benson, 21 Emerson street, Newton Corner, enlisted in the U. S. Air Force in 1957 and was assigned to the 41st Air Division in Japan in May 1958.

Before entering the Air Force, he attended Newton High School, and is now completing the requirements for his diploma in his off-duty time. Because of the isolation of the radar site, the officers and airmen there participate in the Air Force's education program through correspondence courses and group study classes. Recognizing the needs for a sound education, the 41st Air Division maintains one of the most extensive off-duty education programs in Japan in which every man at an isolated site is counseled at least twice a year on the self-study program.

Is Treasurer

Of School Class

Sallyann Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert H. Miller, 279 Derby Street, West Newton, has been elected treasurer of her class at Chandler School for Women in Boston.

Sallyann, a graduate of Newton High School, is specializing in the two-year executive course and will graduate this June.

Among the future events for the class officers will be a Thanksgiving Assembly at the Hotel Somerset, where she will be a participant; a luncheon date as guest of the President of Chandler at the Harvard Club, and a visit with the Governor at the State House.

Local Girl Elected

Editor Is A Trustee

The Pulitzer Prize winning editor of the Worcester Telegram and Evening Gazette, Forrest W. Seymour, has been elected a trustee of the Andover Newton Theological School.

Seymour's election was announced by the Rev. Dr. Frederick M. Meek, chairman of the Administrative Committee of the Boards of Trustees of the school.

The Worcester editor won the Pulitzer Prize, the most highly valued of journalism's awards, in 1943 for distinguished editorial writing in the Des Moines (Iowa) Register and Tribune. He served as editor for the Iowa paper before coming to Worcester in 1955.

Seymour is a former president of the New England Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a journalism fraternity.

L.W.V.'s Newest Booklet Packed With Information

You'll probably repeat several times—"That's something I never knew 'til now"—as you scan the latest edition of the League of Women Voters brochure concerning Newton. It's a 44-page booklet jam-packed with information about the city and its villages entitled, "Newton, A Guide to Its Government."

It tells how the Newton government and all its branches and subdivisions operate. It gives a brief history of the community from back in the 17th century when it was "New Towne."

It has items which show that in 1949, Newton was the fourth highest U.S. city (in the population bracket over 50,000) in family income; that 70 per cent of its population over-25 has finished high school; how a householder goes about getting his street accepted.

The edition is the second of its kind produced by the Newton League women. The first was in 1954.

President Sends Congratulations

Gala 100th Anniversary Program Of Temple Opens Here Tomorrow

President Dwight D. Eisenhower has added his congratulations and good wishes to the many received by Temple Mishkan Tefila of Newton which this week-end celebrates its 100th anniversary.

The President's telegram addressed to Rabbi Israel J. Kazis, noted that "over the past 100 years, by its leadership in faith and work, this temple has contributed much to the life of the community. In this tradition, your congregation can enter its second century with confidence and thanksgiving. Congratulations and best wishes."

Similar messages were received by the Newton Temple from Governor Foster Furcolo and other leading members of the community.

Plans were finalized this week for the 100th anniversary celebration at the Temple.

According to Bernard Garber, general chairman of the centennial committee, the week-end has been designated to "recall the momentous contributions of our Temple to the community during the past century, and to re-dedicate ourselves to the ideals of our Temple's founders and leaders."

Special religious and social events will mark the event at the Temple's new site on Hammond Pond Parkway in Newton.

OPENS FRIDAY NIGHT
The celebration will open Friday night, with a centennial service. Following the service, the Sisterhood has planned a collation under the direction of its president, Mrs. Benjamin Feinberg.

Chestnut Hill Is Opposing Zone Change

A group of Chestnut Hill residents appeared before the Aldermanic claims and rules committee at City Hall Monday night to oppose an application for a zoning change to permit the erection of an office building at Boylston and Moody streets.

Several objectors declared that they had purchased their homes because of the residential zoning. They also voiced apprehension that the move might increase the parking problem.

Charles Monahan of 221 Waltham street, West Newton, who appeared for Edward Katz, the petitioner, said the application actually calls for an extension of the business zone. He asserted that Katz would meet any restrictions as to parking or landscaping to protect nearby properties.

Mail in News Early During Yule Season

Because the heavy Christmas mail will be slowing down postal deliveries during the next two weeks, persons mailing in news of any kind are urged to send it a day or two earlier than would normally be the case. In other years persons who failed to make allowances for the Yuletide slowdown in mail deliveries were disappointed because announcements from organizations and other news did not arrive in time for publication.

School Board Names Three New Teachers

Three teachers were appointed to the Newton school system at its meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Mildred H. Meredith was named as a second grade teacher at the Countryside School to replace Mrs. Mary Baker. Mrs. Meredith, who is currently serving as a substitute teacher in Boston, will assume her duties Jan. 5.

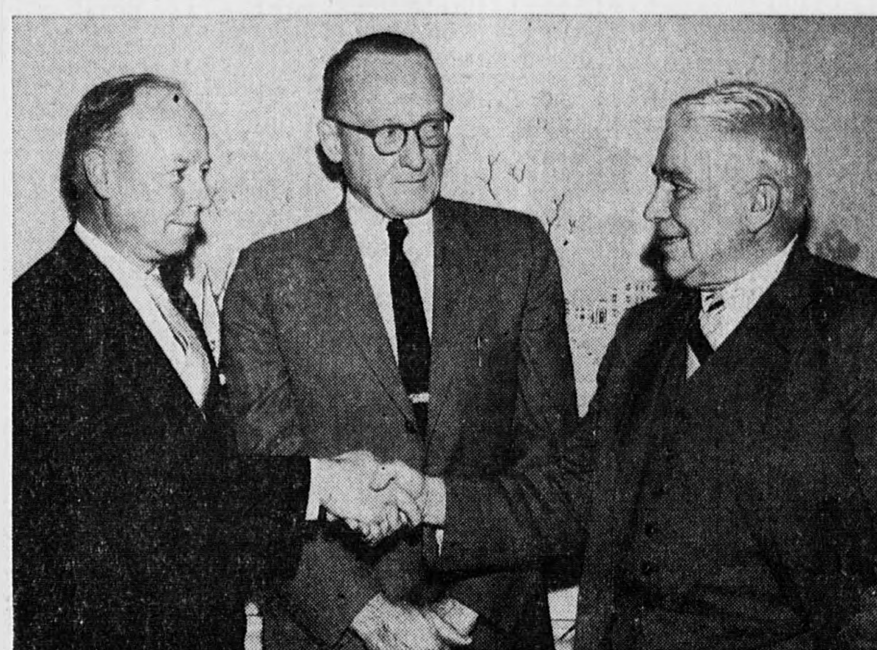

Mrs. Caroline S. Wallick was appointed as a fourth grade teacher at the Davis School to who has resigned effective Dec. 27. Mrs. Wallick was appointed as of Jan. 5.

Named as a teacher aide at the New England Peabody Home was Mrs. Rose A. Mitchell.

Warren Pupils, Teachers Quiet Despite Alarm

While firefighters were reading details of the Chicago school fire tragedy, an alarm was sounded from the Warren Junior High School in West Newton. Odor of smoke from an oil burner motor in the school caused the sounding of the alarm at 8:42 a.m. Responding to the call were Engines 2, 4, 5 and 6, Ladder 1, and Assistant Chief Francis X. Dwyer.

Classes went on as usual. Teachers and pupils went on with their work while firemen checked the building.

State Public Works Head Orders Dwelling Skirted Or Moved to New Location

State Public Works Commissioner Anthony N. DiNatale started steps this week designed to save the home of an 85-year-old blind woman, whose dwelling stands in the path of a proposed $400,000 interchange road to be built onto route 128 in Newton Lower Falls.

DiNatale told The Graphic that he has ordered a review of the plans for the interchange to determine whether they can be revised so that the house in which the elderly and sightless woman lives may remain at its present location.

In the event that this does not prove to be feasible, the State public works head declared, he will find a suitable site elsewhere for the house and move it at State expense.

Commissioner DiNatale expressed deep concern over the plight of the blind woman who would find it difficult, if not impossible, to adjust herself to new surroundings at this stage of her life.

He said that he will find some means of working out a solution to the problem in order that the life and the daily routine of the elderly woman will not be disrupted by the loss of her home.

"I realize that a woman, who is 85 years old and blind, would have a very difficult time adjusting herself to a new home," DiNatale stated, "and if we can't change the plans sufficiently to avoid taking her house, then we'll move it to another location."

"You may be sure that in one way or another we will save this woman's home," the public works commissioner added.

Ordinarily, the State avoids the policy of moving homes to other locations because the cost involved in purchasing a new site, installing foundations and then transporting the dwelling usually amounts

Chairmen Named For Heart Fund Campaign

The general chairman and advance gifts chairman for the 1959 Newton Heart Fund campaign have been named. Mrs. George L. White of 36 Walnut Park will head the campaign, while Mrs. Samuel Nesson of 1063 Commonwealth avenue will serve as the advance gifts chairman.

An area chairman in Heart Fund drives of 1957 and 1958, Mrs. White is a past president of the Guild of St. Irene at St. Sebastian's Country Day School, a member of the Newton Community Club, the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association, and the Mater Dei Guild for the Blind.

She has also been active in Girl Scout circles, the community Chest, Red Cross and Salvation Army drives, and has worked with the children at the Kennedy Memorial Hospital.

A long-time Heart Fund volunteer, Mrs. Nesson served as general Heart Fund chairman in Newton for the 1957 and 1958 campaigns and prior to that was an area chairman and captain in Newtonville for the February fund-raising appeal. She has acted as luncheon chairman of the Women's Alliance of the First Unitarian Church of West Newton.

The February campaign is held annually to aid the fight against heart and circulatory diseases, which account for more deaths in this community than all other causes combined. Across the state, heart disease took a toll of more than 23,000 lives in the last recorded year and it is esti-

Safe Breakers Get No Loot Abandon Pliers and Big Bag

Some men who entered the offices of the Dahl Wool Processing Co., 149 California street, Newton, and left behind a new pair of pliers and a large burlap bag, can make claim of the same by calling at Newton police station.

Sergeant Albert A. Smith, Inspector Charles W. Lynch and Patrolmen Ralph H. Rich and Peter J. Annesse or any of the officers who happen to be in the station will be glad to talk with them.

The bag and pliers were left behind after the visitors had made an unsuccessful attempt to pry open the safe in the company office. The safe was too stout for the pliers. The burlap bag apparently became excess baggage when they found no loot to put into it.

President William B. Kaplan of the company found several filing cabinets forced open, and the combination knobs of the safe took quite a beating but nothing was taken.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Drive for Cong. O'Neill Seen As Draft Movement

From all indications the drive being made by admirers of Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge is more of an attempt to draft him as a candidate for Governor in 1960 than anything else.

There is little doubt in the minds of most political observers that O'Neill can have the Democratic gubernatorial nomination for the asking two years from now. Neither is there much question but that he would be the strongest candidate the Democratic party in Massachusetts could put up for the Governorship.

The only thing that is preventing a political stampede for O'Neill this far in advance of the 1960 election is a deep-seated uncertainty as to whether he is interested in running for Governor.

O'Neill is one of the outstanding public figures in Massachusetts. He was the first Democratic Speaker of the House of Representatives in the history of the Commonwealth.

He served as Governor Furcolo's campaign manager in the recent election and played a major part in lining up the united Democratic support for Furcolo

Get 1959 Plates Now, Riley Urges

Newton automobile owners were urged today by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Clement A. Riley to obtain their 1959 registration plates as soon as possible in order to avoid inevitable delays in the 11th hour rush.

Riley pointed out that those who put off getting their plates until the closing days of the month are certain to encounter long lines of other 11th hour applicants.

He emphasized that cars which are not registered will not be allowed on the highways after midnight on New Year's Eve.

Youths Caught After False Alarm

Two boys, aged 14 and 16, were apprehended by police after sounding a false alarm from a fire box at High and Summer streets in Newton Upper Falls Monday night. The two youths, who were turned over to their parents, admitted to police that they had gone out to ring doorbells but instead turned in a fire alarm.

2 H.S. Prowlers Frightened Away

Two boys who had entered Building No. 2 of Newton High School and were making their way through a tunnel to Building No. 3, were frightened away when they suddenly encountered Custodian Carmen Testa. The boys apparently gained entrance to Building No. 2 through a door on the south side around 9:20 p.m. Nothing was found missing in the school.

To Save Home-

to more than the expense of purchasing a new house. But Commissioner DiNatale said that an exception would be made in the case of the 85-year-old woman because of the unusual circumstances involved if it is found impossible to avoid her home.

The woman, whose predicament is receiving special attention from Commissioner DiNatale, is Mrs. Albert H. Morrill of 416 Grove street, Newton Lower Falls.

Her home is one of nine slated to be torn down to make way for the construction of the interchange with route 128.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr. appealed to State public works officials last week in behalf of Mrs. Morrill and urged that either the plans be revised or her home be moved to another location.

When Commissioner DiNatale learned of the case, he immediately ordered that an engineer be assigned to study the situation and to report to him personally on whether the plans could be changed to skirt the blind woman's home without materially impairing the efficiency of the interchange.

DiNatale declared that he would ascertain what further steps will be taken after he receives the report.

Mayor Whitmore several weeks ago submitted three alternate plans to the State Public Works Department which would have avoided the demolition of any dwellings.

Commissioner DiNatale, however, said his engineers had reported that the interchange would not accomplish the desired purpose under Mayor Whitmore's plans.

Temple Reyim Children To Present Play

The Children's Creative Group of Temple Reyim, in a special observance of Chanukah, will present the skit, "Darkness and Light," and the play, "Chanukah on a Mystery Planet," on Sunday morning, December 14, the West Newton schoolhouse auditorium.

The presentation, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Binder, will be given for two assemblies of the Hebrew and Sunday schools, and will feature the following cast:

Marsha Idelson, David Bartman, Jane Marcus, Arthur Kahn, Arthur Slate, Joel Winston, Jack Goldstein, Steven Katz, Geoffrey Constant, Philip Katz, Kenneth Shuman, Kenneth Chaletzky, Francine Tobin, Joan Salvin, Judith Hamburg, Deborah Shapiro, Elizabeth Brown, Linda Lee Rosen, Susan Frank, Barbara Weinstein, Harriet Fox, and Alma Hirsch.

Our Lady's High School has now underway an automobile-equipped driver education course, as a result of the presentation of a dual control vehicle to the school by the Newton Motor Sales Co.

Our Lady's becomes the first parochial school in the State to institute the course.

A class of 44 pupils are enrolled in the first class, and 45 more will be enrolled in a class to get underway in February.

James Sullivan will be classroom instructor and Patrolman James Rogers will give the road lessons. The course calls for 20 hours of classroom work; six hours behind the wheel and six hours of observation.

President John Cahill of the Newton Motor Sales made a formal presentation of the car to the Right Rev. Walter J. Furlong, pastor of Our Lady's Church.

Car Burns After Cemetery Mishap

A car driven by a Newtonville boy was completely destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon after it tipped over while negotiating a curve in the Newton Cemetery at Newton Centre. John B. Snook, 16, of 74 Page road, Newtonville, was uninjured. A passenger in the car was also unhurt, police said.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS . . . This week two history lectures on "Lewis and Clark" were given in Newton Plan Curriculum I U.S. history lectures. These two talks were part of a series of history lectures designed to go deeply into some subjects and to briefly cover others that might not be discussed at all in the classroom.

Alan Maycock and Jimmy Sigel represented Newton High at a conference for Junior Scientists held at Boston University early this year. The boys spent the day hearing lectures on all types of scientific subjects.

Newton High students interested in getting a job for the Christmas season or for any time of the year have found it advisable to stop in at the Placement Office in Building 2. This office, run by Mr. Mitchell, also helps to get jobs after graduation for students who take the business course. All types of openings are available in Newton and Greater Boston area. Last year the placement office found jobs for about 300 students.

Dr. Navez, head of the Science Department, was given a federal kit by the State Civil Defense Agency. This agency gave the money for the distribution of equipment to train high school science teachers to detect various factors should an atomic bomb explode anywhere in the Greater Boston area.

The language labs are now being prepared to allow students to visit them during study periods to listen to tape recordings or make records to test their own pronunciation. About 125 students, most of them beyond their second year of language study, have signed up for one of their study periods a week as volunteer workers to help pupils with the tapes and the machines. Tapes in four or five languages are presently being made to help the approximately 400 students who will benefit from this plan each week.

The Illinois Plan Math is presently being taught to four sophomore math classes. It was introduced to the students in these classes at the Bigelow and Meadowbrook Junior High Schools last year. This year students in the 8th and 9th grades of two other junior highs have been added to the pupils receiving this new type of instruction. Students are selected for the course because of high mathematical ability, although it is hoped that soon all students will be able to benefit from this plan. The students, once they have begun this course of study, will continue studying math throughout their year in high school.

This new system of teaching mathematics begins by making the pupil discover the rules for himself; he does not memorize them out of textbooks. All reasons behind solving a particular type of problem are shown at the start.

THE MARQUEE . . . The newly elected officers of the Drama Club are Carol Oppen, president; Julie Bergmark, vice-president; Judy Malone, secretary; Leslie Kahn, treasurer; and George B. Levenson. The prop committee consisted of Nancy Macalaster, Mary Ellen Huck, Jean Lesser, Sue Milne, Sally Everett, Marilyn Hurley, Marjory Losserson, Charlotte Clifton, Janet Woodlock, Bonnie Carlan, and Jamie Sternberg. Assisting with the costumes were Patti Leaky, Gail Altshela, Natalie Racker, Madly Cohen, Stephanie Lowry, Linda Dahl, Beverly Smith, Debby Kensilla, Victoria Bart, Maddy Herman, Nancy Lewman, and Linda Lewes. The entire production was handled by sophomores. The club is now in the process of putting on another play. This one will be handled by the elder members of the organization.

The Drama Club is also planning a theatre party for any of its members who wish to go. The afternoon for the affair will be some day in January.

At a later meeting of the club, Rafael Perney from the Philippines spoke to the pupils who belong to this group on United States' policy in the Far East. Jane is assisted in her executive duties by Gitty Tamadon, vice-president; Edith Cohen, secretary; and Hans Woerwe, treasurer. The main purpose of this organization is to encourage persons who are interested in international problems, and to discuss related topics with particular emphasis on the world scene. This year the club plans to take field trips to other schools and perhaps a special trip to the United Nations.

The students in the meteorology club join together to study the science of meteorology, to make daily observations and recordings and to forecast weather. The group sponsors lectures and demonstrations by professional meteorologists, trips to civilian and military weather installations, and daily weather observations from the top of Building Two. These daily weather forecasts are posted on the bulletin boards of the school buildings as an aid to the student body. This year's club officers are George Parker, president; Steve Goldberger, vice-president; Patricia Coin, secretary; John Forrest, treasurer; Suzanne Kessell, recording secretary; and Mike Chessman, Curator of Instruments.

THE OUT-DOOR TYPE . . . Wonderful news for all girls was announced last month by the gym teachers. Showers after gym are optional, rather than required from now on after gym classes. Girls who wish to take showers will be dismissed from class a little early to do so.

Last Friday was the date of the second cavalry club ride of the year. The president of the organization is Minna Horovitz; the vice-president, Mary Hoyer; the secretary, Marcia Bailey; and the treasurer, Sue Shain. This year the club boasts its largest membership ever. At the last meeting two films on horses were shown and plans were made for revising the club constitution. The group was organized to provide good wholesome recreation and fun for all those interested in horseback riding. Its membership is limited to those students who have acquired reasonable skill in the art of horsemanship. The activities engaged in by members of the club are riding in the Blue Hills; films; speakers; and an outing.

JOTS AND DASHES . . . This week's Senior Standouts were Bill Doyle and Jane Gilbern. Pat Donahue, Exchange Editor of the Newtonite, has had an article she wrote for the Newtonite reprinted by the Christian Science Monitor.

Newton Community Chest Requests Total $344,369

Members of the Budget Committee of the Newton Community Chest have been working during the past week evaluating requests of more than $344,369 which have been made by representatives of the 13
Newton Red Feather Agencies.

The Budget Committee held all day conferences with representatives of each Newton agency to discuss service and program plans for 1959 and the required finances to support these plans.

Funds for these Newton agencies, as well as for agencies in the Greater Boston area, were raised recently by the United Fund of Greater Boston. The UF in turn allocates a share of the more than nine million dollars raised, to the United Community Services of Greater Boston.

The Newton Community Chest will make its request for funds for the Newton Red Feather agencies to United Community Services. In connection with the request for funds, each agency submits detailed financial information on all phases of its program, including salaries, office expenses, telephone, insurance, rent, etc.

Budget Committee members are as follows:

Edward A. Green, chairman,
37 Ashmont road, Waban;
David Berkman, 412 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre; Chester E. Borden, 94 Day street, Auburndale; G. R.
Brelitzke, 86 Oxford road, Newton Centre; Wilbur W. Bullen, 199 Collins road, Waban; Mrs.
Arthur T. Gregorian, 28 Lenox street, West Newton, and Mrs.
Matt B. Jones, Jr., 58 Plainfield street, Waban.

Also, Norman B. Krim, 15
Fox lane, Newton Centre; Mrs.
Ruth H. Larsen, 20 Ruthven road, Newton; Carl E. Peterson, 135 Cornell street, Newton Lower Falls; John B. G.
Palen, 297 Islington road, Auburndale; George M. Shannon, 157 Sargent street, Newton, and Dr. Frank L. Springer, 188 Quinobeguin road, Waban.

Also present at the budget conferences were Harry L.
Walen, president; Mrs. Philip

A. Segal, vice president; and Miss Constance S. Garbutt, executive director, all of the Newton Community Chest and Council.

Newton Community Chest are:
All Newton Music School;
Family Service Bureau; Boys' Club; Girl Scout Council;
Visiting Nurse Association;
Newton-Wesley Hospital;
YMCA; Norumbega Council;
Boy Scouts; Rebecca Ponroy House; St. Vincent De Paul Society; Stone Institute; Community Center; and the Newton Community Chest and Council.

women already are vying for the position on the GOP State Committee which Mrs. Stetson is leaving. All four are well known and are long-time workers for the Republican party.

A recommendation also will be made to the State Committee by GOP State Committee member Wilfred Chagnon. Whether the ward committee members and Committeeman Chagnon will agree on the same choice is not yet known.

Mrs. Stetson is relinquishing her place on the Republican State Committee because she and her husband are planning to move within the next year to a new home in Welfleet on Cape Cod.

Active for years in GOP affairs, Mrs. Stetson was elected to the Republican State Committee in the Presidential primaries in 1956. She has served as a member of the executive committee of the Newton Republican Club and as an officer of the Newton
Women's Republican Club.
Currently, she is secretary of the Ward 5 Republican Committee.

Mr. Stetson was formerly

Rev. Kingwell New Chaplain For Hospital

The Newton Council of Churches has appointed the Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwell, Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church in Newtonville, as Protestant Chaplain at the Newton-Wesley Hospital to succeed the Rev. Edgar Helms.

Council president Richard Lee said that it was "with deep regret" that he was accepting the resignation of Mr.
Helms. Because of the added duties in moving the Lower Falls Methodist Church to Welsley and the expansion and building program now underway, Mr. Helms felt it necessary to withdraw as head of the Chaplain's program.

Mr. Helms, son of the founder of the Morgan Memorial in Boston and brother of the present director, is credited with setting up a system of cooperation between all faiths in Newton in the Hospital Chaplaincy.

Lectures to various interested groups, monthly meetings of volunteers, notification of ministers and visitations to those without a Pastor have served to "build a strong program which has been a model for many other Hospital Chaplaincies," a spokesman for the Council of Churches said.

The Rev. Mr. Kingwell said that he hopes to continue with this program as he assumes his new duties. He will be assisted by the United Church Women, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Gregorian, and by a staff of Associate Chaplains.

These are:
The Rev. Benjamin R. Andrews, Jr.; John M. Balcom,
Charles N. Pickell, Arthur H.
Block, Thomas A. Reed, Hamilton M. Gifford, Edgar J.
Helms, C. Richard Smith, Richard C. Brown, and Joseph O'Donnell.

man who so desires may have her name considered for recommendation to the State Committee.

Under the law the State Committee elects the successor to Mrs. Stetson. Usually, however, it follows the recommendation of the local groups.

Student Receives Award

Owen R. Quinn, of 14 Cheney court, Newton Upper Falls, has been cited by Boston College as a "distinguished military student." An award was presented to Quinn recently by Very Rev. Michael P. Walsh, S.J., president of the Jesuit university.

The Distinguished Military Student award is based on achieving a rank in the upper part of the senior class in scholarship activities and in military science studies.

Beethoven PTA Meets Tonight

The Beethoven School in Waban will be open from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. this evening. Parents have been invited to an "Open House" by the P.T.A. to visit their children's classrooms and to confer with the teachers. In order to permit more time for parent-teacher conferences, no formal meeting has been scheduled.

Mrs. Louis Shrali, hospitality chairman, and her committee, plan to serve refreshments throughout the evening.
the Beethoven School P.T.A.

Two Ex-Tigers In Cotton Bowl

Many Newtonites attempting to select their favorite bowl game on New Year's Day will be guided by the fact that two former Newton High School stars will be members of the Syracuse team facing Oklahoma in the Cotton bowl.

The ex-Tigers will be Chuck Fogarty, classy second string quarterback who has been getting a lot of action, and Dave Baker an effective end.

New President-

the Hospital's pension and retirement fund.

He is a member of the Budget Committee of the United Community Services and a member of the Finance Committee of the Newton Council of Churches. He spoke briefly, expressing appreciation for having been selected as president.

At the Corporation meeting Richard Wengren presented the Treasurer's report which noted a nine per cent increase in the Hospital's net dollar in spite of a six per cent reduction in occupancy due to the construction program at Newton-Wellesley.

Cost increases during the same period, however, amounted to 12 per cent and, thus, it was necessary to spend only $68,000 of a budgeted $108,000 for necessary repairs and equipment. Working capital remained low due to substantial amounts of accounts receivable and necessitated short term borrowing.

During the course of the year, the Hospital received bequests totalling $24,250 over and above specific gifts made toward construction work. Wengren felt that distinctive improvements had been made in the business operation of the Hospital and commented on increased efficiency in the Accounting Department.

Charles Cutler recommended that the number of Trustees be fixed at 75 and presented the following names in nomination for election as Corporation members and Trustees:

Ernest G. Angevine, Robert C. Casselman, Richard S. Chamberlain, Phillip C. Raye and Wilmer C. Swartley. Re-elected members: Marshall G. Bolster, William F. Chase, Sumner H. Babcock, Mrs. Paul T. Babson, F. Gorham Brigham, Jr., Donald B. Conant, Allen Davidson, William Holway Hill, Harry L. Peabody, Mrs. Ernest P. Reilsbeck, Frank L. Richardson, Joseph C. Skinner, Endicott Smith, and Mrs. Worthing L. West.

Henry T. Dunker, chairman of the Investment Committee, noted that the total market value of the Hospital's endowment funds stood at a new high of $1,636,904. Common stocks constitute 57 per cent of the total funds. Certain charges have been made in the designation of accounts in order to compute gains due to market changes.

Miss Myrtice Fuller reported an increase in enrollment in the School of Nursing and a decrease in the number of student withdrawals. She paid tribute to the recruiting work done by members of the Hospital Aid Association in this respect.

Mrs. Worthing L. West summarized the activities of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid, mentioning the services of the Aid in more than 20 major areas, and highlighted the fact that during the past 12 months 524 Aid members gave 21,693 hours of service to Aid-sponsored projects. During the past year, Hospital Aid gifts to the Hospital total $17,714.40.

Charles Cutler, acting for the Nominating Committee, presented the following slate of officers, who were duly elected:

President, Chester E. Borden; 1st Vice President, Marshall G. Bolster; 2nd Vice President, Endicott Smith; Treasurer, Richard Wengren; Assistant Treasurer, Mark C. Walker; and Clerk, William F. Chase.

Also at the Corporation meeting, the following individuals were elected for the committee. For the Board of Governors for one year: Julian D. Anthony, Samuel C. Brown, Nathan D. Bugbee, Charles M. Cutler, Samuel A. Fitch, Mrs. William F. King, Thomas E. Shirley and Mark C. Wheeler.

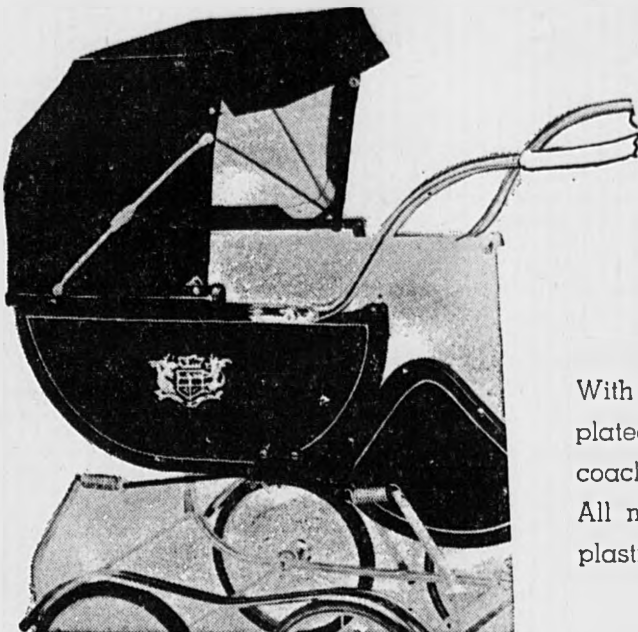

For the Auditing Committee: Norman H. S. Vincent and Richard S. Chamberlain. Finance Committee: Endicott Smith, William F. Chase, Loomis Patrick, Irving Usen and George L. White. Investment Committee: Henry T. Dunker, Paul T. Babson and Nathan D. Bugbee. Nominating Committee: Thomas E. Shirley, Samuel C. Brown and Mark C. Wheeler.

The principal speaker, Dr. Egon Kattwinkel, questioned many old wives' tales concerning sleep. He said that he felt the greatest recuperative value of sleep comes in the first four hours and urged his audience to restudy their sleep patterns and needs.

Well-Trained Men

Back in the old days a police officer got his basic training in the guard room. He was given a chance to try his marksmanship either in the cellar of the police station or on some nice summer afternoon at a pistol range. He learned the technicalities of his profession from a blue book entitled "Regulations" and his education was further advanced by his encounters with a black-robed judge on a District Court bench.

He grew old gracefully—trying doors of business establishments and turning on his brightest smiles for the good people on his beat.

His knowledge of law was sketchy but sound. Sometimes he encompassed 30 to 40 years of active police work before it was time to retire.

Times have changed. Men like Police Chief Philip Purcell have helped to bring about that change.

Today's police officer is something more than a man in uniform who halts your car and mayhap causes you to appear in the traffic session at the courthouse. He's a man skilled in crime detection; a man who knows what to do when he sees smoke coming from a window in the suburbs at 3 o'clock in the morning. He's a man who shares all the courage of the "man on the beat" back in the old days. He's a man who knows lots about a new science called social service. He's a man who can be your most valued friend in time of emergency.

Chief Purcell has instituted a pretty rigorous training program for his police officers. They are instructed in such things as the delivery of an about-to-be-born baby and the dangers inherent in new plastic toys.

The chief's program for training his officers isn't limited to a single page of some nice-reading circular; nor to some old-fashioned hold to be used in subduing a recalcitrant prisoner.

His police officers are pretty enlightened, hard-working men, trying to do what they are paid to do—serve the public to the best of their ability.

Newton has reason for pride in the manner in which most of its municipal departments carry out their work. Not the least efficient is the police department under Chief Purcell.

Political Highlights

that resulted in his reelection by an overwhelming margin.

O'Neill has a faculty for remaining extremely close to the people he represents and for instilling a more than ordinary political devotion in his friends and followers. He is as astute a politician as either party in Massachusetts has produced in a long time, and he has a warm personality which attracts support.

Yet, he has started so promising a career in Congress and has made so much headway on Capitol Hill during the three terms he has served there that there is a good deal of doubt as to whether he would be interested in giving up his position there to serve as Governor of Massachusetts for four or six years.

In O'Neill's case the question isn't whether he could get the nomination for Governor. Rather, it's whether he would accept it.

AFL Battle Over Sales Tax Reflects Changing Sentiment

The progress Governor Furecolo and city and town officials across Massachusetts have made in breaking down the opposition to the sales tax was reflected by the bitter fight on the issue waged at the convention of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor.

If anyone had dared to stand up at a labor convention in this State two years ago and advocate a sales tax, he probably would have been hooted out of the hall and read out of the ranks of organized labor.

To be sure, the delegates to this year's AFL conclave voted heavily against a sales tax. But more significantly, a number of recognized and responsible labor leaders spearheaded a furious battle to place the Federation on record as favoring the tax.

Amid the angry charges that officers of the Federation sandbagged and rigged the vote against a resolution favoring a sales tax, one thing stood out as unmistakably clear.

That was that more than 100 labor delegates recorded themselves in favor of a sales tax on a count that was made by opponents of the tax.

This means that the State Federation of Labor, which in 1957 played a major part in killing Governor Furecolo's sales tax bill, is split on the matter as the members of the Legislature get ready for a fight on the same issue in 1959.

It means, too, that spokesmen for the Federation would have to stretch things pretty far if they are going to claim next year, as they did in 1957 and again this year, that a vote for the sales tax was an anti-labor vote—unless they are prepared to declare also that their own leaders who favor a sales tax are anti-labor.

What effect the furious row within the Massachusetts Federation of Labor over the sales tax issue will have upon undecided legislators is uncertain. It demonstrated to them, however, that organized labor is by no means solidly opposed to the tax.

The two questions most frequently asked about

Governor Furecolo's second term and the 1959 legislative session is whether a State income tax withholding system and a sales tax bill will be adopted.

It seems virtually certain that a withholding law will be enacted early in the coming year.

At this stage any prediction as to the eventual outcome of the sales tax fight would be risky, although Governor Furecolo undoubtedly will be in a much stronger position in seeking the tax next year than he was in 1957.

While Furecolo in all probability will be able to line up a majority of the Democratic legislators behind his sales tax bill, he will have to count on some Republican support.

If the officials in financially hard-pressed cities and towns put on a concerted drive for a sales tax, many GOP lawmakers might find it difficult to resist the pressure that will be brought to bear on them.

Furecolo, on the other hand, may have to draft a sales tax bill that is acceptable to the GOP leadership in the House and Senate. The likelihood is that he will approach the State's financial problem in a more non-partisan manner this time than he did when he first assumed office.

Wild Scramble Underway For Sec. of State Post

The person who wins the fight that will be waged early in January for the right to serve as Secretary of State for the next two years may eventually find that the victory he or she gains is a hollow one.

State Treasurer John F. Kennedy, according to State House reports, will be a candidate for Secretary of State in 1960, and Kennedy has convinced just about everyone that he is a pretty formidable adversary in either a primary or an election.

Under the law a State Treasurer cannot serve more than three consecutive terms so that Kennedy will not be able to stand for reelection in 1960. He has made it plain, however, that he will run for some other office, and the position of Secretary of State now shapes up as a logical political target for him.

The prospect of facing Kennedy in the next State primary has not prevented a tremendous scramble and a rush of candidates eager and anxious to serve as Secretary of State in 1959 and 1960 and willing to take their chances in a State-wide election.

So many prominent public figures have moved or are moving into the contest that it is impossible to anticipate how the 280 votes in the two branches of the Legislature will be split up by the time the first ballot is taken.

One interesting aspect to the situation is that there is no Republican candidate for the office and apparently isn't going to be any. That could well mean that the GOP legislators, with 96 votes in the House and 16 in the Senate, could well control the balance of power in a strictly Democratic fight.

One fairly safe prediction which can be made about the contest now gathering momentum is that the person who emerges the winner from it in all probability will be either a present or a former member of the State Legislature.

Governor Furecolo or Senator Kennedy quite conceivably might be able to swing the election to someone with no legislative background, but with so many candidates seeking the office the likelihood is that both Furecolo and Kennedy will maintain a hands-off policy.

If the legislators are left to make their own decision, they unquestionably will pick someone who has served in either the House or the Senate.

That means that such well known contenders as Francis X. Ahearn, top assistant to the late Edward J. Cronin; former Governor's Councilor Endicott (Chub) Peabody and Mayor Thomas Costin of Lynn face an uphill struggle. They are not members of the "club," meaning that they have never served in either branch of the Legislature.

Candidates considered by legislators, who have been quizzed on the matter, to have the best chance are State Senator and Democratic National Committeewoman Elizabeth A. Stanton of Fitchburg, ex-Representative Joseph D. Ward of Fitchburg, Representative William F. Keenan of Dorchester and Representative Armand Tancrati of Springfield.

Should an extended deadlock develop, which is not improbable, the position might go to Representative John J. Toomey of Cambridge, if he is interested in it. Toomey is extremely popular with both Democrats and Republicans in the House. He is not presently a candidate for the office, but he is frequently mentioned as a possible compromise choice.

As matters now stand, Mrs. Stanton and ex-Representative Ward are formidable contenders but to some degree cut into each other's strength because they come from the same city.

Mrs. Stanton will go into the contest with the nearly solid support of her fellow Senators. She is handicapped, however, by the fact that the House has six times as much voting strength as the Senate, which makes it likely that the job will go to someone who either has served or is serving in the House.

If she shows sufficient strength as the fight develops, Ward might conceivably throw his support to her and then seek her seat in the State Senate if she becomes Secretary of State.

Representative Tancrati, a real darkhorse in the picture, has extensive backing among legislators from western Massachusetts. Representative Keenan figures in the contention because he was the runner-up to Cronin at the Democratic pre-primary convention last June.

Mayor Costin of Lynn is understood to have the support of some legislators from the North Shore, and Mayor Lawler of New Bedford will go into the balloting with the votes of a good many of the lawmakers from his area. It seems unlikely, however, that either Costin or Lawler can make enough headway to win.

With so many candidates bidding for the office and with the vote so widely split, it is obvious that the Legislature will be obliged to adopt a rule for the low man on each ballot or to set up some other provision to prevent a prolonged stalemate.

A curious twist to the situation is that most of the contenders for the position apparently are viewing the office as a possible springboard to higher public honors. There are no cases in modern political history to substantiate any such reasoning.

Newton Centre Woman's Club Meets Tomorrow

A Christmas story, accompanied by music, will be the feature of the regular monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club tomorrow (Friday) at the Clubhouse. The program, to be presented at three o'clock, highlights a story by C. Hassler Capron entitled "In the Stillness of the Night" with music by the Newtons.

The afternoon opens with a coffee and social hour at 1:30 in the recreation room with Mrs. Harold R. Keller and Mrs. Kurt Schorr as hostesses. They will be assisted by Mrs. Thomas H. Dunton and Mrs. Cornelia Moynihan.

Mrs. Amos E. Kent, president, will conduct the business meeting at 2:30 in the auditorium. Greeting members at the door will be Mrs. Charles J. Brooks and Mrs. Marcel D. Chartrand.

The clubhouse will be decorated by members of the Garden Committee who are holding their meeting the previous day, Thursday (today) at 10 in the morning.

The Club's annual Christmas Dessert Bridge will be held next Monday under the direction of the American Home Committee. Dessert will be served at 1:30 followed by bridge and canasta games. Prizes will be awarded the winner at each table. In accordance with a long standing custom, each member will bring a Christmas gift for a needy child. In charge of the bridge are Mrs. Frank J. Linehan, Mrs. Stanford D. Blitzer and Mrs. Oscar J. Wheeler. Reservations for the party may be arranged by calling Mrs. W. E. Miller, BF 4-8014 or Mrs. William R. Martineau, DE 2-4635.

Auburndale Man Guest Speaker

Hugh B. Huntley of Free-man street, Auburndale, supervising engineer for the Boston Loss Prevention Department of the Liberty Mutual Life Insurance Company, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Northeastern University chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers.

He has been employed by Liberty Mutual for 17 years and is a full member of the American Society of Safety Engineers.

Jr. High School Epilepsy Program

Dr. Mary Louise Scholl of the Massachusetts General Hospital will show a film and present a talk on epilepsy and the school child to the teachers at the Day Junior High School in Newtonville on Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

The program, arranged by the Epilepsy Information Center, will demonstrate to the teachers how the epileptic child can be successfully integrated into the regular classroom situation.

Dr. Scholl is a member of the Medical Advisory Committee of the Epilepsy Information Center and has considerable experience in treating children as well as adults with epilepsy.

Newton Student Seeks Answer To Science Mystery

Margaret Ann Hobbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hobbs, of 24 Duncklee street, Newton Highlands, a junior at Wheaton College, undertook a special, week-long biology project with six other girls recently.

Under the direction of Professor Lewis Kleinholtz, a research fellow at Harvard who visited Wheaton for the week, the girls tried to determine why Anolis, commonly known as "circus chameleons," change their color under certain circumstances.

The chameleons' changes from brown to green and back to brown according to their background may be due to several factors, and the girls investigated all the theories with methods ranging from a study of the animals' skin structure to surgery under a microscope. For Margaret, as well as for most of the other girls, it was a first opportunity to study a biological problem knowing that biologists are not absolutely certain of the answers.

Margaret is interested in other activities besides biology. She has been a member of the Wheaton orchestra, dance committee, and May Day committee.

A graduate of Newton High School, Margaret is a biology major and has kept up with her scientific interests during this past summer, when she worked in the laboratory at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Linda Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gray of 38 Waban street, a sophomore at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart, will appear tonight (Thursday) in the college's second Dramatic Club presentation this year. She is in the cast of a French version of the "Electra Story." It will be presented at 7:30 p.m. at the Newton College Playhouse.

Meet Your Visiting Nurse

The Newton Visiting Nurse Association is proud of its staff of highly trained public health nurses. The agency employs an all graduate nurse staff well qualified to provide skilled nursing care for the sick in the home on a part time basis.

One of these nurses is Miss Alma G. Pallotta who is in charge of the Well Baby Conference at the Stearns School on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. This is one of the largest conferences of the V. N. A. where children under two years of age may be brought for consultation under the guidance of an attending physician.

Miss Pallotta also makes follow-up visits to the home to assist mothers in understanding child growth and development. As part of the agency's program she gives bedside care and treatment in the home on the request of the patient's physician primarily.

Liebmans Lodge Meets Tuesday

The Joshua Loth Liebman Lodge and Chapter, B'nai B'rith, will hold their next regular meeting at Temple Emanuel Vesty on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Hovey Players, a drama group in their 23rd season, will present the "Broken Circle." The play is sponsored by the Family Service of America. It is a story of problems and solutions in marriage.

Guests for the evening will be members of the Chestnut Hill Lodge and Chapter, B'nai B'rith. Hostesses are Mrs. Irving Goodman, Mrs. Jack Cohen and Mrs. Irving Andler.

On Sunday night the Adult Jewish Education Group will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Blattel, 3 Whittlesley road, Newton Centre, at 7:45 to hear Ralph Feldman review "As A Driven Leaf."

MISS ALMA G. PALLOTTA to the residents of Nonantum and Newtonville.

Miss Pallotta, a graduate of Boston College School of Nursing, joined the staff of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association on June 30, 1958. Her excellent training and varied experience make her a valued member of the staff in promoting individual, family and community health in the City of Newton.

PTA Publication Is Now in Mails

The fall issue of "Shoptalk," a newspaper published by the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, is now in the mails. "Shoptalk" is sent to executive board members and committee chairmen of all Newton PTA's. It is a report of the news from the Council and from each PTA.

Editor of the publication is Mrs. George Sherman who is chairman of the Communications Committee of the Council.

Reporters are Mrs. Allan Bliss who gathers news from Weeks, Ward, Angier and Beethoven; Mrs. James B. Dealy, Jr. for Mason-Rice, Peirce, Warren, Burr-Murray Road, and Williams; Mrs. George Foley for Hyde, Cabot and Davis; Mrs. Bert Isenberg for Bowen, Oak Hill, Memorial and Countryside; Mrs. Edward Landy for Newton High School, Hamilton and Day; Mrs. Robert Levanthal for Spaulding, Carr, Lincoln-Eliot and Horace Mann; Mrs. George Sherman for Meadowbrook; and Mrs. Elliot Rosenberg for Emerson, Franklin and Clafin.

Pack 11 Cubs Meet on Friday

The next meeting of Pack 11 Cub Scouts will be held next Friday evening at 7:15 at the Underwood School. Parents of boys aged 8 to 10 are invited to bring their sons to the meeting when they may be registered as cubs.

Four new cubs were inducted as Bobcats in an Indian ceremony at the last Pack 11 meeting. They were Joe Nelson, Peter Jennings, John Flanagan and Donald Barisano. At the same time awards were presented to two other youngsters, Harry Perkins received his Bear badge and Charles Austin received a Wolf silver arrow.

The program was opened with the flag ceremony presented by Den 5 led by Webelo Lloyd Wentzell under the supervision of Den Mother Mrs. Clarissa Allen. Three skits followed with Den 3 giving "Ah, Thanksgiving" under the direction of Den Mother Mrs. Enid Layton. Den 5 staged "An Automobile" under the direction of Den Mother Mrs. Clarissa Allen. The final playlet, entitled "Jet Aircraft," was the offering of Den 4 which is led by Den Mother Mrs. Albertine St. Pierre.

A colored movie featuring a jet aircraft exhibition of Thunderbirds and the test firing of a ballistic missile concluded the pack meeting.

The following parents have been named to lead Pack 11 for the coming year. Pack Committee Chairman is John Gurry; Cubmaster, Charles S. Austin; Pack Committee Vice-Chairman, James Perkins; Pack Treasurer, Mrs. George Gray; Pack Communications Secretary, Mrs. John Carter; Assistant Cubmaster and Webelos Den Father, Ian Wentzell; Assistant Cubmaster in charge of recreation, Kenneth Yukes; Assistant Cubmaster in charge of awards, Elmer Kendall.

Den 2 has been newly organized with Mrs. Elizabeth Daly as Den Mother.

'SHOPPING AROUND WITH RITA'

Santa Claus is coming to town, and this year Mrs. Frank Fraine is hostess for our neighborhood annual Christmas party... "Believers" each have a chance to sit on his knee, sing, and present their "gift wish list" while parents snap pictures and beam with pride... Santa will come to your family, club or neighborhood party... call FA 5-2825.

Alan and Larry Chesarene and the other youngsters are having a wonderful time in the new Waban Furniture and Toy Shop. Young Arthur Mann was one of the little visitors, trying out a cute rocking chair... and Ed's pretty daughters, Margery Ann and Eunice are having a grand time showing off the dolls in Daddy's new store led by Den Mother Mrs. Albertine St. Pierre.

A colored movie featuring a jet aircraft exhibition of Thunderbirds and the test firing of a ballistic missile concluded the pack meeting.

Juvenile lamps, to name but a few.

The Waban Gift and Yarn Shop is another gay Christmas Store with a beautiful array of hostess gifts... Hummels... Bone China... and oh yes, the extra special Christmas cups and saucers, floral arrangements, table cloths, napkins and candles for handsome gift giving or for a pretty holiday table.

It is happy shopping time at Debby's Pet Land... with exciting pet gifts for pets... Aquariums and tank accessories... with hundreds and hundreds of exotic tropical fish.

Edward's Store in West Newton has toys, toys and more toys. Thrill your little cowboy with an official Winchester saddle gun... a real looking fencing set, or the stage coach set... the small fry would love the Giant Choo-Choo, and for laughs you couldn't beat "Little Orby."

Have you seen the "Philco Slender 17" at the Newton T. V. and Record Shop... You won't believe it, it is hardly any bigger than a brief case, and brings a perfect picture anywhere you go... what a wonderful gift for the family... See the wonderful selection of popular records and albums they are showing, too.

It's not too late (if you hurry) to visit Atwood's to order the special "Picture" Christmas Cards... Sending a picture of the family, with love, is the next best thing to a holiday visit, but you must hurry... and then... remember that the lovely scenic cards and Currier and Ives prints you will be receiving will be beautiful when framed... Save them and the Summer Frame Shop will show you wonderful ways to enjoy them for many years... Ask about the non-glare glass... and the perplexing to give them a rich "oil painting" look... At Summer Frame.

The magic year when dreams come true... with a Christmas watch. If this is the long awaited year, then by all means see the fine selection of Elgin and Hamilton watches at Grant's Jewelry Shop in Newton Centre... By the way... would you believe that they are now cleaning watches with super-sonic sound waves... Really, ask Carl Grant to show you.

When you are looking for Christmas Inspirations you should be at Allet's where gifts are "Just a bit different"... See the Priscilla Lowry miniature oil paintings... dramatic simulated wood carvings... English Toby Jugs... and gorgeous conversation pieces in China, Glass or ceramics...

Again I remind you to take advantage of the Pre-Holiday Permanent Special at Albert's Beauty Studio... I wouldn't want you to miss it...

And if you are shopping with a skier in mind... be sure to remember that charming French Ski Shop at 438 Stuart Street near Copley Square in Boston.

Something to think about... A pat on the back is guaranteed to knock a chip off the shoulder...

Our Lady's Chi Rho Club Names New Chairmen

New social, religious, cultural and athletic events chairmen have been named by Our Lady's Chi-Rho Club of Newton, and are now at work on a program of activities for the winter months and the year ahead.

Lorraine Cormier, social chairman, reports progress on plans for a dinner dance planned for the Colonial Country Club, Lynnfield; Margaret Rose Shea, chairman of religious activities, a junior at Regis College, is working on plans for a Day of Recollection for club members.

Dan Huck, a new member, has been appointed as chairman of cultural activities, and is working in conjunction with Joseph Fitzpatrick, club president, on a varied agenda of club events.

Ray Maillet, chairman of athletic events, is formulating plans for a baseball team for boys in the spring. Mr. Maillet is in charge of the bowling league, now in the midst of a successful season on the waxed lanes.

Square Dance At School Saturday

An evening of old fashioned square dancing has been planned for those attending the Spaulding PTA dance Saturday evening at 8 p.m. Hayd Swett and his band will provide the music for the square dancers at the Spaulding Gym.

As a change of pace, ball room dancing will also be on the evening's agenda. Free refreshments will be available and tickets may be purchased at the door or by calling DE 2-7931 or DE 2-8954.

Jewish Vets' Auxiliary To Meet Dec. 17

The Newton Ladies Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans will hold its next regular meeting on Wednesday, afternoon, December 17, at the home of Mrs. Harold B. Reines, 279 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill. Mrs. Benjamin Kaplan, president, will preside.

Final reports on the luncheon held last month as a fund-raising project will be given; future plans for hospital work and other activities will be discussed for the coming year. A dessert luncheon will be served before the meeting.

Anne Morrison Becomes Bride of M. C. Johnson

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 26th at Robinson Chapel, Boston University, Miss Anne Elizabeth Morrison became the bride of Marvin Clair Johnson.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Janice Morrison. The best man was Don Junkins. Harvey Morrison, the bride's brother, served as the usher.

The simple double ring ceremony was performed by the father of the groom, the Rev. Carl Johnson of California, who was assisted by the Rev. Travis Kendall, a close friend of the groom.

The bride, who is a graduate of Boston University, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Morrison of Washburn street, Newton. The groom is a graduate of Whittier College, California, and is at present studying in Boston.

Christmas Open House At Jackson Homestead

Christmas Open House at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington street Newton, an annual festive occasion, will be held Sunday afternoon, December 14th, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Features will include the old fashioned Christmas tree in the parlour, decorated by Mrs. Rex Wisner, Mrs. Hubert S. Dennie, and Mrs. John F. Jenkins of the Newton Highlands Garden Club; the exhibit of old-time wooden and metal implements and furnishings, from the private collection of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Stewart of Needham, who expect to be present that afternoon; the fragrant scent of greens, and flowers, arranged by Mrs. Ralph E. Keyes of Auburndale; the handsome pine cone wreath on the front door, made for the Homestead by Mrs. Orin E. Skinner of Newtonville; the Girl Scout hostesses in their hoop skirt dresses; the heirloom exhibit of silver salt spoons and Staffordshire figurines; the sound of Christmas music throughout the rooms; the refreshments, served in the old kitchen; and the fairy-like twinkle of candles in each window.

The group of hostesses on Miss Jane Wyman's Hospitality committee will be familiar names to anyone connected with the Newton schools. Headed by Mrs. Eric N. Denny and Mrs. Harold Howe, II, the list includes Mrs. James Dunlop, Mrs. Ella M. Gay, Miss Ephrosyne Georgas, Miss Elizabeth M. Paramino, Miss Katherine E. Tarrant, Mrs. June B. Zervas, and Mrs. Malcolm N. Jackson of the famous Jackson family. We hope to welcome Dr. Denny and Mr. Howe as special guests.

Everyone wishing to recapture the spirit of a real old-fashioned Christmas should plan to visit this historic old Homestead on Sunday afternoon.

Highlands Girl Receives Award As Top Student

Henrietta McKee, 1640 Center street, Newton Highlands, was presented a $100 Sears B. Condit Award at the annual Northeastern University Awards Convocation in Boston's Symphony Hall this noon (Thursday, December 11) for "outstanding scholarship and exemplary personal characteristics."

More than 2,700 students representing the five classes at Northeastern attended the Convocation.

Miss McKee, a senior in the College of Liberal Arts, is a member of the Liberal Arts honor society, The Academy. She is a member of the Silver Masque, student dramatic society, the Chorus, and the Modern Dance group.

She is also a member of the Husky Hi-Liters, a group that broadcasts student news in the University Commons, and the Northeastern News, student weekly publication. She is a Dean's List student.

Under the University's Cooperative Plan of Education she is employed by New England Deaconess Hospital as a laboratory technician. As a "co-op" student she alternates ten-week periods in the University with periods of equal length on a regular paying job in the hospital laboratory.

IN GLEE CLUB — Miss Arlene Sherter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Sherter, of Newton, is an alto on the Colby Junior College Glee Club which presented its annual concert last Saturday in New London. Miss Sherter prepared for Colby at Newton High School.

Cadet Harvey N. Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of 36 Newbrook circle, Newton, has been promoted to the rank of 1st Lt. in the AFROTC Group at Tufts University and has been named a flight commander.

Bank to Unveil "Everyman's Weather Station" Tomorrow

A new service, interesting, informative and of genuine importance, especially during the quickly changing winter season, will be unveiled tomorrow in the form of a weather station at the West Newton Co-operative Bank, located at 1308 Washington street, West Newton. It will be "everyman's own weather forecaster" with the station in operation.

Don Kent, radio and television weatherman, Loomis Patrick, president, Franklin K. Hoyt, vice president, Francis G. Chase, treasurer, and Gladys Pillon, assistant treasurer, will take part in the unveiling at 1 p.m.

The weather station, designed by Don Kent, will give passerby an instant 24-hour weather forecast, accurate and reliable, simply by reading the instruments on the panel. It will be illuminated for easy night reading.

Loomis Patrick, president of the bank, stated that the concern is pleased to provide this service. "Because everyone talks about the weather," President Patrick continued, "we feel that the weather station will prove interesting and helpful in planning activities. The average person can now make their own weather forecast, scientifically."

Red, green and amber lights will indicate whether the day will be fair, stormy or unsettled. The wind speed and direction indicator, called an anemometer, will show speed much in the manner of a speedometer on an automobile. Wind direction will be indicated by flashing lights.

A temperature sensing bulb, filled with mercury, is mounted ten feet above the sidewalk at the bank weather station. The temperature is read on a high quality instrument which, though indoors, show the outside temperature.

The recording barometer, called a barograph, traces the rise and fall of pressure on a chart. The revolving drum is moved by a 7-day clock so a permanent record is made.

In severe storms the weather station will reveal some big changes in pressure. Normally fast changes mean strong winds while a nearly straight line showing little up or down tendency means little change.

Don Kent will, on occasion, call the West Newton Co-operative Bank in extreme weather conditions and will use the information on his television weather show.

Back to School For Weeks PTA

The fall meeting of the Weeks PTA was held recently at the school in the form of a "Back to School" night. The meeting, which was attended by 900 parents, was opened by PTA president James Wynne. Wynne turned the program over to Donald Davidson, principal of Weeks Junior High School, and Miss Helena Glenn.

Davidson and Miss Glenn explained the curriculum changes at Weeks this year and outlined the program for the evening. The parents then attended a six period sample schedule of their own child's school day, with each period 15 minutes in length.

During each period, the parents heard their child's teacher give a resume of the content, methods and homework expectations for each course.

A special demonstration was given to seventh and eighth grade parents by the music departments on the modern methods which make wide use of recordings, musical scores projected on screens, and discussions of contemporary music, motion picture and TV background music, and symphony and opera in junior high classes.

The evening concluded with the social committee, composed of Mrs. Walter Muther and Mrs. Philip Levine, serving refreshments to the parents and teachers.

figures showed Gibbs a winner over Mella by a margin of 231 votes. The original count, immediately after election, gave Senator Gibbs a 96-vote margin over Mella.

In his notification to City Clerk Basbas, McGlue stated: "In conformity with the provisions of the General Laws of the Commonwealth and also the provisions of 134 of Chapter 54, thereof, I hereby serve notice upon you of our intention to contest the election of the Hon. Donald L. Gibbs of Newton, Republican, to the Massachusetts State Senate from the Middlesex and Suffolk District."

"Accordingly, I am requesting you to retain custody of all ballots used and unused, or spoiled, and all envelopes and applications of absentee voters. Also you are to retain custody of all ballot containers, envelopes, receipts, all voting lists as used and checked for voting purposes at the State election on Tuesday, Nov. 4, 1958, in your city, all ballots protested at the subsequent recount, if any; and in general, all paraphernalia and apparatus used in the conduct of said State election.

"Furthermore, these statutes require you to retain custody of the enumerated articles until this claim of contest or request is withdrawn or the contest for this office has been finally determined."

League of Women Voters Backs Afro-Asian Talk

More than 150 people heard nationalism and poverty described as part of the challenge to United States foreign policy in the non-western world at a meeting sponsored by the Newton League of Women Voters at the Pierce School in West Newton last Thursday night.

Nicholas Myary, executive director of the Boston World Affairs Council, Dr. Daniel F. McCall, assistant sociology professor of the Boston University African Studies Program, and Shanti Tangri, a visiting Fellow from India at the MIT Center for International Studies, participated in the panel discussion.

Myary stated that an important advantage of the United States in its relationship to the undeveloped and uncommitted areas in Asia and Africa is the flexibility of approach permitted by this nation's philosophy, as opposed to the rigid and dogmatic Soviet philosophy.

However, a major problem in formulating any policy toward these nations is the resentment felt against the West as a result of former colonialization, as well as the difficulty in being friendly without alienating our allies.

According to Dr. McCall, the problem of overpopulation in Africa is not as critical as it is in Asia. In Africa, there are many natural resources and open areas. Educational opportunities there have been provided for many years by missionaries, many of them from the United States. It is this educated group which has been in the forefront of the movement toward nationalism and self-determination.

Tangri said that it was necessary to seek an understanding of the peoples of Asia and Africa, but that when misunderstandings or disagreements arose, it was important to be able to disagree, as families do, "without getting a divorce." Even if a nation cannot be a friend, he went on to say, it need not be an enemy.

Freedom League
Membership Tea Held Wednesday

The Newton - Wellesley branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom held a membership tea Wednesday, December 3, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Kennedy, 14 Hundreds Circle, Wellesley Hills.

Miss Martha Burgess and Miss Constance Worthen described their experiences at the High School Institute held at Friendly Crossways, Harvard, Mass. These two girls were recipients of the WILPF scholarships to this institute sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee.

Miss Burgess and Miss Worthen found that the exchange of ideas between leaders and foreign and American students stimulated them to a wider world understanding. Miss Eric Lindemann, president of the Newton Wellesley branch, brought the historical background of WILPF to life for the members in reviewing the league's founding and growth in the dramatically changing years between World War I, and the present nuclear age. Mrs. Lindemann emphasized the courage of the women who responded to the calling of the international Congress in 1915, over which Jane Addams presided.

Resolutions formed by this group foreshadowed the work of President Wilson and the League of Nations. Today expression of these principles is in the WILPF's status as a consultative group to the United Nations.

New members and special guests of the branch were: Mrs. Edward Gulick, 741 Washington street, Wellesley; Mrs. Allan Eister, 8 Cottage street, Wellesley; Dr. Delphine Wyckoff, Wellesley College; Mrs. Joseph Auerbach, 40 Valley Spring road, Newton; Mrs. Arthur Korb, 63 Myerson lane, Newton; Mrs. Robert Colburn, 101 Hundreds road, Wellesley; and Mrs. Chesley Lancaster, 61 Plainfield street, Waban.

Babysitting Service To Aid Tribute

Susan Wasson died in a tragic automobile accident last summer. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wasson of 162 Hunnewell avenue in Newton, she was only 17 at the time of her death.

Susan had many friends, girls and boys she had known in junior high school, high school and college. They have not forgotten her, and they have chosen a singularly appropriate way to raise money for a memorial to her.

A babysitting service will be provided during the hectic days just before Christmas for parents who wish to be sure that their children are in safe hands while they get their last minute shopping done.

The service will be available at the Eliot Church in Newton at a nominal charge on Saturday, Dec. 20, Monday, Dec. 22, Tuesday, Dec. 23, and Wednesday, Dec. 24 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Transportation to and from the church will be provided.

The babysitting service is sponsored by the friends of Susan Wasson, and all contributions will be used to provide a fitting tribute to her memory. In addition to her school friends, several adults are volunteering their services.

Among those working will be Roddy Pratt, Ann Tullis, Ginger Tullis, Heidi Holloway, Sandi Douglas, Carol Douglas, Brenda Wasson, Bill Horn, Bob Masow, Phil Currier, Priscilla Newell, Pam Hoyt, Amy McAuliffe, Pamela Lovell, Diane Marquis and Judy Field.

Parents desiring to take advantage of the babysitting service are urged to call BI 4-3639. The service will be available at the Eliot Church of Newton, 474 Centre street.

Chanukah Party
By Hadassah
Next Wednesday

A Chanukah luncheon party with games and prizes will be given by the West Newton Hadassah next Wednesday, December 17 starting at 12:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Harry Rand, 109 Temple street, West Newton.

Mrs. Philip Coleman, Boston chairman of Youth Aliyah, will be the speaker and will discuss the progress of the organization. Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Benjamin Goralnick, Mrs. Melvin Goldston and Mrs. Alvin Sperber.

Richard E. Fox, son of Mr. Daniel Fox of 112 Exeter street, Newton, was recently pledged to the Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity at the University of Miami. A freshman, Fox is enrolled in the University of Miami School of Business Administration.

Temple Emanuel to Join Top Smith House Donors

Members of Temple Emanuel, 385 Ward Street, as a group have already contributed $690 toward the restoration of the Smith House, 1181 Centre Street, Newton Centre.

Rabbi Albert I. Gordon in presenting the contributions to the Smith House Society announced that sufficient additional contributions are assured to permanently enroll the Temple Emanuel as a founder on the tablet which is to be erected as part of the restoration of the author of the hymn "AMERICA."

This was disclosed at the December meeting of the Smith House Society just held at the Field House on Tyler terrace. In making the disclosure, Walter J. Kreske, president of the society, made reference to the provisions in the bylaws of the organization wherein any person or group contributing in excess of $1000 towards the restoration is permanently enrolled as a founder. He disclosed that Temple Emanuel would become the fourth to be so enrolled.

Mr. and Mrs. Kivvie Kaplan and an anonymous donor were among the first to be enrolled as founders. The Newton school children are the most recent group to become founders.

The meeting also disclosed that the Brookline Schools are now entering the campaign to save the Smith House. William A. Lincoln, a co-chairman in the drive, read a letter from Ernest R. Caverly, superintendent of Brookline schools, announcing the school committee's approval and plans for permitting Brookline school children to participate in the restoration drive.

Other events at the meeting included an expression by Dr. Ernest Siciliano, parochial school solicitation chairman, of appreciation for the fine cooperation of Bishop Eric F. McKenzie of Sacred Heart in Newton Centre, Reverend Walter J. Furlong of Our Lady's in Newton; Reverend Bernard S. O'Kane of St. Bernard's in West Newton and Reverend Sylvio W. Barrette of St. John's in Newton in this highly successful solicitation.

Mrs. Harold R. Keller reported on the completion of returns from Lassell Junior College and those from Mt. Ida and Fessenden still incomplete. It was also announced that William Jasset of 349 Washington street had offered to donate his services in printing appropriate certificates which the organization had voted to issue to contributors to the Smith House restoration. An artist's rendering of the certificate was presented by Mr. Wheaton Wilbur of Newton Centre and a graduate of the Massachusetts School of Art.

Dr. Frank A. Jasset of 80 Walnut street reported on having traced the original manuscript of the hymn "America" to the Houghton Library at Harvard University where it is now on display.

The next meeting of the group will be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, December 16 at the home of Mr. Charles P. Schiff, 34 Tyler terrace, Newton Centre. All persons interested in assisting the drive to save the historic house are urged to attend.

The following were named to Tenderfoot rank: Robert Kaplan, Eric Falkof, Steven Schuman, James Medalla, Ned Swartz, Roy Feldman, Arnold Goldstein, and David Jacobson. Second class badges went to Michael Marcus and Jerry Silverman; Scribe badge to Henry Goldman; Quartermaster badge to Michael Suvalle; Senior Patrol Leader badge to Richard Katz; and Assistant Junior Scout Masters badges to Gerald Angoff and Kenneth Weinberg.

Members of the Court of Honor were Morris Danovitch, Institutional Representative and Chairman of Advancement and Louis Weinberg, Neighborhood Scout Commissioner. Harold Falkof, Troop 25 Scoutmaster, was the presiding officer, and George O'Neil, Scoutmaster of Troop 13, was the invited guest.

The Angier School Exchange recently awarded its 1958-59 scholarship to Richard McCarthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarthy of 1081 Beacon street, Waban. McCarthy is now a student at Harvard.

The Exchange awards a scholarship every year to a deserving Waban boy. Any student interested in the 1959-60 scholarship may apply through the regular channels at the high school or apply directly to the Director of the Angier School Exchange, Mrs. Allen D. Bliss.

Christmas Music At North Church
The choir of the North Congregational Church at 23 Chapel street, Newton, will present a Candlelight Carol Service Sunday evening at 7:15. Miss Claude Hill, harpist, of Montreal, Canada, will be the featured soloist.

In addition to familiar carols, the program will include "Christ Was Born on Christmas Day," a German carol, and "Hasten Swiftly, Hasten Softly," a Slavic carol, and other selected music appropriate for the season.

Mrs. Edwin W. Folsom will direct the Chancel Choir and Mrs. Robert J. Moore will direct the Junior Choir. The organist is Percy Johnson. Selected readings relating to the Christmas story will be read by Rev. J. Donald Johnson and Miss Ruby Hunter.

Following the program there will be a reception given by the Women's Association. The public is invited.

Tigers Tackle Exeter After Upset Ice Win Over C.L.S.

Newton High's surprising hockey team travels to Exeter Academy Saturday to take on the prep school boys in the sole non-GBI League game on its schedule.

Fresh from a smashing 4-1 victory over defending State Champion Cambridge Latin, the Tigers will be out to prove the opening game win over the Cantabs wasn't one of those inexplicable things but rather a demonstration of inherent class.

A win or loss to Exeter won't make a great deal of difference in the team's plans for the season, since they'll be technically out of their own competitive plateau up in New Hampshire. However, the boys believe they can just about completely shatter all pre-season prognostications by taking Exeter into camp.

The win over Cambridge Latin was especially satisfying since it was attained only after the champs had sped away to a 1-goal lead in the first period and looked every bit the part of a powerful crown-holder.

Newton assumed control of the game after that score by Latin's Ron McGinnity at 7:17. About a minute later, the Tigers' defenseman Terry Reilly fired a centering pass from the boards which struck a milling mass of players near the goal and then rolled by Goalie Bob St. George.

There was some luck attached to the equalizing score but the Tigers went on from there to control both ends of the ice.

COLLEGE BENEFACTOR — Maurice Gordon, right, of 400 Waverly Avenue, Newton, who contributed $100,000 to Brandeis University, receives the appreciation of Abraham L. Sachar, president of Brandeis.

$100,000 Gift to Brandeis University from Local Man

Brandeis University has received a $100,000 gift from Maurice Gordon of 400 Waverly Avenue, Newton, according to an announcement by President Abram L. Sachar.

The contribution will be used to landscape and beautify the main women's quadrangle on the Waltham campus and Dr. Sachar said the main area will be known as the Maurice Gordon Quadrangle.

Mr. Gordon, a widely known Boston realtor and owner of the Sherry Biltmore Hotel in the Back Bay, said that he was "happy and privileged to make the gift to Brandeis University because this young institution has in the short ten years of its life brought pride and joy to the entire community."

"I feel gratified indeed," Mr. Gordon stated, "to share in some measure in the development of Brandeis University which has made a strong impact on the entire academic field by its high standards of education and research."

The Maurice Gordon Quadrangle is located on the central area of the 270 acre Brandeis University campus and covers nearly two acres of land. It includes housing, dining, laundry, recreation and study facilities for the 438 students residing in the dormitories.

Mr. Gordon, formerly on the board of the Boston Apartment House Association and a member of the Rental Housing Association, was educated at Wilmington High School, the New England Conservatory of Music and Suffolk Law School. Before becoming a realtor he was on the faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. He is a member of Temple Ohabei Shalom and its brotherhood and of Kehilath Israel.

Many Expected at HS Senior Supper

Newton High School will celebrate its official birthday party this Saturday night at the annual Senior Supper in the high school gymnasium. The supper will feature a huge five-layer birthday cake, 36 inches high and 26 inches wide.

The huge five-layer cake should be the highspot of the evening and will be sufficient to serve the 700 to 800 seniors who are expected to attend. The supper will give the Centennarians a choice of ham or turkey with all the trimmings and eleven flavors of ice cream for dessert. It will be served buffet style in the high school gymnasium.

Dudd Briggs, one of New England's best known square square callers, will lead square dancing after the meal.

The supper is being planned by the senior class committee. Working on the supper are Bill Doyle, president; Jerry Kenney, first vice-president; Fred Posner, second vice-president; Diane Fay, secretary; Marcia Kerr, treasurer; Judy Magner, catering committee; Kenny Lapin, entertainment committee; Fran White, decoration committee; and Sue Callahan, hospitality committee. The entire committee is advised by Miss Margaret South, senior class advisor.

mated that 300,000 persons in Massachusetts have some form of cardiovascular disease.

The Massachusetts Heart Association, sponsoring the campaign, conducts intensive programs of research, education and community service in cooperation with the American Heart Association.

Major medical advances have been made possible over the years through Massachusetts Heart Association research projects. Among them have been an artificial heart for use in surgery, the Pacemaker, which electrically stimulates stilled hearts to beat again; rheumatic fever prevention measures; and drug therapy to prevent clotting and to aid patients with high blood pressure.

Heart Sunday, climax of the annual drive, will be held from 12 to 3 p.m. on Feb. 15. Every home in the community will be visited to accept contributions toward the conquest of heart disease.

B.C. Educators Debate Tonight At PTA Meeting

Two distinguished educators will be featured at the meeting of the Memorial School PTA, in Oak Hill Park, at 8:15 o'clock tonight, Thursday.

The Rev. Charles Donovan, S.J., Dean of the Boston College School of Education, and Dr. Katherine Cotter, coordinator of the elementary program at the B. C. School of Education, will debate the topic, "The Curriculum Centered School versus the Child-Centered School." Rev. Donovan will uphold the "traditional" method, Dr. Cotter the "modern" approach.

Following the debate a question period will be held.

Oak Hill School Group Officers

The Oak Hill School PTA Executive Board met on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Perlman in Newton Centre, where the general discussion included program plans, fund raising activities and the "pressing need" for additional facilities at the school.

Committee reports were presented by various chairmen. Officers and Committee Chairmen of the group are as follows:

Alan Tichnor, president; Maurice Perlman, 1st vice president; Mrs. Edythe Clark, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Bernard Blank, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Ripley, recording secretary; Mrs. E. Lloyd Gilroy, corresponding secretary; Bertram Prombino, advisor; Sidney Shuman, health and safety; Dr. Irving A. Shaffer, program and Mrs. Samuel Toll and Mrs. Sumner Blustein, skating.

Also, Charles Schwartz, ways and means; Mrs. Sidney Lewis, publicity and editorial; Mrs. Lertram Prombino, library; Mrs. Leonard Sellinger, room mothers; Mrs. Gordon Bronson, luncheon; Mrs. Stanley Rudman, membership; Mrs. Morton Myerberg, Hal-loween; Mrs. Donald Cutler, hospitality; Lawrence Cohen, recreation and Cub Scouts; Mrs. Norman Krim and Maurice Perlman, PTA Council delegate, and Mrs. Herbert Freeman, delegate to Newton Community Council.

Featured as guests artists will be the Wheelock College Glee Club with Leo Collins, Hal-director. They will sing Brit-ten's Ceremony of Carols with a harpist accompanist.

Hamilton PTA Cub Pack 13 To Program News Meet on Friday

Program chairman Maurice Freedman announces that the December 18th P.T.A. meeting of the Hamilton School will be a panel discussion on "Should Foreign Languages Be Taught In the Elementary School?" moderated by Principal Ruth E. Chadwick.

The panel will include Dr. Bernard Everett of the division of instruction; Mrs. Alice Chambers, planner of the foreign language program at the Bowen School; Miss Marion Turner, Hamilton School teacher; and a member of the foreign languages department of a secondary school.

The panel discussion will be preceded by classroom visits, with the homeroom mothers, headed by Mrs. David Vigoda, in attendance.

During the evening an electric frying pan will be awarded under the supervision of the Ways and Means Committee chairman, Mr. Hugo Arcece.

The program will be followed by a short business meeting, presided over by President Ernest Blaustein.

Mrs. William Humink and her hospitality committee will serve refreshments.

On Friday morning, December 5th, a pillow concert, set up as a Concert-In-The-Round, was held at the Hamilton School for the children of all grades.

The Pro Art Woodwind Quintet played selections from the music of Hayden, Mozart, Mousorgsky and Tschalkowsky's Peter and The Wolf.

The novel idea of having a Concert-In-The-Round, with the children sitting on the Cub Scout Pack 13 of the Franklin School held its first meeting in the school play room, Derby street, West Newton. Cubmaster Donald W. Burke welcomed the new members who included Daniel Levin, Steven Oldsman, Bennett Shifman, Joseph Hurwitz, Joseph Smith, Dana Francis, Alan Govatos, Garry Miller, Jonathan Miller and Robert Merowitz. The next meeting will be held tomorrow (Friday).

Newton Girl Suit Is Settled for $18,500

A settlement for $18,500 was reached in Middlesex Superior Court in a $100,000 suit brought by Vincent Buckley, 19 Otis Park, Newtonville, on behalf of his 6-year-old daughter, Marilyn, against Mrs. Charlotte Chiten, 50 Pratt drive, West Newton.

The girl suffered fractured legs and a concussion when she was allegedly struck by an automobile operated by Mrs. Chiten. The plaintiff alleged that as result one of Marilyn's legs is a half inch shorter than the other and that she suffered brain damage.

Settlement of the suit was reached shortly before the case was due to go on trial.

The floor on pillows around the orchestra, was that of the principal, Miss Ruth E. Chadwick. Dr. Remley and the musicians were very pleased, feeling that they were able to reach the children most successfully this way.

VINCENT C. MORREALE, owner of the Mor Real Sewing Machine Company at 128 High street in Waltham, stands ready to greet new customers and welcome back the old ones who have discovered that Mor Real stands for the best in sewing machines.

MorReal Center Helps You Sew Like Expert

Have you been pining for a sewing machine for years and years, but just never seemed to accumulate enough money to buy one? Or are you fortunate enough to be able to purchase a machine but have never learned the ABC's of operating it?

Both these problems are easily resolved when you let the MorReal Sewing Machine Company located at 18 High street, Waltham, help you solve them. This popular sewing center has been serving residents of this area for the past nine years. Under the able and courteous direction of Vincent Morreale, the store is dedicated to giving its customers the highest quality product at prices they can afford.

Morreale carries the famous Necchi and Elma machines, as well as other popular brand name machines and small electric appliances, and is able to sell them at substantial discounts. Additionally, the store offers free service on all machines it sells for periods which far outlast that of other centers. There is a branch of MorReal in Framingham.

Morreale is also the factory-authorized center for sales, service and parts on these machines. Service is always cheerfully and efficiently rendered and is done with as much dispatch as is compatible with good workmanship. When MorReal sells or undertakes to service a machine, it does so earnestly and efficiently.

Morreale also offers free sewing lessons, given by an expert, to all those ambitious gals who purchase a machine here. Girls who have always bemoaned their inability to sew a straight seam find themselves running up blouses and even suits on their new machines with the aplomb of experts.

Morreale also sells second-hand machines, each of which is fully guaranteed. You'll like the products and service at this center open from 9 to 5:30 daily and until 9:30 Wednesdays and Fridays.

2 Lasell Girls Halt Blaze In School's Dorm

Two 18-year-old girl students of Lasell Junior College were credited by fire and police officials with making an excellent "stop" of a fire which might have swept through a dormitory in the college's Auburndale campus.

The heroines, both of whom landed in the Lasell infirmary for treatment for smoke inhalation, were Miss Marcia Hunt, a resident of Lasell's Gardner Hall, and Miss Anna Nasis of 25 Bowers street, Newtonville.

They were passing the dorm at 204 Woodland road, when they saw smoke coming from a window on the third floor. They ran into the building. Its only occupant was the maid, Joanne Chestnut. They called to her to telephone the fire department while they ran to the third floor.

Each girl found a fire extinguisher and each put the extinguisher to work right away. When the firefighters arrived in response to Miss Chestnut's call, they found the task of halting the fire comparatively easy.

Marcia and Anna, however, were taken from the scene to the infirmary. Smoke had nearly blinded them temporarily and they were much the worse off for some of the fumes and smoke they had inhaled.

Damage was set at $3500 but Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., and Captain Charles McCarthy of the State fire marshal's office, said that the fire could easily have spread through the entire building but for the fine work of the girls.

The dorm houses 38 students. All were in their classes when the fire was discovered. Damage was confined to a partition on the third floor and to smoke damage on both the third and second floors.

Chief Perkins and Captain McCarthy said the fire had been caused by careless smoking.

Benefit Supper Is Planned for College Of the Sacred Heart

A Christmas supper party for the benefit of the Chapel Fund of the Newton College of the Sacred Heart will be held Saturday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harold McKinney at Mt. Vernon park, Dedham.

The affair is being sponsored by the Janet Stuart Guild. A social hour will precede the seven o'clock buffet.

Chairman of the benefit is Mrs. Eugene McDonough who will be assisted by Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham, president of the Guild Committee members are: Mrs. Charles H. Powell, Mrs. William A.

Temple Emanuel Has Consecration Services Friday

A special consecration service will be held at Temple Emanuel on Friday night of next week at 8:15 for the beginners of the Aleph classes at the Hebrew School. Rabbi Albert I. Gordon will pronounce the benediction for the 216 children who will receive miniature scrolls of the Torah as a memento of the occasion.

Dr. Martin Goldstein, Educational Director of the Temple Hebrew School, will speak on "The Meaning of Consecration."

The service will be conducted by several students of Beth Aleph. They are: Janice Jacobson, Carl Shapiro, Hillel Korin, Richard Mushlin, Mark Cohen, Nancy Levco, Robert Carpenter, David Winer, Herbert Levine, Carol Shuman, Stephen Sekowitz, Marsha Salett, Judith Lechok and Rise Andler.

There will be separate Onegil Shabbat for the children and parents following the service.

Hadassah Group Meets Wednesday

The Oak Hill Group of Hadassah will meet on Wednesday at Meadowbrook Junior High School in Newton Centre at 8:15 p. m. Mrs. Louis Swartz will preside at the meeting, dedicated to Youth Aliyah.

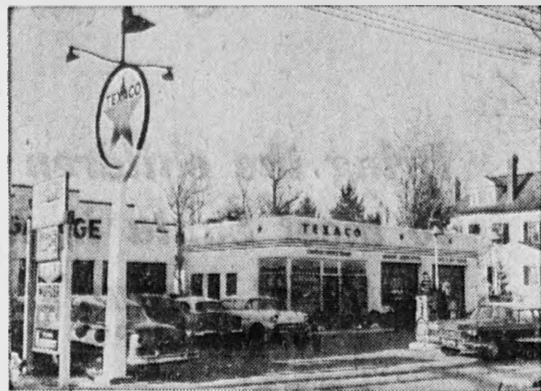

A candlelight ceremony honoring the 25th anniversary of Youth Aliyah will be held for all captains and members of Minyanim. Mrs. Victor Mitchell and Mrs. Edward Modest will furnish the musical background.

Hostess duties for the evening will be shared by Mrs. Henry Adelman, chairman of Youth Aliyah; Mrs. Charles Bloom, Mrs. Morris Brodie, Mrs. Irving Halperin, Mrs. Michael Kushner, Mrs. Donald Kussell and Mrs. Paul Smith.

Program Chairman Mrs. Hugh Stone has arranged to present Miss Mary Kadish, a monologist. Others taking an active part in the preparations for the meeting are Mrs. Morris Brodie, hospital-ity chairman; her co-chairman, Mrs. Ralph Glasser; and Mrs. Maurice Katz, Mrs. Ralph Snyder and Mrs. Seymour Stein.

Reilly; Mrs. Philip P. Stuart; Mrs. Joseph Barry; Mrs. Alexander Morgan; Mrs. Ernest F. Chute, Mrs. Thomas Kelly, Mrs. John McNamara, Mrs. John F. Welch, Mrs. James Whalen, Mrs. Charles F. MORE THAN A GAS STATION, the Highland Texaco Service at 1151 Walnut street in Newton Highlands accents the word "service." With a fully equipped garage and well trained mechanics, Highland Texaco is ready to assist you with your major, as well as your minor, motor problems.

Treat Car to Top Service At Highland Texaco Station

Tired of having your car snort and strain like a tired old work horse while failing to give you the maximum performance you have every right to expect from it? Perhaps your problem, dear sir, lies in your failure to have your vehicle serviced by a station which really knows what it is doing.

Solution to this vexing problem is a simple and pleasant one, for all you need do to treat your car to an overhaul at the Highland Texaco Service Station. Located at 1149 Walnut street, this popular station combines efficient and

No Fire Hazards In City Schools

Newton public schools are free from any fire hazards of consequence, according to a report submitted by fire department inspection teams who made a check of the schools on orders of Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.

Superintendent Eric N. Denard, who reported the findings to the School Committee Monday night, declared that Chief Perkins had made some recommendations concerning the opening and closing of doors and the scheduling of fire drills which will be followed.

top-quality service with courteous friendliness and ethical practices. Guiding the activities at Highland Texaco station is Charles Lindstrand, a gentleman with many years experience in the field of his choice. Mr. Lindstrand is determined to give his clients top-notch service and employs only skilled, trained mechanics in his garage. Whenever you bring a car into his station, you can rest assured all work will be done as excellently as is humanly possible. And no vehicle is permitted to leave the premises unless the personnel is satisfied it is in A-condition. Whether you have a general checkup, wheel alignment, fender or auto body work done, lubrication, sime-nize or wash, your auto will purr down the highway when it leaves this station.

You'll always find a cheery welcome and friendly greeting at Highland Texaco, and, of course, the gasoline dispensed here is of premium quality. You can also purchase your tires, batteries and other car accessories here. A free pick up and delivery service and an emergency road service are also on tap.

Station hours are from 8 a. m. to 5:30 daily in the garage (til noon on Saturdays) and from 7 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. daily in the station, with 9 to 11 hours on Sundays.

Frederick Allen Williams, a native of West Newton and a noted sculptor, died in New York at the age of 60.

His celebrated works featured for the most part Indian and Western themes. Shortly before his death, he presented his entire collection to the University of Texas.

His Indian work includes "Madonna of the Pueblos," and "Shrine of America" on which he labored 12 years.

Willard Welsh

Willard Welsh, brother of Homer L. Welsh, of 63 Hatfield road, West Newton, and a former resident of Needham, died at the Rutland (Vt.) Hospital after a long illness.

Besides his brother, he leaves his wife, Mary; a daughter, Wanda, and two foster children, Patty and Barbara Telford, all of Vermont.

George W. Long

Memorial services for George W. Long, 45, assistant editor of the National Geographic Magazine at Westmoreland Congregational Church, Washington, D.C. He was a former resident of Waban.

He was killed Nov. 9 on his first field assignment for the magazine when a flying boat crashed on a flight from Lisbon to Madeira, killing the 36 persons on board.

Mr. Long taught history and government at the Rivers Country Day School, Chestnut Hill, from 1936 to 1945. He had been associated with the National Geographic since 1945. Besides his wife, the former Carolyn Barney, he leaves three daughters, and a sister, Mrs. John P. O'Connor of Arlington, Vt.

Program Opens

morning has been designated the "Golden Jubilee Service" in honor of Rabbi Emeritus Herman H. Rubenovitz and Mrs. Rubenovitz. He is celebrating his fiftieth year in the rabbinate, all but two of them in the Mishkan Tefila pulpit.

Rabbi and Mrs. Rubenovitz will also be honored at a reception following the service, hosted by the Temple Brotherhood under the direction of President George Levy.

A major social event of the week-end will be a centennial ball Saturday evening, in the Social Hall.

The hall, arranged by the Temple Forum, will be a formal affair. Two orchestras will provide ballroom and South American dances. Also planned is special entertainment and a gift for each couple.

President of the Forum is Bertram Paley, Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Michaelson are co-chairmen of the ball.

Children of the Religious School will offer their contribution to the anniversary on Sunday morning.

TO PRESENT PAGEANT They will present a Chanukah pageant in costume, now in rehearsal under the direction of Leon Kramer, school principal; Dr. Abraham Goldman, chairman, school committee; Edith Kramer, and Jason Sacks, PTA president.

More than 250 Greater Boston clergymen, political figures and other community leaders have been invited to an open house Sunday afternoon.

Guided tours of the sanctuary, religious school and museum will be followed by refreshments in the library.

According to Morris Spellogel, chairman of the event, the entire community is invited to the open house.

Climax of the week-end will be a dinner in the Social Hall Sunday evening.

Some 600 guests will hear addresses by Rabbi Israel Kazis and Dr. Joseph J. Schwartz of New York. Dr. Schwartz is an international authority on refugee problems. In twelve years overseas he was responsible for the relief and welfare programs in more than thirty countries, which saw more than one million refugees resettled in Israel, the United States and other democratic countries.

With the approval of the United States War Refugee Board at the height of World War II, he negotiated successfully through neutral emissaries for the rescue of tens of thousands of Jews from Nazi Germany and occupied Europe. He will speak on "The Role of the Synagogue in Jewish Survival."

HEAD TABLE GUESTS

Temple Shalom Children on TV Sunday Morning

Children of the Religious School of Temple Shalom in Newton will be featured on the television show, "Our Believing World" Sunday morning on WBZ-TV.

They will present, "Freedom Hall," a play dedicated to the spirit of Chanukah, the festival of religious freedom.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, of Temple Shalom, will discuss the meaning of the festival with Dr. Richard V. McCann, narrator of the program.

Miss Ellen Greengross will chant the blessings and will kindle the Chanukah lights.

Alan B. Stout of Waban is one of nine ROTC cadets at Boston University who have been elected to an honor committee responsible for administering the unit's honor system which was inaugurated last year.

Norumbega Council To Hold Christmas Campfire Meeting

The traditional Christmas Campfire of the Norumbega Council of the Boy Scouts will be held Saturday, at the Legion Cabin, Nobscot Reservation in Framingham.

Scouts and their parents are invited to attend and participate in the singing and candlelight ceremony. Refreshments will be served.

This year the campfire is under the direction of Assistant District Commissioner John Crosby of Auburndale. George Shannon of Newton will conduct the candlelight ceremony.

Plans for Norumbega's Winter Camporee will be made at the North District Roundtable tonight (Thursday). Troop 73 of West Newton will be host for the meeting at the troop's room in the Second Church, West Newton.

All Scoutmasters, Assistant Scoutmasters and Troop Committee Members in North District are invited to the meeting to discuss new rules for the camporee.

At Police Ball

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and Police Chief Philip Purcell led a large group of city officials attending the annual ball of the Newton Police Benefit Association at Norumboga Park, Auburndale. More than 3000 were on hand for the event.

Modern dancing was held in the Totem Pole and old fashioned dancing in the Norumboga Room. An hour of vaudeville, with Paul Winch as master of ceremonies preceded the dancing.

Arrangements were in charge of Patrolman Manley J. Kiley, president of the Association; Patrolman J. Frank Lovely, secretary; Patrolman Martin W. Daley, treasurer; Patrolman John W. Murphy, assistant treasurer; Sergeant Robert F. Mahoney and Patrolmen Michael J. Kennedy, Raymond J. Sullivan and Thomas F. Ganley, directors.

Lasell Host To
Jr. Educators

Lasell Junior College was host school for the annual meeting of the New England Junior College Council at Auburndale.

Ordway Tead of Briarcliff Junior College was principal speaker. Delegates participated in 17 panel discussions.

Dr. Raymond C. Weiss, Lasell president, delivered the address of welcome at a luncheon at the Woodland Dining Hall on the Lasell campus.

Chong Hye Leo, concert pianist who attended Lasell on a trustee scholarship, presented a music program.

Skating Club Is In Progress

Newton youngsters are enjoying the skating program at the Newton Skating Club, which began its eighth year recently under the direction of Dr. Charles Brown, assistant to Eric Dendard, Superintendent of the Newton Schools.

The PTA Council sponsors the program with Mrs. Joseph Klarfeld heading a committee which includes Mrs. Loring Powell as treasurer, Mrs. Harold Rosenberg and Mrs. Milton Epstein as co-chairmen of transportation, Mrs. Charles Koopman, the Tuesday chairman, and Mrs. John Paul the Thursday chairman.

Among other details, this committee arranges the bus transportation of 8000 or so children and the selling of tickets by the individual PTA's to these children and to the some 2000 more who go in private cars.

There is an advisory board composed of Robert C. Jackson, the representative of the elementary school principals; Frank Simons, Warren L. Huston, and Miss Helen Brelvogel, representatives from the Physical Education Department of the Newton Schools; Mrs. Vincent Hamerstein of the PTA Council and Mrs. George Herlihy, a past chairman of the Skating Program.

The children skate from 1:20 p.m. either Tuesday or Thursday afternoon during the winter months. The first to third graders have their own roped-off rink where they can skate if accompanied by a chaperone. Warren Huston will be in charge during the skating hour, assisted by two young men from Tufts.

Drugist Association
Names New President

The Newton Drugist Association at their December meeting held in the Newton City Hall elected Charles Rudnik as new president.

Other officers named were: John Alvord, Hahn Drug Co. secretary; and Samuel Gerson, Hudson Drug Co. treasurer. Retiring officers were: Tony Polon, Newtondale Pharmacy; Carl Alvord, Hahn Drug Co.; and Wilfred Chagnon, Hubbard Drug Co.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., honored the meeting by appearing to congratulate the drugists of Newton.

Saturday Show

The Cub Scouts of Pack 23 in Newton Lower Falls are sponsoring a movie for the neighborhood children this Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Hamilton School. Refreshments will be available and the parent-supervised program will feature a full-length film and a short subject.

Kathleen M. Grady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Grady of 138 Middlesex rd., Newton, a senior at Emmanuel College, is chairman of a committee which is sponsoring an evening at the Ice Capades Jan. 6. Proceeds will go toward the building of a new Notre Dame Novitiate.

Health Director
Recorded 21 Dog
Bites Last Month

Dog bites continued to hold the lead in the monthly Communicable Diseases report made by Newton's Director of Public Health Harry T. Phillips.

During November, his latest report shows, there were 21 dog bites reported in the city as compared to 13 in the same month a year ago.

Sharp decreases were recorded for chicken pox and the mumps for last month as compared with November, 1957. The report was as follows:

Chicken pox	4	28
Mumps	10	25
Measles	6	0
German Measles	2	0
Pulmonary Tuberculosis	0	2
Dog Bites	21	13

In All-Star Game

Three Newton High boys were starters for the Greater Boston All-Stars in their game with the South Shore All-Stars at Gordon Field, Brandeis University.

Assigned to opening kick-off roles were Pete Thompson at right halfback; Don LaTona at center; and Joe Impeduglia at right guard. In addition, Coach Bud Hawkes of Newton served with Joe Zeno of Waltham and Eddie Burns of Arlington on the coaching board of the Greater Boston game.

The Newton boys acquitted themselves well but the South Shore Stars carried too many guns in the first period and got a couple of quick TDs to go on to win, 20-8.

As far as the game's aftermath was concerned there was general disappointment, not in the outcome but in the apparent loss by Arlington High School of its star hockey goalie, Tommy Apprille. Tommy, a brilliant footballer, suffered a broken leg while making a tackle.

His loss is expected to hurt very seriously Arlington's chances of achieving top laurels in the GBI ice loop.

Mrs. Paul Myerson
To Head Conclave

Mrs. Paul G. Myerson of 25 Larch road, Waban, chairman of the Massachusetts chapter of the Americans for Democratic Action, will preside at the 12th annual convention of the organization to be held Sunday at the Hotel Commander in Cambridge.

Theme of the convention will be "What's right and what's wrong with party politics in Massachusetts?" This problem will be discussed by a panel of elected and committee officials of both parties, with Professor Arnold M. Soloway of 21 Kewadin road, Waban, presiding.

Newton Art Display
Next Thursday Night

The well known art teachers will pass judgment on the paintings of the members of the Newton Art Association at their meeting of Thursday of next week at the Newtonville Library. At that time members will submit their work for criticism by Miss Helen Cleaves, former director of art in the Boston schools, and Fred Thompson, teacher at the Massachusetts School of Art.

Following the meeting there will be a Christmas party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Russell, 333 Walnut street.

The last meeting of the group was held on December 4 when Loren Coleman, a Boston artist and teacher, gave a demonstration on oil painting.

Reym Brotherhood
Chanukah Party For Children on Sunday

The brotherhood of Temple Reym will sponsor a Chanukah party for children from 2 to 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon (Dec. 14) at the Country Side School on Dedham street in Newton Highlands.

Frank Luther, noted TV children's entertainer, will head a program that will also be a gala afternoon for the youngsters. Admission is free, and each child will be given a bag of goodies.

Planned Student Night

Dr. John L. Onclay, 28 Grove Hill park, Newtonville, assisted in arranging for the "Student Night" program of the Northeast Section of the American Chemical Society to be held tonight (Thursday) at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is program chairman for the Northeastern Section and a professor of biology chemistry at Harvard Medical School.

Kathleen M. Grady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Grady of 138 Middlesex rd., Newton, a senior at Emmanuel College, is chairman of a committee which is sponsoring an evening at the Ice Capades Jan. 6. Proceeds will go toward the building of a new Notre Dame Novitiate.

COME THE RAINS by John Fury, Critic

Either dry wastes or torrid rains: the Fine Arts Association of Boston, a non-profit group, is issuing what is expected to be a best selling novel, a significant volume of poems and two records of importance to the world of art—and the rest of the world as well.

1) Wildlove in Boston, a history of the arts concert, a novel based on the factual history of the arts concert leading to the Boston Arts Concert of April 3, 1959 at Symphony Hall. Although this book is sure to be banned in Boston, it gives a keyhole peeper's view of the artists, singers, and writers world in this atomic age. Truly of importance.

2) Fire in the Wind, LP record, more than a collectors item. This record contains the voice of Elisabeth Jane Wheeler, America's most inspiring classical singer, accompanied by what sounds like over a hundred fine musicians and singers, and listed as nearly that number on the jacket. Miss Wheeler's voice, insatiable desire to create in artists and poets. Her tones have inspired directly more paintings and poetry than any other singer.

On the reverse New England's wonder poet reads some of his work to a background of classical music, many instruments and a vast chorus producing strange and ethereal effects. Totally, this record is fine music, excellent poetry, and above new sounds, beautiful sounds.

3) Excerpts from Wildlove, poems by Robert L. Peters, a slim beautiful volume, containing poetry from the record and from the novel.

4) A 45 record, Selections from Fire in the Wind, a sample of the LP.

5) The Boston Arts Concert. In which Miss Wheeler will sing the title role of Bizet's Carmen. The grand opera will be presented in the fashion of the Met, but with reduced scenery. While nothing interferes with the purity of the music, a modern and a traditional painter, on stage in full view, creates paintings from the inspiration of the music. A poet composes a poem from the images of the spontaneous paintings and the emotional power of the music. The Boston Arts Concert will be presented by the Boston Fine Arts Association at Symphony Hall, Boston, April 3, 1959.

TECH. HIGH HAS STRONGER SQUAD

Newton Technical High School's basketball team this season will include three experienced seniors in the starting lineup, as seven members of last year's late starting team return to action. The veterans include guards Capt. George Hall, Clint Cornback, John O'Leary and Wayne Barphormas, forwards Tom Holland and Ed Bradley, and center Ronnie Lawrence.

Hall, O'Leary, Holland and a newcomer, Jack Bedigian, are the only four seniors on the team and all four will be in the starting lineup according to coach Bob Malone. Lawrence was the big gun last year, averaging 15 points a game, and he is expected to be the team's mainstay again this season.

Last year the team finished with a 20-5 six win, seven loss record, but all six of the victories were scored in the last seven games. Lacking experience, last year's squad went on the boards without a single senior. Malone is hoping for a better season, if only because his players are

Impressive Ceremony At Temple Dedication

At the recent dedicatory exercises of Temple Reyim, of Newton, a unique ceremony took place when the principal speaker, Rabbi Herman Kieval, of Albany, N.Y., also installed his brother, Rabbi Philip Kieval, as the new spiritual leader of the Temple.

Impressive dedicatory exercises were held in the main sanctuary which was filled to capacity.

By LEE LOUMOS

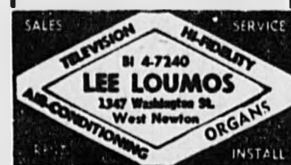

NBC Television has a new play-back network that is no play-back. The $1,500,000 installation in the Burbank, Calif., studio consists of a series of video magnetic tape recorders. These are all controlled by a "Cable Board" which turns the recorders on, tells them when to record, when to stop, when to rewind and when to retransmit.

Compared with that, the ordinary TV receiver is child's play... but please don't take us literally. Your TV set is still a highly complex instrument that calls for training and experience when repairs are needed. This is a good place to draw the line on your do-it-yourself activities!

Another important factor in accurate TV service is careful testing with dependable modern equipment. This eliminates guesswork... the sort of guesswork that can leave a set only "half-fixed," or even lead to replacing a part that doesn't need replacing. Top-quality test equipment, combined with technical know-how, eliminates those hours of wasted time trying to discover the trouble spot... saves you money, time and temper. Yes, competent service by an experienced technician is definitely your "best buy."

You're assured of expert workmanship whenever you put your TV set in our hands... and that same trustworthiness means that your best buy in a new set is the one you select from our display. For complete satisfaction in TV sales and service, you can depend on LEE LOUMOS.

And so, we invite you to come in and ask for a demonstration of a Thomas Electronic Organ. Can you think of a gift for the whole family this Christmas that would give more lasting enjoyment?

Awards Presented To Pack 5 Cubs

Cub Scouts of Pack Five in Newton enjoyed games in the gym of the Bowen School at a recent meeting, while their parents watched a film in the auditorium on the "Blue & Gold," a history of the Cub Scout movement.

Harold Luck, assistant cubmaster, directed the body of the meeting which included a skit by Den 11 about Logan Airport and exhibits by the various dens on the "See and Do It" theme.

Inducted as Bobcats were Martin Leventhol, David Burman, Ronald Leach, Robert Saltsberg and Bruce Toffas. Advancement awards were given to the following cubs:

Boys' Club Aces Beat St. Mark's

The Junior All Stars of the Newton Boys' Club defeated St. Mark's Social Center in an interclub basketball game last Saturday at the local gym by a score of 33 to 20, with co-captains Daniel Pini and Thomas Proia leading the scoring for the Boys' Club with eight and seven points respectively.

Scoring was as follows: Boys' Club (33): Daniel Pini, 8; Thomas Proia, 7; Vincent Li Poma, 2; Joseph Schipani, 6; David Biggieri, 6; Barry Newcomb, 0; William Wellford, 2; Wayne Mitchell, 2; Bob Connerney, Chris Mazzola and Ralph Secord, 0. St. Mark's Social Center (20): Curley, 1; Boone D., 4; Lamar, 6; Boone B., 0; Dennis, 4; and Breaks, 5.

Scholarship To Aid Child Study

The Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children this week announced the creation of the Edward E. Allen Scholarship and Research Fund for award to students pursuing studies in the field of mental retardation.

Alvin B. Allen of Newton, the late Mr. Allen's brother, acted as chairman at the dinner honoring the memory of the former board member and chairman of the campaign advisory committee of the Association.

Announcement of the establishment of the fund in the amount of $5,000 was made by Michael Lourie, president of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children.

The scholarship fund will provide aid to deserving high school or college students pursuing courses or doing field work in one of the areas of study concerned with problems of mentally retarded children. Students taking courses in such areas as social work, special education, psychology, recreation for the handicapped and basic educational and psychological research will be considered for scholarship assistance under the fund.

President Lourie announced that a special board to screen applications and administer the fund will soon be appointed.

Brandy Is Taken In Local Break

A bottle of brandy was the net result of one burglary and another attempted break, according to police reports. William Riseberg of 3 Rangeley road, West Newton, reported the theft of the liquor from his home, which was ransacked.

An attempted break at the office building located at 1357 Washington street, West Newton, was reported to police by Mrs. Helen Griffin, secretary for the Kenmore Realty Company. Patrolman Joseph N. Devoy reported that "jimmy" marks were found on the door.

Start Winter Drive Against Night Parking

A drive against all-night parking on Newton streets has been launched by police under the direction of Chief Philip Purcell.

The purpose of the campaign is to get automobiles off the highways so that they will not hamper or prevent snow plowing operations in the event that Newton should be struck by a sudden storm.

The ban on all-night parking will remain in effect for the duration of the winter.

Warning notices now are being placed by police on the windshields of automobiles which are parked for more than an hour between 2 a.m. and 4 a.m.

Car-owners who disregard the courtesy notices will face court prosecution and will have their vehicles towed away unless they make arrangements to get the machines off the street.

The warnings, signed by Chief Purcell and Street Commissioner Frank K. Perkins, read as follows:

"The registration of this motor vehicle has been recorded for violation of the City Ordinance, Sec. 11.53, which forbids parking for longer than one hour between 2 a.m. and 4 a.m."

Powers Counsels Moderation In First Democratic Senate

Senator John E. Powers, who will welcome the president of the first Democratic-controlled State Senate in Massachusetts history, when it convenes early next month, is giving a pretty striking demonstration of why he is considered one of the soundest politicians in either party on Beacon Hill.

Powers has made it crystal clear that as far as he is concerned there will be no abuse of the political power which will come into Democratic hands at the start of the 1959 legislative session.

He is planning no purge of the Republican-appointed attaches of the State Senate so that their places may be filled by deserving Democrats. Career employees of the Senate, some of whom actually expected to lose their jobs, will not be the victim of any spoils system while Powers is guiding the affairs of the body.

Republican solons will be named to the chairmanships of some Senate committees and will be treated at least as fairly as the Democrats were treated when the GOP had control of the Senate.

Senator Donald L. Gibbs of Newton, whose reelection is being contested in a fight which will be carried to the floor of the Senate has been promised a square deal by Powers.

Gibbs will be allowed to assume his seat in the Senate and to perform his senatorial duties while a special Senate committee conducts a recount of the votes cast in Gibbs' fight with John F. Melia of Brighton.

From what Powers has said Republican leaders are satisfied that Gibbs will not be railroaded out of office and that if the recount shows he is entitled to keep his seat he will be allowed to do so.

Powers has expressed the belief that the Democratic party should move slowly and exercise carefully the broad power which the voters gave it in the November election.

He has told other party leaders that there should be no attempt at political reprisals against groups which were aligned against Democratic candidates in the recent campaign.

Some persons who have heard and read with surprise the statements made by Powers since the Nov. 4 Democratic landslide have wondered whether he actually meant what he said.

They are people who really don't know John E. Powers.

500 To Attend First Achievement Meeting

The first annual Achievement Dinner, sponsored by the Newton Chamber of Commerce, will be held on Tuesday evening, January 20, 1959, at the Commonwealth Country Club. Chamber President Dwight Colburn made the announcement of the important event today.

A nationally known speaker, to be announced later, will address the meeting which will be a membership function and the first of its kind to be held by the local organization.

President Colburn and Executive Director Justin T. Horan emphasize that the purpose of the affair is to acquaint all members of the Chamber, their wives and associates, with the achievements of the Newton Chamber of Commerce during its 1958 reorganizational year.

Another highlight of the event will be the installation of new officers and directors.

President Colburn stated that a special invitation will be extended to the wives of members to attend as this is the only full membership meeting which the Newton Chamber holds during the year.

Executive Director Horan is completing plans for the most successful meeting in Newton Chamber history. All members have been notified of the affair and have been informed that invitations and tickets will be in the mail shortly.

Director Horan also reminded all those interested in attending this important civic event to contact the Chamber of Commerce office, 1171 Washington street.

Board of Aldermen Okays Recreation Land Purchase

The Newton Board of Aldermen Monday night approved the purchase of seven and a half acres of land adjoining the Albemarle Playground in Newtonville for "recreation purposes" at a cost of $35,659.20.

In approving the request of the Recreation Commission that the city purchase the property of the late Gladys A. Lebert and May U. Avery on Crafts street, the Board also appropriated $1,500 to pay the taxes on the property for 1958.

The land will be under the jurisdiction of the Recreation Commission.

A provision attached to the sale of the property is that about two and a half acres of the property be maintained by the city as a woodland recreation area in memory of the Avery family. No commitments were made by the city in regard to maintenance of the large house at 348 Crafts street, included in the purchase.

According to chairman Earle D. Wood of the Finance Committee, no immediate development of the land is planned. In reporting that city planning consultant Charles Downe recommended the acquisition

Mrs. Thresher Makes Sure GOP Has Candidate

In the event the Democratic-controlled Legislature splits badly in attempting to choose a Secretary of State to succeed the late Edward J. Cronin, the Republicans will have a professed candidate of their own—Representative Irene K. Thresher of Newton.

Mrs. Thresher announced her candidacy at a meeting of the Massachusetts Women's Republican Club in Boston.

She frankly told members of the committee that her chances will be slim if the Democrats concentrate on a member of their own party but sees a good chance for a Republican slipping into the post if the majority party finds itself dead-locked and the Republicans can command a degree of unanimity.

Marion Boch of Norwood, who lost to Secretary Cronin in the November election, stepped aside for Mrs. Thresher to make the bid—just in case.

Cronin's successor will be chosen in a joint session of the Legislature.

Mayor Whitmore Fights Move To Cut B & A Train Service

Stops at Newton Corner Would Be Discontinued

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., will spearhead a fight before the State Public Utilities Commission for the rejection of a petition by the Boston & Albany railroad which seeks to wipe out train service between Newton Corner and South Station in Boston.

A resolution offering vigorous objection to the proposal was unanimously adopted by the members of the Board of Aldermen at their meeting Monday night. The measure was introduced by Alderman Theodore Mann.

A spokesman for the Public Utilities Commission told the Graphic yesterday that the hearing on the matter will not be held until late in January or early February.

He declared that no date for the hearing has yet been fixed but explained that when it is set time must be allowed so that notices of the hearing can be posted for 30 days in the railroad stations which the B&A is seeking to close down.

Approximately 700 Newton residents who now use the B&A trains operating between Newton Corner and the South Station to get to and from downtown Boston would be forced to find other means of commuter transportation if the petition is approved by the Public Utilities Commission.

A large portion of them have depended on the trains for years. Many, at the moment, at least, can count on no other available means of transportation.

Immediately after the petition had been filed, Mayor Whitmore and his advisors began a study of the proposals. They did not attack the problem solely from the standpoint of its effect on Newton residents. They knew that more protestations of the deleterious effect the abandonment of the services would have on a large number of Newton residents would not be enough.

The Mayor recognizes that the railroad cannot be compelled to go on indefinitely losing large sums of money on its operations. He does not believe, however, that such is the case. Neither do the patrons of the line who often have been obliged to stand in the aisles when all of the seats were occupied.

When informed of the latest petition by the New York Central Railroad, which owns the B & A, Mayor Whitmore said the granting of the petition would pose a terrific problem.

Stuart Spaulding Resigns from Aldermanic Post

Alderman Stuart M. Spaulding resigned from his municipal post at Monday night's meeting of the Aldermanic Board.

Spaulding explained that his action was necessitated by the transfer of his business to Webster. He has represented Ward 2 in the Board of Aldermen for the past five years.

Aldermanic President Wendell R. Bauckman designated Aldermen Winslow C. Auryansen and William J. Robinson as a two-member committee to nominate a successor to Spaulding.

Six Injured In Accidents

The spectacular plunge of an automobile through a guard rail into Albermarle Brook in Newtonville Monday night which left two persons injured was only one of a series of motor mishaps which injured four other persons in Newton over the weekend.

A face injury was suffered by William H. McGinness, Jr., of 164 Middlesex avenue, Medford, when his car went out of control.

Thief Gets Loot On Second Visit

On a return visit to the home of George Fontaine, 68 Old Field road, Oak Hill, a thief carried away two radios, a $400 fox stole, a watch and a quantity of Christmas presents.

The thief is believed to be the same man who was standing at the door of the house at 5 a. m. on a previous morning. He awakened the family and apparently realizing he had done so, disappeared in a black sedan, parked nearby.

Entrance was gained, while the house was unoccupied on the second visit, by cutting a screen on the kitchen porch.

Aldermen Approve Creation Of City Housing Authority

By a vote of 13 to 4 the Board of Aldermen on Monday night approved a recommendation by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., for the creation of a Newton Housing Authority which would erect housing accommodations for elderly persons in needy circumstances.

The Mayor's proposal was first advanced last April and has been held up while a study was being made to ascertain whether there is a shortage of housing for the elderly.

A lively debate occurred at the Aldermanic session before the city fathers finally gave their assent to the creation of the new municipal agency.

City Seeks To Qualify For Grant

Data is now being assembled by Superintendent of Schools Eric N. Dennard to determine whether Newton's public school system is eligible for federal assistance.

Newton could qualify for a substantial grant from the national government if it is found that parents of 3 per cent of the city's public school pupils are employed on federal property.

Parents are being asked to fill in the answers on questionnaires taken home to them by their sons and daughters.

Some doubt has been expressed that Newton could meet the 3 per cent requirement to obtain federal aid, but Superintendent Dennard is un-

Boy Resists Kidnap Try

An out of state motorist is being sought by police after an apparent attempt to kidnap a 13-year-old West Newton boy Tuesday. The boy was on his way to Warren Junior High School when the incident took place.

Police said that the boy was offered a ride by the man and, when the youngster refused, the driver grabbed him and attempted to force him into the car. The boy was released when a mail man came on the scene, but he lost his school books in the scuffle.

The unknown motorist was described as being about 30 years of age, wearing a soft gray hat. Police said they believe he was driving a 1952 Ford or Chevrolet automobile, bearing a white registration plate with black numbers.

Blaze Causes $3500 Loss

Damage estimated at $3500 was caused at the home of James Nagy, 128 Avalon road, Waban, when an overheated boiler started a blaze in firewood in the cellar.

The fire worked its way through the floor to the living room of the house. It was discovered by Mrs. Nagy when she returned home from a shopping trip.

Aldermen Grant Florist Request

The Newton Board of Aldermen approved one of two requests by Robert B. Seltzer for permission to expand his florist's store at 11 Florence street in Newton Centre. The board granted permission to expand the storeroom at the end of the building, but turned down a request to erect a greenhouse at the front of the existing building on the grounds that a variance is required and that the Board does not have the authority to grant it.

New Officers Are Elected At Newton National Bank

Charles E. Smith, of Newton, has been elected vice-president and trust officer of the Newton National Bank, and Albert W. Tocci, of Needham, its cashier, according to an announcement from Louis G. LeBlanc, president of the bank.

Mr. Smith, who resides at 32 Richardson street, Newton, has been associated with the bank since 1946 when he joined the staff for the purpose of opening the Newtonville office.

He is a graduate of the Newton schools and Harvard College and Law School.

Mr. Tocci, resides with his wife and three children at 293 Brookline street, Needham. He graduated from the Needham schools and has taken special courses in banking at Boston University, American Institute of Banking, and Rutgers Graduate School of Banking.

He has had long experience in the banking field and has been associated with other banks and with the National Bank Examiners. Mr. Tocci joined the staff of the Newton National Bank in 1954 and was instrumental in establishing the Watertown office.

President LeBlanc also announced that the directors had voted to pay a dividend of 25 cents plus and extra dividend of 35 cents on January 2, 1959, to shareholders of record December 10, 1958.

Scout Calendars Christmas Gifts

According to an item received from the Newton Girl Scout Council, Newtonites in search of last minute Christmas gifts should consider the large pictorial Girl Scout calendar.

Individually wrapped in mailing envelopes, the calendars are colorfully printed and have space at each date for appointment memos. They may be obtained at the Newton Girl Scout office, located at 6 Hartford street in Newton Highlands.

1959 Auto Plate Deadline's Near

If the holiday pressure of others matters have been obliging you to put off that little matter of getting your 1959 automobile plates, you'd better stop procrastinating very soon.

If you don't one of two things will happen: (A) You'll find yourself tied up in a long, slowly-moving line of other last-minute folk; or, (B) you won't be able to drive your car beyond the limits of your own driveway after midnight tolls on New Year's Eve.

Motor Vehicles Registrar Clement A. Riley is as anxious as you are to avoid those punishing last-minute rushes. He points out that applications for '59 plates will not only be accepted at the Boston office of the Registry but over the counters of its 32 branch offices elsewhere in the State.

Repairer Burned Working on Car

Edward Giovannelli, 19, 37 Overbrook drive, Wellesley, suffered burns of the hand when fire broke out in an automobile on which he was working at the filling station on Route 128, Auburndale.

Engine 5 and 6, Ladder 1 and Assistant Chief John L. Martin responded to the alarm. The car was owned by Charles A. Kimball, of 58 Village avenue, Dedham.

The escrows combine to wipe out the passenger revenue and to bring a "grave depletion of all revenue funds," it told the P.U.C.

The road complained further that it "cannot continue to compete against paralleling systems of mass transportation by maintaining schedules and services" which were established back in the days when the road enjoyed a practical monopoly in the field.

The petition blames the automobile—"personal transportation"—as one of the prime reasons for its decline in patronage.

It claimed that in 1920 the entire B & A system served 10 million riders between Boston and Albany. In 1930 patronage had dropped to 7.5 million and in 1957 to 2,730,000.

It declared the 70 percent loss since 1920 made economy proposals mandatory, "not only in Massachusetts, but throughout the entire railroad system."

Among those who would be hit by the dropping of the 10 trains would be students and faculty members of Boston University, who make use of University Station, once known as Cottage Farm.

City Housing-- (Continued from Page 1)

Support of a housing program for elderly citizens also was expressed by Alderman Carleton P. Merrill who asserted that Newton's senior citizens are looking to their city government for assistance and that Mayor Whitmore's plan was a practical and realistic approach to the problem.

Alderman Warren A. Sutherland joined in supporting the measure, declaring that the need for an elderly housing program is apparent and that there is no justification for any delay in launching it.

Sutherland said that a housing development constructed in Waltham provides excellent living quarters for men and women in the twilight of their lives who need a helping hand. Alderman Harry H. Ham also called for the passage of the measure.

Opposition to the Mayor's proposal was led by Alderman W. Hardy Prentice who pointed out that no federal funds are available for such purposes. He argued against using State funds to finance housing for the elderly in view of the present financial predicament of the Commonwealth.

Prentice further maintained that many elderly persons would not accept the regimentation which would go with living in a housing project.

Alderman Earle D. Wood described the Mayor's recommendation as a "sympathetic gesture" to the elderly, asserting that it would be possible to take care of only a small percentage of the persons who would be eligible for such housing.

Wood said that many of the senior citizens in needy circumstances are now receiving old age assistance and that this would be an added subsidy for them.

Alderman Ripley said that of 140 persons on Newton's old age assistance rolls only 180 are adequately housed.

Prentice replied that Newton had handled the veterans' housing problem better than any other city in the nation and maintained that the problem of the elderly should be met in a similar manner.

Alderman William M. Powers contended that the creation of the housing authority would be merely "lip service" to the elderly.

Those who voted in favor of the Mayor's measure were Aldermen Charles H. Cosgrove, Melvin M. Dangel, Franklin N. Flaschner, Ham, Theodore D. Mann, Merrill, Rich, Ripley, William J. Robinson, Sharf, Sutherland, Edwin A. Terkelson and Wendell R. Bauckman.

Recorded against it were Aldermen William P. Nixon, Powers, Prentice and Wood.

Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., executive director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, in commenting on the action of the Aldermen, said: "The Housing Authority unquestionably will be a social benefit to a number of citizens via the multi-family housing route. Now we trust that the city will go forward as we have urged with a definitive land use program emphasizing the encouragement of private capital investment on Newton land for the economic benefit of the city as a whole."

Mayor Whitmore in his letter to the Aldermen urging action on his proposal said:

"We have received recently from the Executive Director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association communications requesting your Honorable Board to postpone acceptance of legislation required for the establishment of a Housing Authority in the City until some time toward the middle of next year.

"In my opinion, while some of his remote thoughts about the land use pattern in Newton now and in the future, multi-family housing and Newton's future economic health may have some merit, theoretically, I believe he has failed to recognize and to discuss the basic issue of my recommendation for a Newton Housing Authority, which was and is for the sole purpose of providing housing for the elderly of low incomes. The need has been definitely established and it must be admitted by all that private funds cannot provide such housing. I am not promoting or advocating any other type of public housing and a Newton Housing Authority cannot go into such housing on its own. "The establishment of a Housing Authority is in no way detrimental to or directly related to the extraneous matters which the Executive Director discusses. They simply confuse the basic issue before you at this time with the hope that you will not take action on the recommendation now or in the future.

"I do hope that in your wisdom you will approve my recommendation so that the City may assist many of its fine elderly citizens who have contributed so much to the City. Such action will cost the City relatively little in comparison with benefits to be derived.

"Whatever your decision may be, I trust it will be based upon the merits of the issue at hand and not upon extraneous theoretical material and that you will reach a decision in the near future so that, if favorable, we may expedite the program of housing for the elderly of low income."

Heart-Warming Action

Both Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and State Public Works Commissioner Anthony N. DiNatale deserve a special word of commendation for their efforts to save the home of an 85-year-old blind woman which was scheduled to be torn down to make way for the construction of an interchange at Route 128 in Newton Lower Falls.

Mayor Whitmore and Commissioner DiNatale are busy executives. One heads the government of a city of 90,000 people and keeps it perhaps the best run municipality in Massachusetts. The other directs the varied and far-flung activities of the State Public Works Department.

It is a heart-warming thing that neither of the two men is too busy to take time out to help an elderly and sightless woman, to whom the loss of the rooms in her home which are familiar to her touch would be a catastrophe.

Mayor Whitmore made a vigorous endeavor to prevent the demolition of any homes in connection with the Route 128 interchange. He submitted several plans to the State Public Works Department which would have avoided the taking of any dwellings whatever.

Public works engineers, however, declared the Mayor's plans would not achieve the desired purpose and rejected the major features of them.

Having lost his main fight, Mayor Whitmore then undertook to save one house, that in which the 85-year-old blind woman resides, urging that the public works department either skirt the home or move it to a new location.

At that point Commissioner DiNatale stepped into the picture. He assigned an engineer to survey the situation and report back to him, at the same time ordering that the home of the sightless woman either be avoided or shifted to another site at State expense.

Exactly what will finally be done has not yet been determined. Thanks, however, to the efforts of Mayor Whitmore and Commissioner DiNatale a woman, who must depend on the sense of touch, will not be forced to face the difficult task of adjusting herself to new surroundings at the age of 85.

The effort by Mayor Whitmore and the response of Commissioner DiNatale for someone in less fortunate circumstances were reassuring actions which reflected the true spirit of the Yuletide season.

Political Highlights

Powers. One thing about Powers is that he means precisely what he says and does exactly what he says he will do.

Even the most partisan Republicans, with whom Powers engaged in one clash after another in his capacity as Democratic Senate leader, agree that Powers' pledge is tantamount to a political gift-edge security.

Powers is known on Beacon Hill to friend and foe alike as a public leader who keeps his word even under the most awkward and embarrassing circumstances.

A few years ago, a Republican Senator approached Powers during a meeting of the Senate, declared that he would be unavoidably absent from the session the following day and asked Powers if he would pair him on the bills that would be voted upon. Powers agreed that he would.

One of the bills acted upon the following day was a measure which Powers had sponsored and for which he had waged an especially vigorous fight. It was up for a critical vote.

When the rollcall was taken, Powers discovered to his surprise and consternation that if he paired himself with the absent Republican Senator, thereby in effect nullifying his own vote, it would create a deadlock and defeat his bill.

Powers was confronted with the choice of keeping his word with the GOP solon and killing a measure for which he had fought long and hard, or breaking his word and achieving the passage of his bill.

As far as Powers was concerned there was no choice and no decision to make. As he saw it, he had only one course open to him. After announcing that he would never allow himself to be put in such a predicament again, he paired himself with the absent Republican Senator, and his bill went down the drain.

Political observers, who recall instances such as that, have no doubt that when Powers promises fair treatment for the Republicans it means that they'll get fair treatment.

Although Powers is an unwavering, down-the-line Democrat, he's actually much more of a political moderate than casual onlookers are likely to realize.

He never has taken lightly the responsibility which went with any office or public post he has held. As he prepares to assume a position for which he has been aiming for years, that of President of the State Senate, he is demonstrating an acute realization of his own responsibility.

Democratic Split in South Makes Kennedy Party Hope

One of the most glittering pieces of political good fortune from which U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy has benefited probably was fashioned when the tide suddenly turned at the 1956 Democratic national convention in Chicago, and he lost the Vice Presidential nomination at a time that it was almost within his grasp.

It is extremely doubtful that Kennedy would be in nearly as strong a position as he is today to bid for his party's Presidential endorsement if he had been chosen as the running mate to team with Adlai Stevenson in '56.

What would have happened if Kennedy instead of Estes Kefauver had been on the Democratic ticket with Stevenson in the last Presidential election?

Kennedy might well have been able to push into the Democratic column Massachusetts and possibly two or three other States that President Eisenhower carried.

But like still would have been able to win with plenty of electoral votes to spare, and a little of the political sheen and glamor would have been rubbed off Kennedy in the process, just as it was removed from Kefauver.

Instead of being the shining hope of the Democratic party, as he is today, Kennedy would be a Senator who went down to defeat along with Stevenson in 1956.

All that is pointed up by the polls which show that Kennedy stands now as the nation's strongest vote-getter and most popular figure in either political party and that if an election were held at the present time he would defeat anyone the Republicans could match against him.

What is most significant about the results of the surveys that have been made to determine the comparative strength of the potential candidates for the presidency on both sides of the political fence is the appeal Kennedy is shown to have for independent voters who control the balance of power across the nation, just as they do here in Massachusetts.

Only Adlai Stevenson stands up with Kennedy in the polls that have been made of the Democratic voters. There is substantial doubt that Stevenson, a two-time loser, desires to make a third run for the Presidency, or that the 1960 Democratic national convention would give him the nomination if he did want it.

While there is a tendency in some political quarters to anticipate the election of a Democratic President as a foregone conclusion in 1960, rumblings from Washington and from the South indicate very clearly that the Democrats are going to be faced with both a difficult problem in '60 and the necessity of putting up the strongest candidate they can find.

Politicians who have talked with Democratic leaders in the South report that there is not much doubt but that a Dixiecrat Presidential ticket, campaigning on the issue of segregation, will be seeking the electoral votes of the Southern States in 1960.

They go further and assert that in all probability Governor Faubus of Arkansas will be the Presidential candidate of the segregationists.

That is not a happy prospect for Democratic politicians to contemplate. The cold fact of the matter is that Faubus probably could carry such states as Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina and perhaps even Virginia.

Faubus quite conceivably might get enough electoral votes to throw the Presidential election into the national House of Representatives—unless the Democratic or Republican party produces a candidate strong enough to win election without the votes of the States in the deep South.

The only Democratic prospect in sight who would have any real chance of being able to do that is Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

DiNatale's Proposal on MDC Would Result in Big Saving

The proposal by State Public Works Commissioner Anthony N. DiNatale that his department take over the road-building work now performed by the Metropolitan District Commission is so sound and logical that it would be absurd if the Legislature does not adopt it.

A fight over the move is certain because some of the MDC officials will make a determined effort to retain the power and authority they now possess to spend several million dollars a year on highway construction projects.

The trouble is, of course, that it costs the people of Greater Boston about $1 million more to have the MDC do the work than it would if the same highways were built by the State Public Works Department which can obtain federal assistance while the MDC cannot.

At a time when the State is confronted with the necessity of collecting some $60 million in additional taxes a responsibility rests upon both the Governor and the Legislature to eliminate wasteful and inefficient practices.

Commissioner DiNatale has pointed out how the Commonwealth can save something like a million dollars a year. Those legislators who fail to carry out his idea will have to be prepared to explain why this situation could not be corrected.

Zone Bd. to Rule On Tennis Lights, Podiatrist Office

The Zoning Board of Appeals will hold public hearings next Tuesday night on appeals taken from denials of permits by the Building Department on six positions. The petitions include one which calls for permission to install outdoor lighting at a tennis court in West Newton and one which seeks the establishment of a podiatrist's office in Oak Hill.

The hearings will get under way at 7:45 p. m. at City Hall. Thomas J. White, 85 Bigelow road, West Newton, seeks to have the board overrule a decision of Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell who turned down a request which would permit White to install lights for his outdoor tennis court. The residence is in Residence "A" Zone.

Dr. Earl L. Cherniak of Broadway, South Boston, is requesting favorable action on a request to establish a podiatry office at 90 Hartmann road, Oak Hill.

The other four petitions seek variances for the construction of new dwellings and are brought by William R. Mattson, 28 Brookdale road, Newtonville; Edward Hockbridge, 77 Windsor road, Waban, Wilfred E. Holsberg, 11 Lorraine circle, Waban, and Marion Overstrom, 1146 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls.

Newton Doctor Wages War Of Words To Save Shrine

A local chiropractor who has long felt that America's historical treasures should be preserved has thrown his support behind the campaign to save the Newton home of Rev. Samuel Francis Smith, the author of "America."

Dr. Frank A. Jasset of 80 Walnut Park, Newton, has joined a growing list of persons who are actively waging a battle to save the home, located at 1181 Centre street. The movement began to steamroller after an article calling attention to the plight of the local historical site appeared in the Newton Graphic.

Dr. Jasset, who played an active part in saving the Concord Bridge, the frigate "Constellation," and several other historic landmarks, subscribes to the theory that the pen is the mightiest instrument of all. He has written a comprehensive article dealing with the question of the Smith House entitled "The Cradle of America is Decaying."

The Newton crusader comments on "America" as "a rich gem of poetry," and says that the song was literally born while Rev. Smith lived in Newton in 1842. Dr. Jasset feels that another great American composer, Francis Scott Key, would say, "Oh say can you see" that the Smith House "is fast decaying to be scattered and mingled with the common elements."

Pointing out that contributions of pennies saved "Old Ironsides," Dr. Jasset's article comments:

"Surely there must be interest and opportunity for generous giving, now and during a time of peace with the greatest prosperity this nation has ever known to save the cradle of 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'"

His essay, which points out that "America" was claimed as the national anthem for almost 100 years, describes the life history of Rev. Smith and the history of the well known home. He writes:

"It is deplorable and shameful to allow this house to deteriorate. How can the good people living nearby in fine modern houses pass this historic structure and not feel pity in their hearts and minds, while this treasure and time-honored shrine slowly sinks to ruin and decay, while the world knows and says that the sons of America are the most considerate, unselfish and most generous to our native and foreign ones. . . ."

In answer to the question, "what is fame," one of Rev. Smith's colleagues said, "to write a hymn that sixty million people would sing." Since that time, many more millions have sung the stirring words and it is to be expected that generations yet unborn will raise their voices in the song that was written in Newton.

But unless public support saves the home of "America's" author, children now entering school may never have the opportunity to visit the rambling old house. Dr.

Firemen Cite Hub Vote In New Bid For Raise

A new plea for a pay raise for Newton firefighters has been placed before the Board of Aldermen by a committee representing the Newton Firemen's Association salary adjustment committee.

The request is contained in a brochure drawn up by the committee and sent to each member of the Aldermanic board.

It directs the Aldermen's attention to the recent action of the Boston electorate in passing a referendum granting Boston firefighters a raise and contends that members of the Newton fire department are currently paid $300 or more under the wage schedule in effect in surrounding communities.

Members of the committee are Chairman Daniel J. McCarthy, Jr., Thomas Kelly, Joseph Fitzsimmons and Louis Collella.

The brochure contains four pages. It declares, "The salary of the Newton firefighter has not kept abreast of the ever-rising cost of living." It seeks an opportunity for the committee to discuss the question with the Aldermen.

The committee points out that the new 1959 schedule for the Boston fire department will give firefighters of that city $5500. Brookline firemen are paid $4928.

"We respectfully ask and suggest that you consider us in the same light as the people of Boston considered their firefighters," reads the appeal,

"by granting us equal salary with that paid by our border city Boston."

The committee declares that Newton covers the largest area in square miles of all communities in this area.

"There is no fundamental distinction between a Newton firefighter and an employee in private industry except the fact that a firefighter's job is in most cases more hazardous," says the committee.

It argues that there are "well established standards which labor, industry and government employ daily in reaching agreements on salary adjustments."

"Unfortunately," it continues, "the past and present histories of salary adjustments for members of the Newton fire department reveal a complete lack of understanding of these standards of salary determination."

It is further claimed that Newton firefighters are $300 or more below the average, not to mention any fringe benefits enjoyed by members of other surrounding fire departments.

Loot Valued At 13,544 Taken in Newton Burglary

A break last month in the home of Gabriel H. Stern, 35 Bothfield road, Newton, resulted in the loss of $13,500 in property, a compilation of the thefts of the burglary now shows.

The thieves carried 137 articles from the home. Included in the loot were hundreds of dollars worth of silverware, wearing apparel, jewelry, a clock, a radio, snow tires, luggage, sports equipment, a $695 fur coat and a $235 television set.

Copies of the list of missing articles have been distributed to the police and second hand dealers in nearby communities.

ROTC Promotions

Three Newton students at Boston College have been advanced in rank by the college's ROTC program. They are Terrence M. MacDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Milton MacDonald of 7 Regina terrace, Auburndale; Ernest W. Ferneau, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Ferneau of 95 Crescent street, Auburndale; and Joseph E. Gilligan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Gilligan of 68 Lindberg avenue, Newton. All were named cadet 2nd lieutenants.

Meet Your Visiting Nurse

"Good Morning, are you ready for me?" This is Jean O'Leary's cheery greeting as she comes to give an elderly patient in Waban his daily treatment. Her kindly understanding and her skillful nursing makes her doubly welcome in any home — whether she comes to give bedside care to the sick or to give health guidance to mothers who take their babies to the Well Baby Conferences.

Miss O'Leary came to the staff of The Newton Visiting Nurse Association on September 1, 1958. She is a graduate of the Massachusetts General Hospital and received her Bachelor of Science degree at the Boston College School of Nursing. One of her current off duty interests is the study of astronomy.

Miss O'Leary may be found the second Thursday of every week at the Hyde School in Newton Highlands. Here she is in charge of the Well Baby Conference, helping the physician examine babies, administering salt or triple vaccine, or giving encouragement and advice to mothers so that babies may become healthy and well adjusted.

We are sure that residents of Waban and Newton Highlands will join in welcoming Miss O'Leary to the

Country Players Annual Show Aids Cancer Fight

The cast and production personnel of Arthur Miller's "A View From the Bridge" have been announced by the Country Players of Newton. The play, directed by Myron Michals, will be presented at the Spaulding School on Brookline street on January 23 and 24 at 8:30 p.m. Proceeds go for cancer research.

Mr. Michals who directed the Country Players for the past three years is well known in amateur theatrical circles. His latest production, "My Three Angels," was a smash hit when given here last spring.

"A View From the Bridge" is a two-act drama. It is a fast moving and powerful play which has enjoyed huge success both on Broadway and on tour.

Taking important roles in the production will be Ira Gerler, Marlene Lebow, Tim McInerney, Betty Thorne, Dave Snyder, Ted Jacobs, Henry Green, Harold Feldman, Martin Simmons, George M. Levy, Norman Leader, Richard Myerson, Lila Goldstein and Ronald Wilson.

The production cast includes: Dottie Cadiff, assistant director; Barbara Levy, technical director; George Levy, set design; Shary Michals and Herb Leyton, lighting; Elaine Steigle, Grace Leader, Dorothy Fishman, Bernice Leader, Rose Linsky and Helene Berkeley complete the crew.

Business staff for the production is headed by Ronald Wilson, of Newton Highlands, assisted by Glenna Snyder.

Richard Myerson, president of the Country Players, has announced that proceeds from both performances will be donated to "Aid for Cancer Research," an organization of

Yule Program Featured Meeting At Auburndale

A Christmas program featured the December meeting of the Auburndale Women's Club. Mrs. Joseph B. Rockett was chairman, and accompanied for the music and club chorus. She was assisted by Mrs. William F. Atwood as co-chairman, director and conductor.

The program featured the "Christmas Story" with Lorina LeBaron as narrator. Other participants included Ruth Draper, Margaret Vaccaro, Virginia Wellock and the chorus whose members included:

Mrs. Charles S. Butler, Mrs. James Cardell, Mrs. LeRoy Faulkner, Mrs. George M. Hansen, Mrs. Neal D. Herrick, Mrs. Randall Dean, Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron, Mrs. Walter B. Morehouse, Mrs. William P. Noonan, Mrs. John B. G. Palen, Mrs. Robert M. Pitman, Mrs. Stanley M. Rowland, Mrs. Gregory J. Samoylenko, Mrs. Herbert L. Stevens, Mrs. Oratio E. Vaccaro and Mrs. William D. Wellock.

The chorus has been invited to sing at the Newtonville Woman's Club, Congregational Church, Auburndale; Stone Institute, Newton Upper Falls; and the Baptist Home, Chestnut Hill.

The decorations were arranged by Mrs. Allard M. Valentine, hostess, who used cloths of red and gold thread, a bouquet of white poinsettia, red carnations and antique Russian candlesticks.

Programs were designed and printed by Mrs. Richard F. Cleveland.

Mrs. Eugene Meyers, wife of the minister of the Congregational Church of Auburndale, women which aids in the support of all phases of cancer research.

Car With 'Dead' Motor Responds Nicely for Thief

Mrs. Lillian Sussman's 1952 two-tone sedan was parked in front of her home at 67 Judith road, Newton Centre, silent and foreboding. She'd tried to start it. Nothing happened. Its motor appeared dead. No sympathetic togetherness existed between that engine and its starter.

A few hours later Mrs. Sussman looked out the window to cast a glance at her non-cooperative car. It was gone. What it wouldn't do for Mrs. Sussman, it apparently did willingly for a thief who came along Judith road, stepped behind the steering wheel and drove away with it.

Several Newton Residents Display Work in Art Show

Several Newton area residents have work represented in the holiday season exhibition of the Boston YWCA classes in fine and applied arts.

The exhibition opened Sunday and included paintings, ceramics, photographs, sculptures and woven articles. It will close Dec. 31.

Those who have work in the exhibits include Mrs. Garfield Drew, 44 Hancock avenue, Newton Centre; Mrs. Rose Fox, 71 Wyoming road, Newtonville; and Mrs. A. H. Hegnauer, 71 Walnut Hill road, Newton Highlands; Mrs. N. Hovey, 45 Perkins street, West Newton; Miss Virginia P. Kent, 42 Waterston road, Newton; Mrs. Martin Myerson, 30 Village circle, Newton Centre; Miss Priscilla Ordway, 111 Gibbs street, Newton Centre; Mrs. Louis M. Peters, 37 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville.

Also, Mrs. Samuel Seigel, 87 Grey Cliff road, Newton; Mrs. E. Stone, 242 Homer street, Newton Centre; Miss M. Louise Walworth, 100 Homar street, Newton Centre; Mrs. Helen Ward, 119 Wood End road, Newton Highlands.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS . . . Last Saturday night found about 600 seniors enjoying themselves in Building Three's gymnasium. This was the first occasion for seniors only to get together and the group enjoyed the annual senior supper. An innovation was the catered dinner, special for the Century Class. Entertainment was furnished by the students themselves who followed the caller and square-danced all evening.

Participating in the Northeastern District of Massachusetts Music Program at Lexington High School were 500 students from 71 schools. Carol Bean, June Massicot, Maryann Schiavone, Genya Currens, Barbara Huston, Marcia Kerr, Robert Clinton, Steve Kaufman, John Sawyer, John Derr, Michael Harper, and Joseph O'Donnell represented Newton High in the chorus.

Newton High's members of the orchestra were Stephen Custer, Edward Fineberg, Payson Little, John Merrill, Sally Morrison, Elizabeth Slidenberg, and Eugene Schwaab. Martha Kuhns, Barbara Yeo, and Mary Auryansen participated in the band for Newton High. The event was held on Saturday, December 6.

Seniors who are in Curriculum IIIB and have 55 or more credits are this year being allowed to work in the afternoon after attending morning classes if they so desire. The participants in this plan must have a job that is steady; approved by Mrs. Huss, the director of the program and Mr. Mitchell, the head of the Placement Office; and is helping them to acquire some skill. Nineteen of the 38 seniors in this curriculum are participating in this new plan.

Larry Yeo, president of the Student Legislature, has been selected by Mr. Rogers to represent Newton High School at the Massachusetts Student Government Day. From the 400 participating students a governor, president of the senate, and all of the other state officers will be chosen by picking names out of a bowl. The drawing will take place in January while the actual date for the event is March 13.

The thirteen semi-finalists of the National Merit Scholarship Program recently took their final aptitude test for this honor. Mary Auryansen, Robert Baker, Fred Jarrett, Stephen Landy, Louis Shapiro, Arthur Tennenbaum, Linda Jane Rubin, Brooke Kruger, Marshall Levine, Thomas Martin, Gerald Rogell, Lee Siegel, and Kay Sternfeld are also being judged on their high school grades, leadership, school citizenship, and extracurricular activities in addition to their scores on the tests.

At the recent legislature meeting, Mr. Rogers explained to the students about the new dishwashing system that will be in use in the cafeteria after the Christmas vacation. The machine is in a tiled room that has receiving windows facing two opposite exits. Students enter the receiving lines with their garbage, papers, and all still on the tray. They may deposit everything at one time at the receiving windows. This eliminates the necessity of separating any garbage as it is all done by the machine. It also lessens the number of barrels that have to be placed around the cafeteria. There will still be a few, though, for those students who bring their lunches and do not use lunch trays.

The soiled dishes are cleaned by overhead sprays which first rinse them, then thoroughly pelt them with 140-degree water containing detergent, and then rinse them with 180-degree water. The machine dries the dishes, also. Human beings still have to load the dishes and machines on to the tray, but the majority of work will be alleviated. Also, the dishes will be thoroughly sanitized.

The only problem that the administration foresees is that students will slow down after they have left their trays at the receiving stations. This will slow down the operation and start congestion in the cafeteria. The congregating in the aisles of the cafeteria will have to stop for the program to work efficiently. There are enough seats for everyone at all lunches and all students are being requested to remain seated during the majority of the lunch period.

Barbara Williams, Betty Anderson, and Mary Auryansen were the three Newton High students who were selected as representatives to the New England Regional Conference of Girl Scouts held last month at the Statler-Hilton Hotel. The conference lasted three days and included social functions and several discussion sessions.

Linda Rubin and John Derr received the medal-pin in their sophomore year for excellent scores on the Latin examination prepared by the Association for Promotion of Study of Latin. Carol Isenberg won the medal-pin in her junior year. These three students have helped Newton High to achieve the necessary qualifications for receiving the Latin trophy. To win a medal-pin a student must obtain a score that is within five points of being perfect. The Latin

Speech Award Won By Neville

John P. Neville of Newtonville was adjudged winner of the monthly meeting of the Newton Toastmasters' Club two-minute speech-makers. Neville was the best of speakers who got up to talk as though they were applicants for mythical positions offered by mythical newspaper ads.

The meeting was held at Hotel Beaconsfield, Brookline. Lester Stern of Newtonville presided.

Prepared five-minute speeches were delivered by John A. Wilson, Natick; Harold J. Waters, Newtonville; and Milton Margolin, Brookline. The Higbee trophy was won by Mr. Waters.

trophy is awarded to the school the year in which the third medal pin is won. In addition Achievement certificate awards are given to students who come out well above average on the exam. The test is given sometime during spring to all Newton High students studying Latin.

THE MARQUEE . . . Five students from Newton High and one from another high school have recorded a record called "Cruising Around" for XYZ Records, a subsidiary of United Artists. The Newton High members are Bruce Sampson, Maxine Stone, Sue Ross, Larry Welner, and Jeff Gold. They go under the name of Bruce Sampson and the Cruisers. Their song was written by Joel Myerson, a Newton Senior. It will be released right after Christmas.

Drama Festival time has come around once again. This year the three plays in the competition will be "The Mad Woman of Chailot," "Winter Set," and "The Taming of the Shrew". In addition to the regular competition in the different stages of the New England Festival in which the winning play participates, this year, it will also be presented during Newton High's Arts Festival Week at the end of March. "The Mad Woman" is a French fantasy concerning four completely crazy females; "Winter Set" is about four boys and especially about one of them who falls in love with a girl called Miriamine. "The Taming" is concerned with the courtship and marriage of Katherine, the shrew. It is one of Shakespeare's plays. Try-outs for the play were held almost every afternoon last week.

AFTER-CLASS . . . Officers of this year's Latin Club are Hal Cohen, president; Judy Bailen, vice-president; Nancy Mahoney, secretary; David Bailen, treasurer; and Stan Wollack, program chairman. The function of the club is to increase the knowledge of our classical heritage. The club is a member of the Junior Classical League which is a national association of Latin clubs. The Latin Club sponsors many activities such as theater parties and museum trips, inviting guest speakers, having social meetings with Latin games, short plays, and skits, and having a project for the Science Fair or for Latin Week. At its December meeting, the Latin Club presented the Latin version of Dickens' Christmas Carol for the enjoyment of the club members. Barbara Parkhurst, Martha Shapiro, Carol Isenberg, John Fraser, Marion Tabor, Kay Sternfeld, Harriet Hoffman, Dave Bailen and Hal Cohen participated in the play. Miss Jewett and Mr. Bresnahan were the advisors. Maxine Cohen sang at the meeting also.

JOTS AND DASHES . . . Last month the Newtonite editors attended an afternoon interview with Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel. The event was sponsored by the Boston Globe for the purpose of judging the talents of high school papers in reporting. Over 1000 editors were present and stories about the afternoon printed by the different newspapers will be judged for scholarship awards.

Non-Bias Pledge Distribution Planned by Fair Housing Group

A pledge based on the principle that persons of all races and creeds should be equally free to buy or rent homes will be circulated by Newton church and temple social action committees.

The pledge of covenant was drawn up by the Newton Fair Housing Committee at a meeting at the Newton Community Centre in West Newton.

Miss Marion Fuller of the organization and a working committee have been contacting members of the clergy in the city's churches and temples and state that favorable reports have been received.

The covenant drawn up by the NFHC reads as follows:

"In a democracy it is fundamental that all have equal opportunity. This principle is often denied when members of minority groups are not allowed to buy or rent housing. The essential richness of our country rose out of the free non-segregated sharing of life and thought of people of varied faiths and races and we cherish this democratic way of life for ourselves and for our children. Therefore, we the undersigned residents of Newton, declare our support of a policy, to make housing available to all people of good character without discrimination as to race, religion or national origin."

In an attempt to prove that the establishment of families of minority groups do not have depressing effect on the values of neighborhood properties, the committee is making an extensive study under Mrs. Charles Woodbury.

Approximately 35 colored families are living in white neighborhoods in Newton, the committee estimates. What PRETTY AS A SNOWFLAKE, this lovely tree is only one of the many beautiful Christmas decorations, greens and flowers available at Seltzer's Florists in Newton. No matter what your preference in flowers, Seltzer's, located at 11 Florence street directly off Route 9, will be pleased to accommodate you.

Flowers of Unsurpassed Beauty at Seltzer's Shop

Flowers have been emissaries of man's thoughtfulness and esteem towards his fellow man from time immemorial. And when you send these lovely blooms as tokens of your affection, you naturally want them to be as fresh and as attractive as possible.

And no place do you find blooms as lovely and vibrant with health and color as you do at Seltzer's, New England's most complete garden center. Located at 11 Florence street (corner Route 9) Newton, Seltzer's carries a complete line of cut flowers, plants, gardens and greens to appeal to men and women of discriminating taste. Guiding activities at this attractive flower land are Albert, Robert and Martin Seltzer, gentlemen with a decided talent for floral arrangement and the imagination to help their scores of satisfied customers select blooms they are proud to represent them.

The brothers Seltzer have had fifteen years in the flower business and really know their way around a floral display. They learned the craft from their dad, Arthur, who founded the concern 40 years ago, and their years of experience coupled with their own innate talent make them true artists. They are careful to stock only the highest quality flowers and all blooms and greens are cut fresh daily.

Seltzer's is a member of the Florists Telegraph Delivery Service and can send flowers all over the world. Local delivery is fast and efficient, also.

The personnel at Seltzer's are all skilled in their craft and work lovingly and effectively with blooms. For instance, there is Ellen Stevens, one of Boston's foremost wedding floral consultants and designers. When she does a display, it is breathtaking. Then there is John Boas, general foreman of the company, who is also a whiz with flowers. And the firm boasts two of the most outstanding landscape architects in the persons of Carl Jorgenson and Richard Ness. Under their direction, Seltzer's sketches, architects and designs gardens of unsurpassed beauty for commercial properties and private homes.

Rare and exotic plants share the greenhouse with their more common neighbors, and the company also sells garden supplies. Store hours at Seltzer's which is featuring a complete line of greens for Christmas, are from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

DEPENDABLE News Views OF OUR BUSINESS LEADERS

THE FIT IS PERFECT, AS ALWAYS, at the Tux Shop in Newton, where owner Floyd Hamilton is pictured fitting a customer. With a complete line of the finest in men's formal wear available for renting, the Tux Shop, located at 230 California street, is a good name to remember during the holiday season of dances and parties.

Tux Shop Helps You Look Best At Formal Parties

There are few things as important in the social life of young and old as making the proper appearance at all times. But unfortunately, few of the younger men and boys particularly, can afford to hang in their closet the formal attire worn seldom, but definitely needed upon occasion.

And that's where the Tux Shop located at 230 California street, Newton, comes into the picture. Guiding activities of this popular store is Floyd Hamilton, assisted during the busy season by his charming wife, Gladys. Mr. Hamilton is a gentleman who knows the whys and wherefores of proper dress. He has been in this business for the past 7 1/2 years, and he is a virtual "Mr. Emily Post" of correct attire for formal and informal parties, socials and weddings.

At his tux shop, he carries a complete line of tuxedos, full dress suits, morning clothes and informal dress suits. Should you need a complete outfit or merely a bow tie, Mr. Hamilton has it. A pair of shoes, a cravat, jacket, striped pants, shirt studs, collar buttons—the Tux Shop has them in stock in sizes to fit every man be he small, medium or large. The shop also carries formal attire starting at size 4 for the young fry who is going to be ring bearer at his brother's wedding or needs a tuxedo for his dancing class social.

Top hats, black socks—you can find them all—the Tux Shop, and should the need arise clothes can be altered to fit. Prices here are reasonable enough to delight the budget.

Mr. Hamilton, a member of the Formal Wear Guild of Greater Boston stands ready to offer advice on the proper attire for specific occasions. Clothes should usually be ordered one week in advance, but should emergencies arise, 1-day service is available.

The only exclusive formal wear shop in Newton, the Tux Shop keeps ever abreast of latest styles and is currently featuring a new style tuxedo with a black peak lapel and the oxford jackets which are replacing morning cutaways. Mr. Hamilton emphasizes that all his clothes are made of light weight material for year-round comfort.

He is pleased to greet his friends daily from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays and Fridays.

SHOPPING AROUND WITH RITA

'Tis the week before Christmas and all through the stores, there's the hustle and bustle and gifts galore. Here are a few last minute ideas from local shops. Allets have gay pixies riding a candy cane toboggan... Mother and Daughter figurines, and wonderful Hostess items. The cutest plush toys of the season are the cuddly soft, washable and adorable poodles... prettily packaged for special gift giving. Find lovely gifts for everyone at Allets.

Speaking of pets, of course, you will remember the family pet... and this is why you will head straight for Debby's Pet Land. They have everything you can imagine... Stockings full of toys and goodies for cats and dogs... Aquariums and hundreds of tropical fish... and for really sensational gift giving... they even have a raccoon or an alligator. It's quite a shop. Here is a gift, guaranteed to be a winner for any grade school youngster. It is called the House of Fun Easel, and the Summer Frame Shop has reduced the price for last minute shoppers. This "grown up feeling" set, comes complete with easel, paint book, paints and brushes. You will be so surprised with the tiny price that you will not miss this chance to please every youngster on your list...

The two big hobbies at our house are Photography and Skiing. This puts me right in the mood to tell you how happy we were with our shopping trip to the French Ski Shop. Susan and Jean Rogusac have everything for the skier and they were so helpful in advising us how to plan wisely... They also offer such services as rental of equipment, engraving on skis and repairing or storing... Find the French Ski Shop at 438 Stuart St., near Copley Square.

Photography brings hours of enjoyment for the family. The gifts we have given in past years from Atwood's Camera Shop have been outstanding successes. This year it will be a fresh supply of film for Fred's movie Camera and Ricky has been begging for an enlarger ever since he started developing his own film... Atwood's is one of our favorite Christmas Stores.

Of course, everyone loves music... and whether it is the top ten records from the hit parade or an album of favorite show tunes, we turn to Newtonville T.V. and Record Shop... They have records, transistor radios, and even the carrying cases and music racks and accessories.

The small fry will have a wonderful time with the latest toy sensation. The Sno Bronco. Like its mate of last season, the Sno Coaster, it looks like a barrel of fun... The Bronco is of lightweight aluminum with ball bearing steering. No wonder Paul Craven is making daily visits to the new Waban Furniture and Toy Shop, while Jane Coville and Sarah Goldsmith have their wishes tied up in that adorable ranch style doll house which promises hours of fun...

Next door at the Waban Gift and Yarn Shop there are wonderful displays of gifts and here is an unusual

Santa Will Be Long Delayed If All 1104 Socks Are Hung

Someone who isn't exactly the "good-boy-for-Christmas" type will have plenty of stockings to hang up for Christmas—to be exact, 46 dozen pairs. That amounts to 1104 individual socks if our arithmetic is right. If you're mercenary-minded, it amounts to $414 at retail value.

The sock-wealthy individual is about 20 years old. It's a good possibility that he doesn't believe stops to fill them all, the reindeers are going to in Santa Claus. If he does, and the jolly old boy get all tired out just waiting.

The young man acquired the socks by walking into the Greenfield mill on Glen avenue, Newton Centre, selecting a big carton crammed full of hosiery and walking out.

He was putting the carton in a car outside when Joseph Otis, 511 California street, Newton, production manager of the mill, spotted him.

When Otis queried the stranger, he shouted back that the socks were for a Waltham dress company. When Otis turned to check up, the young man drove away.

one that you might overlook. See the handsome gold and white foam rubber bridge table covers. Of course they are washable and come in a pretty storage case, but best of all they cling to the table eliminating cumbersome corners and ties... When teamed up with Kem Playing Cards you have a pretty gift twosome, and the Waban Gift Shop is the place to find them.

B. S. Edward's (open every night) is the place for thrifty Santas who are looking for practical ideas in the latest kitchen gadgets, mittens, socks, and baby things... In the tree ornament and decoration department look for the sensational new icicles... They are truly amazing brighter and shinier than ever, and are easier to use because they never tangle. You will be using this metalized saran over and over for years, and will love it. You will enjoy shopping at this marvelous family store in West Newton.

"Quickie... don't forgets"... Remember to order your fresh killed Turkey from Esty's Farm... for wonderful good holiday eating on Christmas Day.

And... before the rush for Beauty appointments starts... call Albert's Beauty Studio for your Holiday Permanent... Wave... or Beauty Treatment.

Something to think about... You are fortunate, if you have many loved ones to shop for.

W. R. Koe Again Seeks Food For Winter Ducks

Walter R. Koe of Wayland has sent out circulars to Newton bird-lovers in the 16th season of operation of the Norumbega Duck Fund.

The Wayland man has long been active in feeding Norumbega ducks through the winter and obtaining funds for the purchase of feed in his "A Buck for a Duck" campaign.

"This year the migrations are very slow and spotty," he says in his circular. "The present cold wave has started the ice forming along the edges of the river and the larger ponds. The smaller ponds and small brooks are skimmed over, forcing the ducks to abandon them. As a result they have started to increase at Norumbega. I judge that there are between 850 and 900 there now."

Regarding the feeding of ducks he reports, "Once again the problem has arisen whereby one man cannot do it alone. The need is for younger folk to volunteer some time to the project. Some who are really interested in wildlife and willing to be dependable and see it through. There are funds to raise, feed to be gathered, and, of course, the actual feeding every day.

"The reward is the meeting the many fine and humane people... and the self-satisfaction you get from the feeling that you are doing something worthwhile."

Mr. Koe's postal address is Box 235, Wayland.

Barrymen Foil
St. Mary's Jinx
With 55-49 Win
In an opening in which a couple of defending titleholders were matched, St. Mary's High School of Waltham was edged 55-49 by the Sacred Heart High of Newton basketball team at St. Mary's gym.
The victory was Sacred Heart's first, over its inter-city rival in eight years and the Barrymen served notice that they are prepared to make a strong bid to retain top honors in the Catholic Suburban League.
St. Mary's, champion of the Catholic Central Loop a year ago, had one exhibition game under its belt — a 54-17 win over its alumni. However, the more heavily veteran-combined Barrys got superlative performances out of its three star seniors, Bob Nangle, Bill Hart and Bob Fitzgerald who came up with 47 of the Sacred Heart point total.
Nangle was the game's top scorer with 20. Hart had 17 points and Fitzgerald 10. Joe Clabby turned in 15 points for losers.

Raytheon Plans Move To Quincy
Production of Raytheon miniature radio receiving tubes will be consolidated next spring by moving some production facilities from the company's Receiving Tube Division plant at 55 Chapel Street, Newton, to the Division's two plants at 465 Centre street, Quincy. This shift is expected to provide a total of as many as 250 job opportunities at the Quincy plant without reducing payrolls at Newton.
O. P. Susneyan, division manager, said that this transfer would not cause any reduction in the volume of pro-on at the Newton plant. The manufacture of bantol type tubes for radio and TV sets will be expanded there and flat-press tube production will be continued.

The move to Quincy will take place gradually over a period of about three months commencing next April. Production equipment will be moved to Quincy between production runs as schedules permit. Simultaneously, workers at the Newton plant will be reassigned to the production of other tube types in their present work areas.

The company's Industrial Tube Division, which shares the Chapel Street plant with the Receiving Tube Division, is unaffected by this change.

Edward A. Caredis of 109 Dudley road, Newton Centre, has been named representative of the George Washington University, located in Washington, D.C. Caredis is available to answer inquiries about the University by prospective students and others.

SALESMAN

Want Higher Earnings?

THEN READ THIS . . . One out of every four (4) cars sold is a Chevrolet and has been for years. This means that Chevrolet salesmen collect the commission on every 4th car sold in the United States. That's pretty good odds, isn't it? If you are at present selling a less popular product and are a go-getter, you can easily double or triple your earnings by selling America's number one car. ## Guest of BU Head

A recent guest at an informal get-together at the home of President and Mrs. Harold C. Case of Boston University was Frances N. Atwell, of 21

Carver road, Newton Highlands, a student at the University. The sessions are held to provide an opportunity for establishing a more personal contact between the president and students.

Open House For Stone Institute

An open house will be held at the Stone Institute and Home for Aged People in Newton Upper Falls on Saturday from 3 to 5 p. m. Officers, directors and other friends of the home have been invited, as were various local ministers and doctors and their wives.

The open house is described as an opportunity for anyone interested in seeing the home "in gala dress" to drop in. Various neighboring clubs have added their efforts during the year to make the Christmas season a happier one for the women who make their home there.

The following directors will be in charge of the event:

Mrs. Leon B. Farley, Mrs. Edward W. Pridie, Mrs. Ralph G. Beckett, Mrs. William B. Plummer, Mrs. Raymond W. Eldridge, Mrs. Harry A. Plimpton, Mrs. Warren G. Hill, Mrs. Elmore L. MacPhie, Mrs. William T. Glidden, Jr., Mrs. F. Brittain Kennedy, Mrs. Franklin K. Hoyt, Mrs. Charles S. Grover, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Arthur M. Allen, Mrs. Ralph F. Taber and Miss Mabel Riley.

14-Year-Old Boy Nabbed Minutes After Auto Theft

A baby-faced 14-year old boy was apprehended as he drove off Route 128 at the Washington street, Newton Lower Falls, exit in a stolen car. Sergeant John J. Regan, Inspector Francis W. Turner and Patrolman Thomas F. Ganley spotted the registration plate of the car as one which had just been reported stolen in Wellesley. The boy is a resident of Wellesley.

Heart Fund--

Balkus, of 34 Mechanic street, treasurer of the Newton campaign; and Mrs. Chester P. Baker of 5 Hovey street, named publicity chairman.

The 1959 Heart Fund drive in Newton, and the nation, will be held from February 1 through 28 and will reach its high point on February 15, Heart Sunday, when Massachusetts Heart Association volunteers will conduct a door-to-door collection among neighbors to help continue the valiant battle against heart disease.

Newton and Belmont Will Meet To Break GBI 1st Place Deadlock

The triple tie for first place in the Greater Boston Ice League will be at least partially dissolved at Boston Arena Saturday afternoon when the Newton Tigers and Belmont High, two of the three current front runners, collide in what could be the feature event of the afternoon.

Neither team is adverse to picking up an early season win since a victory in December counts just as much as one acquired in the late season going.

In winning their first two GBI encounters, Newton and Belmont have almost identical records with Newton running up an impressive 8 goals to its opponent's 2 while Belmont was tallying nine times and holding the opposition to a single goal.

The Tigers bounced back from a rather humiliating trip to Exeter for a non-league game to handle Rindge Tech nicely last Saturday. Ken Downing hung up two of the markers as Newton ground out a 4-1 win over the Cambridge ice men.

Rindge wasn't offering the toughest opposition in the GBI joustings that afternoon but they have either improved greatly over last year or the Tigers are somewhat less potent than a year ago. A year ago the Tigers smacked Rindge 10-0 and two years ago they set Rindge down 15-0.

Actually, Newton had a shut-out in the making until 5:32 in the third period when Ben McGinnis slipped one into the net for Rindge's first score in a long time against Newton and its second of the young season.

To keep pace with the Tigers and Arlington, Belmont disposed of Cambridge Latin 3-0 last Saturday and looked good in the process.

Arlington which shares top-of-the-roost honors with Newton and Belmont this week continued to surprise by defeating Stoneham 4-2. The Spy Ponders showed that the loss of All-Scholastic goalie Tom Apprille isn't going to drop them into the also-ran class this season.

Against Stoneham they came up with two proficient goalies who played about half the game apiece. They were Gerry Burns, Apprille's sub for the past two seasons and Bill Clark, a soph. On top of their fine showing came reports that Apprille might still be available to Arlington before the season ends.

The less said about the Tigers' visit to Exeter the better. The boys were out of their class and succumbed to

Passes Examination

Ellin Goldberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Goldberg of 388 Ward street, Newton Center, who now makes her home in Temple City, Calif., recently passed her certification examination in dental assisting. Miss Goldberg is a graduate of Newton High School and of Pasadena City College.

Boys Club In 26-13 Victory

The Newton Boys Club hoopers, paced by Dave Biglieri, captured their second victory at St. Mary's in Roxbury last Saturday morning.

Boys Club sharpshooters scored six baskets in the third quarter and finished the game with a 26 to 13 victory. The lineups:

TELE- VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Archaeologists are dedicated men bent on uncovering evidences of ancient civilizations. They journey into wild, unexplored territories armed with maps and shovels and return with prizes like encrusted urns, etc. Hollywood and TV have produced the "anti-archaeologist" (for want of a better term) who is dedicated to the job of raising all evidences of modern civilization. Such a person is Herman O'Brien, whose main working tools are a pair of supersensory eyes and a bunch of leafy branches. It's his job to make sure that, as the TV villain or hero gallops up to the local saloon and dismounts with guns a-blaze, he doesn't trip over some trappings of modern civilization, like a half-filled Dixie cup of coffee left by an errand stagehand, or fall into the supposedly 19th Century dust of a road and rise with the imprint of a non-skid nylon tire tread emblazoned across his rear.

O'Brien tells of a fellow "anti-archaeologist" who went over the location sets for a cowboy picture out in the hills with a fine-tooth comb, dragged his branches around the roads like he was being followed by Apaches. Everything looked perfect until the next day when they looked over the rushes back at the studio. The poor fellow hadn't noticed that the Air Force was having maneuvers that day—the sky looked like a checker-board with a lot of 20th Century vapor-trails! Make this a mutual Christmas with a Thomas Electronic Organ, the most modern of them all. We invite you to visit our store for a demonstration and to see the new Mous Cord Organ. As low as $129.95 — the perfect Christmas gift. For your convenience, we will remain open every night till Christmas, not including, of course, Christmas Eve—so come early.

Well Anyway, It Was Cold Night

A would be burglar left his footprints in the snow when he tried to get into the home of Dr. Harry Derow, 24 Edgell road, Newton Centre, but for some reason he gave up the whole idea after breaking glass near the lock of a living room window. The attempted break was made between 9 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. Police surmise the housebreaker may have been frightened from the scene.

Halt to Offer Aid Lands Motorist in Hospital Himself

When he saw an automobile crashed against a tree on Nonantum road, Newton, Mayer Spivack, 22, of 132 Parker street, Newton Centre, halted his sports car and got out to render any assistance he could. Metropolitan police officers informed him the occupant of the smashed car had been taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Spivack returned to his car and started to drive away. Seconds later his machine and one operated by Robert McCabe, 25, of Foster street, Brighton, were in collision. Spivack was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

He suffered multiple lacerations and was able to leave after treatment. McCabe escaped without serious injury. John D. Acly, Nashua street, Woburn, was victim of the crash which first attracted Spivack's attention. His station wagon had gone out of control and crashed into a tree. At St. Elizabeth's Hospital he was found to have suffered multiple fractures and lacerations of the face and head.

Moye Chevrolet Contest Winner

"Act Now" is the theme of the winning window display at Moye Chevrolet Co., Inc. in this year's Christmas Seal window display competition. A large red double-barred cross on a stage with shimmering white background and curtains won the prize for Moye.

The judging of the various window displays throughout Newton climaxed the combined efforts of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, the individual merchants, and the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association to promote the sale of Christmas Seals in Newton.

The judging of all windows with major displays was based on three criteria, telling the Christmas Seal story, general appearance and imagination.

Judges were Wilfred Chagnon, chairman of the window display committee, Richard Kaewer, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. and a member of the executive committee of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, Justin Horan, Newton Chamber of Commerce, H. S. Currier, of the Newton Village and Mrs. Emily Weston of the Waltham News Tribune.

A spokesman for the committee complimented the merchants of Newton for "contributing much time and space toward the 52nd annual Christmas Seal Sale." He added, "They have helped to conquer tuberculosis by their efforts and own personal contribution in this much needed fight."

St. Louis—Inland waterways of the U. S. carry about 15 percent of the transportation load.

Meet Your Visiting Nurse

Mrs. Matilda A. Sweet, B.S., (Mrs. John Sweet Jr.) who, until last month, was Miss Megan, is the nurse in charge at the Well Baby Clinic held at the Auburndale Club, where children under two years of age may be brought for inoculations and for advice and consultation, under the supervision of a physician. She also helps mothers of conference babies with nursing and child care problems in their homes.

In her capacity as a Visiting Nurse she works chiefly in Auburndale and Newton Lower Falls — giving bedside care to the sick in their homes, by order of their own physician.

Mrs. Sweet was graduated from Boston University and holds the degree of Bachelor of Science. She is a member of the Newmat Club, the Alumnae Association of Boston University, and St. Camilla's Guild. She plans to do graduate work for a Master's degree in Public Health nursing.

In spite of her varied activities she admits to several hobbies — swimming, dancing and bridge — and a new husband to share them. Mrs. Sweet joined the staff of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association on June 2, 1958.

Newton Savings Bank Personnel Christmas Party

The Lido Room of Fresh Pond Restaurant, Cambridge, was the scene of the annual Christmas party of the personnel of the Newton Savings Bank.

The program called for dinner, entertainment and general dancing, with the highlight of the evening coming when a 17-inch portable TV set with stand and a table radio was displayed to the gathering. They were presented by the employees of the local savings bank to the Peabody House for Crippled Children in Newton.

More than 170 employees and guests from Newton, Needham, Wellesley and other nearby communities attended. David W. Cowie of the Newton office was chairman of the party committee. He was assisted by Miss Janet Meyers, Mrs. Marjorie Maccauley, Mrs. Peggy Bennett, Mrs. Enea Dunne, Miss Peggy Holmes, Miss Jane Stanfield and Harry Gillespie.

President Joseph Early Perry of the Newton Savings Bank told the gathering something of the history of Newton. Treasurer Benjamin F. Louis discussed the history of the Newton Savings Bank, tracing its growth from seven employees to 97 at the present time.

The savings bank was started in 1829 and has served the people of Newton, Needham and Wellesley since. Its offices are located at 286 and 289 Washington street, Newton; 103 Union street, Newton Centre; 43 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands; 571 Washington street, Wellesley, and 133 Chapel street, Needham.

Bowen Brownies

Brownies made their presentation Saturday.

Except for Mr. DeRubels, the members of his family don't yet thoroughly understand English, but they did understand that a group of Newton Brownies were reaching out a helping hand and from the warmth of their hearts, in the true spirit of the Christ Child, were giving them good things to eat on the Birthday of the Babe Who was Born in Bethlehem.

Mr. DeRubels expressed his thanks in a voice which choked in emotion. Mrs. DeRubels brushed back the tears of gladness, and the DeRubels children pranced around with glee the way children should as Christmas nears.

A group of Newton Brownies helped to prove something important to the DeRubels family — that the action of the holdup man who robbed them of every dollar they had didn't reflect the real way of life in this city and this country.

And the Brownies and their leaders should enjoy a better Christmas for the happiness they brought to a troubled family not yet recovered from the visitation of a bandit.

Leaders who accompanied the Brownies on their mission of Yuletide goodwill to the DeRubels home were Mrs. George Applebaum, Mrs. Sidney Belton and Mrs. Sidney Price.

Brownies in the expedition were Karen Murray, Jill Davidson, Arlene Ginsburg, Janet Cipriano, Roberta Goorvich, Phyllis Callahan, Leslie Foman, Sherry Cotton, Har-

Weeks Jr. H.S. Offers Sacred Music Program

A program of Sacred Music was presented in the auditorium of the Weeks Junior High School by the school's music department. More than 400 were in the audience.

The program included music of Bach, Mendelssohn, Beime, Shaw and Handel, with the ninth grade chorus and the Girls Glee Club being assisted by the Weeks Orchestra.

The Ninth Grade Music Theatre Elective was directed by Raymond Smith. Donald March directed the orchestra. The arrangement for the Sabbath Meditation was done by John Schuller.

The Girls' Glee Club was directed by Miss Judith Anderson. Helping in the arrangement of the program were Miss Marion Sanders, Vincent Arone, John Bizios, Hayden Mason and Stanley Russell. Also Mrs. Phyllis Finkel, John O'Neill, Henry Lambert, Mrs. Brenda Grossman and Miss Wilma Thompson.

Brian Simblist did the Elijah narration; Andrea Sacher, the widow, and Philip Tonks, the narrator.

The Christmas story according to St. Luke was given by Leslie Allen.

Political Highlights

When the students of politics look back upon the great Democratic landslide of 1958, they undoubtedly will find that the two events most responsible for it were the economic recession and the blow to the American pride when the Russians got their first Sputnik into orbit.

Because of those two factors the political pendulum swung strongly in the direction of the Democrats, and Democratic candidates in Massachusetts and across the nation won offices which ordinarily would have been beyond their grasp.

In some instances offices showered down upon Democrats who themselves probably did not believe they had much chance of winning. It would not be at all surprising if they developed a strong and abiding trust in Santa Claus.

Move to Cut Down Kennedy Started By Mrs. Roosevelt

It seems apparent that an operation to cut down Senator John F. Kennedy as a Presidential prospect for 1960 already has started.

That's one of the penalties a candidate for the Presidency pays when he gets out in front too early. He immediately becomes an inviting target not only for the opposition but also for members of his own party who for reasons of their own hope to push some other candidate to the fore.

And Democrats never wield a hatchet with any more force and vigor than when they are aiming it at the skull of one of their own party.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, with a few well chosen snide remarks, opened the assault upon Kennedy, and it unquestionably will be continued periodically both by Republicans who fear Kennedy and by those Democrats who prefer someone else as their Presidential standard-bearer.

Kennedy, who undoubtedly well recognizes the danger of being pushed to the fore this far in advance of a Presidential election but who is not able to do much about the situation, obviously cannot become involved in an argument with an elder statesman of the feminine sex.

Mrs. Roosevelt, of course, was a staunch and devoted supporter of Adlai Stevenson in both 1952 and 1956, and she has made it clear that Adlai is her choice for 1960 as well, despite the two defeats he has suffered.

An ironical aspect to the situation is that Kennedy also was an ardent backer of Stevenson at both the '52 and '56 conclaves, was on the same team with Mrs. Roosevelt, and probably lined up more votes for Adlai than she did.

The widow of the late F.D.R. has the right to back whomever she wishes, but she is demonstrating rather poor political judgment in taking any sideswipes at Kennedy since he might well be the Democratic Presidential standard-bearer less than two years hence.

One thing to remember about Kennedy is that if he is anywhere nearly as strong as the polls presently indicate he is, he will demonstrate so much public support in the popular Presidential primaries in the spring of 1960 that his prestige will be increased tremendously.

Adlai Stevenson, notwithstanding the fact that he has been nominated at the last two Democratic national conventions, was never exactly a powerhouse in the Presidential primaries which preceded the conventions.

Senator Estes Kefauver gave him a real shellacking in 1956 in such states as New Hampshire and Minnesota, and Kefauver now has worn pretty thin as a possibility for either President or Vice President.

The first Presidential primary in 1960 will be held in New Hampshire. It would be pretty safe to make the long-range prediction now that Kennedy will get off to a running start in the Granite State.

The voters, of course, don't have too much to say about the nomination of Presidential candidates. But victories in the popular primaries can give a Presidential aspirant vastly increased stature and prestige.

It is highly improbable that Stevenson, Kefauver, Stuart Symington, Lyndon Johnson or anyone else will be able to match Kennedy's vote-getting appeal in such States as New Hampshire, Minnesota, and Oregon where the voters have an opportunity to express a preference.

Curb on Popular Primary Discussed on Beacon Hill

One of the strange things about Massachusetts politicians is that they seem to be continually on the watch for new ways to take some of the voting rights away from the people.

They drafted the laws in such a manner that the Presidential primaries held in this State are practically meaningless. Then they complained loudly about the failure of the public to turn out and cast votes which are not binding on anyone.

Now there is talk on Beacon Hill about the possibility of wiping out the September primary as far as the nomination of State-wide candidates is concerned.

In other words, the candidates for U.S. Senator, Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, State Treasurer, State Auditor and Secretary of State, who were endorsed at a pre-primary convention, would automatically go onto the November ballot, and there would be no opportunity for anyone to challenge them in a primary.

That's about as inconsistent as it's possible to get even in the field of politics where amazing heights of inconsistency are periodically achieved.

Only a short time ago, Democratic politicians were discussing the possibility of abolishing the pre-primary convention and letting the voters do the nominating in the September primary.

Then they discovered that their party has done pretty well since it revived the system of holding pre-primary conventions so they're now pondering the prospect of eliminating any primary contests for the State-wide offices.

Those advancing this idea try to justify it by pointing out that not many State-wide primary races are staged anyway, that the Republicans usually abide by the decisions of their conventions and that only an average of two State-wide Democratic primary contests are held following the conclaves.

The point, however, is that any candidate, who is dissatisfied with the verdict of his party's pre-primary convention, has a right to take his case to the voters in the September primary if he chooses to do so and is able to obtain the required number of nomination signatures to get his name on the ballot.

State Treasurer John F. Kennedy did that with some success in 1954, 1956 and 1958. Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., did in 1956, and former Republican House Leader Charles Gibbons threatened for a time to do it this year after the late George Fingold was endorsed by the GOP State convention at Worcester last June.

Except to make it a little more convenient for the politicians, there would be no justification for the action because the primary would have to be held anyway to nominate candidates for legislative, county and congressional offices.

Strange things, of course, can happen in politics, but Governor Furcolo would have to do quite a flip-flop in order to sign a bill depriving the people of the right to nominate the candidates for State-wide offices because he has always maintained publicly that they should have that right.

Pre-primary conventions are basically intended in Massachusetts to recommend certain candidates to the voters, and a candidate endorsed at a convention has so great an advantage that frequently he is not even opposed in the primary. That doesn't mean, however, that a comparatively small group of delegates should have the final voice in determining who should be able to stand for election to such offices as Governor, U.S. Senator, Attorney General and Lieutenant Governor.

2nd Break at Centre Home

A second burglary at the home of Gabriel Stern, Boston advertising man, at 35 Bothfield road, Newton Centre, has been discovered by police. In a burglary a month ago thieves carried off $13,500 worth of property.

The amount of loot taken in the second burglary cannot be ascertained until the family returns from Florida.

The second break was made during a weekend, and entrance to the house was gained by breaking the glass on the outside of a door. Police found burned matches throughout the house.

The investigation is being carried out by Lieutenant John N. McMullen and Inspector Charles W. Lynch.

Police Check Fire Until Engines Come

Effective delaying action fought by Patrolmen William L. Whelan and William P. Mahoney was accredited with preventing extensive damage by fire in the cellar of Peter DePasquale's Market, 299 Watertown street, Newton.

When a spark from a chimney set some cardboard and paper afire, the two officers used an extinguisher from their cruiser to hold the flames in check until the fire department arrived.

- Recent Deaths -

Mary E. Coffey

Miss Mary E. Coffey of 9 Central avenue, Newtonville, died at Newton-Wellesley Hospital following a brief illness. She was 60.

Born in Newton, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Coffey. She was employed at the Uclite plant in Newton.

She leaves three sisters, Mrs. Katherine C. Dargan, Newton; Mrs. Agnes H. Conroy, Brighton; and Miss Helen M. Coffey, Newton; and three brothers, Joseph M., Watertown; and Martin F. and Edward G. of Newton.

A solemn requiem Mass was sung at the Church of Our Lady. Interment was at Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Joseph Antonellis

Joseph R. Antonellis, 19, of 42 Dalby street died at his home following a heart attack. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Antonellis and a 1957 graduate of Our Lady's High School.

For the last year he had been an employee of Grover Cronin, Inc., Waltham. He had served as an altar boy at Our Lady's Church for several years.

Besides his parents, he leaves a sister, Patricia L., and a brother, William J. of Newton.

A solemn requiem Mass was sung at Our Lady's Church. Interment was at the family lot in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

James P. O'Hara

Military funeral rites were held for James P. O'Hara of 312 Centre street, Newton, at St. Patrick's Church, Watertown, with a solemn requiem Mass.

The Rev. Alfred V. Pucenio

about this question: "Last year a fire in a nearby town put several stores out of business during the entire holiday shopping. Their fire insurance covered the building and stock, but what about the fatal loss of income during this season? Does your agency have insurance to pay all expenses and net profit during business interruption?"

Newton Centre Opticians Eye Doctor's Right Hand

Dorothy Parker's old jingle about "men never making passes at girls who wear glasses" is today as outmoded as the horse and buggy. And its decline is due, in large measure, to the service of a skilled group of men who have chosen to be opticians.

One of the most highly-regarded men in his field is Melvin Ashworth, genial owner and manager of the Newton Centre Opticians. Mr. Ashworth moved to 1197 Centre street, Newton Centre, about 18 months ago from a Boston office he had for ten years. He brings to his profession artistic craftsmanship, efficiency and skill. Registered by the Massachusetts Board of Opticians, Mr. Ashworth faithfully transcribes into beneficial lenses the directives of the ophthalmologist, the medical eye specialist.

In his own laboratory, he carefully fashions, according to prescription, the type of glasses needed by the individual and then just as painstakingly assists him, or her, in the selection of frames which will best suit the facial contours and personality of his client.

Additionally, Newton Centre Opticians carries, on prescription basis, hearing aids. The store sells the Trans Audio and the Unex aids and carries a complete line of batteries, cords and ear plugs for hearing aids of all makes. Mr. Ashworth is also an authorized agency for the servicing and repairing of aids.

Binoculars, weather instruments, weather guides and telescopes may also be purchased at this friendly shop open daily from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. and evenings by appointment. Of course, there is an emergency service for unexpected broken lenses or non-functioning hearing aids.

Lawyer Named—

fy. He was handed a 10-year sentence for shooting each of the federal men. That made a total of 20 years.

Lander appealed. He claimed that if he committed a crime when he pulled that trigger a single time, it was only a single crime and that the extra 10-year sentence was extraneous and superfluous.

Eventually his contentions got all the way up to the august Supreme Court, but by that time Lander had no money. The Supreme Court decided to appoint Attorney Rosenwald to represent him. No date has been set for the hearing.

WSA in Tribute To Mrs. Laskey

Mrs. Gertrude Mann Laskey, a charter and life member of the Woman's Scholarship Association, was honored by members of the association at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Nathan Daniels, 32 Elizabeth circle, Newton.

DEPENDABLE News Views OF OUR BUSINESS LEADERS

Sparkle Cleaners Gives Clothes New Lease on Life

The name Sparkle Cleaners is more than just an euphonious term. It is, indeed, an accurate description of the look your clothes will wear when they have been processed by this noted establishment located at 308 Walnut street, Newtonville. Sparkle Cleaners was founded in 1949 by Sidney Turin, a gentleman who knows his business in its every fact, and the local store opened its doors three years later.

Overseeing activities at the Newtonville branch is Charles Heil, a personable manager who has the best interests of his customers as his prime objective. Sparkle Cleaners has built up an enviable reputation for the manner in which it processes all garments. Individualized attention to each item sent through the plant is the keystone of service here. Whether you have a coat cleaned, a suit pressed or a dress cleaned, your garment will be returned to you, carefully protected by a polyethylene bag and sporting a "like-new" appearance.

Even the most delicate of fabrics — such as organza, silks, synthetics — are restored to their original crispness and loveliness when cleaned the Sparkle Cleaners way. Clothes are routinely checked for minor repairs, and buttons are replaced and torn seams sewn whenever necessary.

And the man of your house will buy you that extra-special Christmas gift if you do him the favor of having his shirts done by Sparkle. Each shirt is finished the way the most discriminating man could desire and is returned individually wrapped in a polyethylene bag.

Sparkle Cleaners truly does the highest quality work we have seen — and best of all you can have your clothes cleaned every hour on the hour until four p. m. including Saturdays. And there is absolutely no extra charge for this one-hour service which, naturally features the same top-quality workmanship associated with this store.

Storage facilities for woolens are available during the spring and summer months, and the establishment also does mothproofing and water repelling of clothes.

The Newtonville store is open daily from 7:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. and until 8 p. m. on Friday. It is one of three stores in operation — one in Roslindale and one in Quincy — with a fourth under construction at Braintree. General manager of the store is Roy Gregor.

SHOPPING AROUND WITH RITA

"... Soon it will be Christmas Day..." Here are last minute tips to check off that list fast. What better way to thrill the whole family than with a new pet from Debby's Petland... A cuddly puppy perhaps... a bird or even an aquarium... and certainly a lot of the cute little pet toys and accessories should be placed under the tree for the "master of the household"... It's Debby's for everything from a baby crocodile... to a pretty canary...

The French Ski Shop is still on the job... right up to the last minute, with wonderful stock... or gift certificates for the ski enthusiast... 438 Stuart Street, just out of Copley Square.

At Edward's in West Newton... for Dad, an auto waste basket... for Mom... "throw away baking dishes"... for Brother, a real Western Stagecoach... and for Sister, dolls... then for the tree and decorations... ornaments, and tinsel... colored spray and wax... and while we are at it... You had better get the New Year's Eve Party favors and noisemakers. They will disappear quickly.

At the Waban Gift and Yarn Shop... last minute games and small toys... Lots of little "stocking stuffers" for every member of the family, even Dad. It is lots of fun to fill a stocking for a grown-up and there are so many handy little things like golf Tees... wallets... playing cards... that would please... Glasses and bar accessories for New Year's too...

The Waban Furniture and Gift Shop will thrill the youngsters right up to the very end... You can take a tip from youngsters like Bob Murphy and Ronnie Bittelari and shop for real thrillers at this store... Just see the wonderful last minute sale items they are offering... Doll coaches, strollers, children's tables and chairs sets, Juvenile lamps (adorable ones)... Fire trucks and cars... and oh yes, the new selections of Golden Books (everything from the Bible to Satellites...)

Allets have a "sleigh full" of glamorous gifts for late shoppers, and they, too, are showing New Year's needs like cocktail shaker's glasses, "Dip dishes... hostess trays, and serving dishes... and don't forget the darling knick knacks to make your home bright for the holidays...

If at the last minute you feel that you need one perfect gift for a real "thrill of a lifetime"... don't fret it isn't too late... In less than it takes to say Merry Christmas you can hop over to Newtonville TV and Record Shop and get records, carrying cases, transistor radios... Hi-Fi's and Stereo... with extra emphasis on the large selection of children's records...

Cameras, films, developing sets... projectors... any of the hundreds of gift items at Atwood's would be sure to please and you can take it from me... photography making wonderful hobby for the youngsters... and the family... Have film or hand for every event right through New Year's Eve. Put Atwood's on your shopping list...

It's going to be rushed... Make your appointment at Albert's for a Gay New Year's Eve... NOW... say... make it a fresh Turkey from Esty's Farm for a festive New Year's Party, too...

Hedge and Wall To Go in Oldham Rd. Construction

A hemlock hedge and a stone wall which some folk believe add a touch of beauty to Oldham road, West Newton, will have to be sacrificed with the acceptance and the reconstruction of the road by the city.

The Board of Aldermen has appropriated $31,600 for the work and at the same time approved the layout originally submitted, despite the request of two abutters for modifications which would permit the skirting of the hemlock and the stonewall.

Chairman Harry H. Ham of the Public Works Committee pointed out that plans for the street were made by the Planning Board, the only group which could modify them. He said no request had been made to the Planning Board for modification. The Board of Aldermen, under the circumstances, it was pointed out, could not make the suggested changes.

The board also disposed of a number of other matters concerned with roads, mains and damage cases at the same meeting. It appropriated $6000 for construction of a drain and sewer on Neshobe road, Auburndale, to connect with 166 Neshobe road, a distance of 230 feet.

The owner of the house will... just time enough to say... "I hope your family enjoys the happiness of a truly, Holy Christmas... "Merry Christmas one and all..."

be obliged to pay six cents a foot in assessments instead of the three cents usually charged. An appropriation of $950 was made for land damages for eminent domain action on the lot on Adams street which will be used for off-street parking.

A sum of $1140 was appropriated for the extension of the water main on Acorn drive, West Newton.

The Aperiion Caterers was voted payment of $1350 for property damage and Rosalyn Jacobson, $350, for personal injuries, in settlement for claims arising out of an automobile accident on Dec. 20, 1956, in which a city-owned vehicle was involved.

Minnie Kramer and Oscar Rosen were voted $933 in damages for land taken for the off-street parking area on Melrose street, Auburndale. A right of way was set up for the abutters through the lot.

Rural Routes Average postal rural route is about 50.09 miles long.

Brookline Woman Named Heart Fund Radio-TV Chairman

Eleanor M. McCaffrey of 32 Kent street, Brookline, suffered injuries to her knees and chest, when her automobile and a panel truck were in collision at Ward and Centre streets, Newton Centre. The truck was operated by George J. Downey, Saybrook street, Brighton. Downey was uninjured.

The appointment of John D. Maloy, 30 Berwick road, Newton Centre, as Radio-Television chairman for the 1959 Heart Fund in Greater Boston is announced by A. M. Sennabend, state chairman.

Mr. Maloy is director of programs and special events for Station WNCN and the Yankee Network. In his radio career of more than 20 years, he worked in program and production direction for several Boston stations, before joining Yankee in 1953.

As Heart Fund Radio-TV chairman, Mr. Maloy will work with Greater Boston radio and television station managers in publicizing the Massachusetts Heart Association's annual drive in February for funds for heart research, public education, and community service programs.

late James M. Curley made his political start.
Under McGlue's plan the 10th district, now represented by Congressman Curtis, would be comprised of Newton, Brookline and Wards 8, 10, 11, 12, 19 and 20 of Boston.
Such a district would be Democratic by a fairly substantial margin.
McGlue asserts that the 10th district is the largest in Massachusetts and has 55,000 more voters than the accepted basic unit, while the district of Congressman Thomas J. Lane has 55,000 less than the accepted unit.

He says the plan would more nearly equalize the population in the various congressional sectors.

Birth rate of the U. S. in 1954 was 25.2 per 1000.

Newton Home Care Program Is Under Committee Study

A study of home medical care programs was initiated earlier this week at the first meeting of the Newton Community Council's Home Care Committee headed by Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst. This committee plans to study home care programs now operating in Boston and other communities and to determine if Newton needs this kind of service and, if so, which plan would be best for the city.

Home care programs, as defined in a report issued by the American Medical Association, "are a phase of comprehensive medical care which through coordinated efforts are designed to meet the individual medical, nursing, social, rehabilitative, and economic needs of those patients who may be treated at home."

Approximately 50 home care programs are now in operation in the country, sponsored by hospitals, visiting nurse associations, health departments, and medical schools according to a report by Harry T. Phillips, M.D., Newton Health Officer.

It has been found that the group most frequently using home care programs were the elderly. Newton has over 8,000 residents 65 years of age and older. Dr. Phillips continued. There are also approximately 650 Newton residents who are confined to their homes for various reasons.

Among the questions the committee will explore are: Does Newton need a home care program? If so how should it be organized—through the Hospital, Health Department, Visiting Nurse Association or some other group? Who should be eligible for this service? What should the service include—medical, nursing, social service, rehabilitative, medical supplies and others?

Members of the Council's Home Care Committee are as follows:

Mrs. Parkhurst, chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Lee, Visiting Nurse Association; Harry T. Phillips, M.D., Health Department; Edmund J. Poutas, Welfare Department; Mrs. Lucille Palmer and Robert Boardman, Newton-Wellesley Hospital; Miss Ann Dally of the Family Service Bureau; Mrs. Eleanor B. Widger, Newton Council of Churches; Rt. Rev. Walter J. Furlong, St. Vincent de Paul; R. E. Sylvester, M.D., medical profession; Miss Sophie C. Nelson, at large, and Miss Constance S. Garbutt, secretary.

Community Service Club, West Newton, Holds Benefit Sale

A food sale to benefit club philanthropies preceded the regular meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton on Wednesday of last week at the Second Church parish house.

Mrs. Chester N. Reed was hospitality chairman. Presiding at the tea table were Miss Alvin C. Walsh and Mrs. William C. Warth. The dessert social hour was planned by Mrs. Lewis C. Rile and Mrs. Louis S. Kinney, assisted by Mrs. Synlney P. French.

Members who conducted the food sale were Mrs. Harry C. Brock, chairman; Mrs. George H. Hill, Mrs. C. Sidney Parker, Mrs. Daniel Rieker and Mrs. Nicholas Stahl. Christmas decorations for the home, loaned by club members, were arranged for the Art Corner by Mrs. Russell McIntosh, art chairman.

Mrs. John B. Naylor, club president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. George C. Thompson, recording secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Communications were read by Mrs. Alf C. Weaver.

Pass State Test

Three Newton residents passed a civil service examination to qualify for appointment as Custodians in the State service, it was announced this week at the State House.

Of 1365 men who took the exam, held last June, 331 succeeded in passing it and have been placed on a newly established civil service list.

The Newton residents are Gilda J. Timpesta of 60 B Lincoln st., Newton; Ralph J. Citino of 143 Adams st., Newton; and Daniel S. Shea of 43 Talby st., Newton.

Mrs. Fletcher P. Osgood, with Mrs. Raymond J. Grenier, accompanist, were sung at the close of the meeting.

City Workers Off

Afternoon of 24th

If weather conditions are normal, the municipal government plans to grant hourly-rates city employees the afternoon of Christmas Eve off, provided work assignments are completed. In announcing the policy Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr. left arrangements to the judgment of department heads.

Watchmen and emergency crews and yard men necessary to keep 24 hour service at yards are to remain on duty as usual.

Newton Girl Scouts Share Holiday Joy With Others

During the Christmas season, the Girl Scouts of Newton take every opportunity to bring the warmth and cheer of the holidays to the many handicapped and unfortunate children and adults who are confined in hospitals and institutions.

Every year the 30 girls of Troop 90 have gathered together to entertain shut-ins with Christmas carols. This year they will sing them at the Medical Building of the Metropolitan State Hospital for the older patients.

Mrs. Henry Ruffs, leader, will be assisted by Mrs. Benjamin Andrews and Mrs. George Taylor in leading the girls in their singing.

The girls in Troop 177, Mein them for the teen age girl patients. Mrs. Segal is assisted by Mrs. Saul Cohen and Mrs. James Patterson.

The Intermediates of Troop 34 brought gifts to their Christmas giving party. Among the gifts, which were packed and sent to the American Friends Society for distribution, were toys, scarfs, mittens and small articles of clothing. Mrs. Harold Howe and Mrs. Robert Hughes assisted the girls in packing the gifts.

The fourth grade Brownies of Troop 104 of St. Bernard School made Christmas stockings of red net and filled them with toys for less fortunate children. Mrs. Alfred E. Hazelton is their leader.

Troop 33 of the Hyde Neighborhood sang carols around Newton Highlands Square on Monday. Directed by their leader, Mrs. Philip J. Baird, assisted by neighborhood chairman Mrs. Maxwell Robson, the girls made several stops at the homes of shut-ins.

The eight year old Brownies of Troop 68 made Christmas toy animals for the Peabody Home for Crippled Children. Elephants, horses, an elf and a bunny were made of orlon pile donated by their leader, Mrs. Alvin Cohen. The Brownies were aided in their efforts by Mrs. Samuel Myers and Mrs. Arnold Dana.

"Funny-face" pillows and knitted afghans were made for the Metropolitan State Hospital by Troop 226, led by Mrs. Richard Bloomquist and assistant leader Mrs. Bernard Roth. The troop also made candy hombons for the Nazareth Home and the Walter E. Fernald School for retarded children.

Candy grab bags were also made for the retarded children of the Fernald School by Troop 199, led by Mrs. David Bernstein and assisted by Mrs. Jack Gorlick and Mrs. Iris Gotsos.

The girls of Troop 32, led by Mrs. Roz Geller, and Troop 189, led by Mrs. Sylvia Kahn and assisted by Mrs. Ira Smith, made party favors filled with candy for the Naza-

WARREN AIDS RED CROSS

A successful drive for funds for the Junior Red Cross was conducted at the Warren Junior High School. Total collections were $312.60. Seventh grade home room, 114, and eighth grade home room, 201, each collected more than $40.

reth Home and the Walter E. Fernald School.

Troop 60, led by Mrs. Charles Munson and assistant leaders Mrs. Frank Terachi and Mrs. Anthony Leon, made candy wreaths for the Nazareth Home out of metal coat hangers on which were strung assorted candles.

The girls of Troop 164, led by Mrs. Selig Zase baked cakes for the New England Home for Little Wanderers, while Troops 141 and 139 worked together under the leadership of Mrs. David Sheprow to make bean bags and a large plywood clown for the Walter E. Fernald Home. They also made candy bags to hang on the Christmas tree of the Peabody Home for Crippled Children.

Santa Presides At Police Party

The annual Christmas party for children of members of the police department was held at the police garage. Guests included not only children of members of the force but their nephews and nieces, members of the auxiliary and their children.

Santa Claus distributed a gift to each child.

The entertainment program included movie cartoons and clowns and there was plenty of ice cream, tonic, cookies and candy.

Yultide Joy-

Christmas Night when another moon discovered an ill-constructed stable on a hillside in Bethlehem.

Christmas, 1958! It will be as one with a Christmas when a Babe was born to Mary and the hearts of all men rejoiced.

On Christmas Eve here at home the worried helter-skelter of the "pre-holiday period" will come to an end. Locks in the stores will be turned. At the postoffice rooms gray canvas sacks will be limp and empty. Shopping lists will be forgotten. The last greeting cards will have been dropped into the cold steel of the corner mail boxes.

Locally, there are several programs for carol singers and given good weather, the appealing notes of ancient songs of joy will be lifted to the heavens — to the Babe born in a draughty shed and laid in unused manger filled with straw.

On Christmas Day there will be services at all the local churches. Choirs have been rehearsing for weeks on special programs.

Outstanding and imaginative outdoor Christmas decorations began to make their appearance in early December. Each night has seen more residences added to the long list of those with sterling displays.

One observer pointed out the taste of decorators in avoiding the garish and spectacular to keep well within the bounds of the true spirit of Christmas.

Many decoration motifs were concerned with Santa Claus who was making his electric approach to homes in almost every possible way. In several neighborhoods, it was the modern approach — by airplane or even by spaceship.

visual scenes with appropriate Manger Scene and it was apparent that householders generally were disposed to carry out the theme of the Babe in Bethlehem born.

Some decorators took advantage of the gifts of modern electronics to tie up their visual scenes with appropriate Christmas music.

Public buildings generally were more restrained in their displays but it was evident that much thought and work went into the arrangements of their lights and Christmas greens.

Local merchants reported heavy shopping which was expected to continue right up to closing time on Christmas Eve. Stocks offered a wide selection and patronage which formerly went elsewhere for this special gift or that "sort of thing" found local stores could meet every demand.

The influx of college youth coming home for the holidays became evident in the last few days... Reunions were being staged all over town as freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors became reacquainted with the friends of their high school days.

As the Birthday of the Christ Child approached, as the electric candles in the windows of homes gleamed their warming

4-Room Addition Not Adequate for Spaulding School

An anticipated jump in enrollments of more than 25 per cent in the next four or five years has obliged city planners to revise upwards their plans for an addition to the Spaulding School in Oak Hill.

Original plans had called for only a four-room addition. A study of the area served by the School by City Planner Charles E. Downe has revealed that there are at least 250 house lots in the district which are likely to be developed in the near future.

Spaulding now has a registration of 404 pupils from kindergarten up. By 1962-63, the school expects to have more than 520 pupils.

The School Committee request for a seven-room addition instead of four rooms is now pending before the Aldermanic committee on finance and public buildings.

The new addition, it is planned, will be open next September. The school now has 12 classrooms and one kindergarten. It was opened in 1954.

Harvey Spear Graduates

Harvey R. Spear, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Spear of 50 Old Field road, Newton, graduated December 13 from the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Illinois.

message of holiday cheer, the glad Yultide spirit neared the flood tide which will be reached on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

College Growth

Washington — There were only about 12,000 students in U. S. colleges in 1850 and now the number of three million is anticipated in a short time.
